

that year the opponents of free coinare being afraid of the passage of a free coinage bill, secured another compromise which was known as the Sherman law. In the support of that measure Senator Sherman made a speech, and in the course of that speech he went on to say that we required more than $42,000,000 new-money every year to keep pace with the popula tion and industries, and he advocated that measure on the ground that it gave to the people more money, and yet in his Recol lections, published only a few months ago. you will find that Senator Sherman there says that he was in favor of the Sherman law simply to prevent free coinage and that he was willing to vote for its repeal the day after it was enacted if he could prevent the substitution of free coinage There you will find the chief-the chief supporter of the gold standard policy the United States, supporting a bill be-cause it gave money to the American peo-ple and then declaring that he would have roted for the repeal of it the very next day

[Applause] They secured the repeal of the Sherman law and they pretended that when they got that out of the way that they would restore silver to its former place There vere some who said that the trend of the Sherman law was to that end and that we had to clear away the rubbish before we could build up a good system; and there were others who said that if we stood by free silver we would drive Europe to bi metallism. But those who made this ar rangement have proven that they were not sincere and that their purpose was to de ceive the American people. [Applanse-In this campaign every party, in its plat form so far, has declared that the princi ple of bimetallism is better than a gold standard; and yet in spite of these decla rations you know that there is a body of people in the United States, who under cover of friendliness to bimetallism, an seeking to fasten a gold standard upon the American people. Let us suppose that you had free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1. Then what? Why, any person in the world owning silver bullion could bring that owning silver bullion could bring that bullion to our mints and have it converted into full legal tender silver dollars, jusi like the ones that yon use today. Now, how could you be injured? Suppose some man made up his mind to injure the American people under free coinage. How would he do it? Why, he would take his silver to our mint. Suppose a thousand dollars of it, and have it coined into dollars; then he would take these into dollars; then he would take these dollars out to hurt the American people with them, and how would he do it? He would take that money home and he would take that notey nome and he would be required to pay the freight on it, and he would lose the cost of coinage and lose the freight both ways and we could stand it longer than he could. Ah, you say that he would trade that silver for gold and take the gold away and leave the silver. Where would he get the gold? Won 1 he get it at the treasury of the United States? Not under bimetal-lism, because under bimetallism the gov ernment does not agree to swap, but un-der bimetallism the government converts the silver bullion into silver money and gold buillion into gold coin and makes them legal tender for all debts, public and private. But it does not agree to redeem gold dollar in silver or a silver dollar in a gold dollar in silver or a silver dollar in gold. [Applause.] So that under bime allism this foreigner could not exchange his silver at the mint for gold unless the government was disposed to let him do it. Where would he get the gold? He would have to find somebody with the gold; he could not hurt anybody by trading silver for gold until he found somebody who had the gold and that would let most of the the gold, and that would let most of the people of the United States out of danger There is another way that he might do. He might, instead of taking the sliver

He might, instead of taking the aliver home, instead of giving it to us, instead of trading it to us for gold, he might trade it to us for property. Whenever we have anything to sell, we are looking for a man who has the money to trade for what we have to sell, and instead of being frightened, if he will just let us know when he is coming with his sliver, to ex-change for our products we will meet him change for our products, we will meet him at the depot with a brass band and escort him through the town and show hir where the property is that he can buy.

There was another demonstration paid the Bryan party when they left Cleveland for Columbus. About the hotel and depot large crowds had gathered in order to catch a parting glance of the nominee. The Columbus reception committee arrived in this city and took charge of the party. A special car had been provided and it was decorated inside and out with bunting. The train

ST. PAUL, Sept. 2.-Buffalo is in the lead for the G. A. R. encampment of 1897 and is likely to capture it. Denveis the other aspirant.

The parade of the naval veterans, the ex-prisoners of war and the Sons of Veterans, all escorted by the Third regiment of regulars from Fort Snell ing was a short one, but novel in some of the features introduced by the navaveterans and a decidedly popular one although generally considered as simply a foretaste to the big parade of today The streets were lined with people, wh gave hearty greeting to the marching old soldiers and cheered their sons and their army successors, the character of the parade allowing a comparison not at any other time possible.
