Washington Letter.

Washington, February 26th, 1897 -Senator Hill's resolution calling upon Secretary Olney which was adopted by he Senate without a dissenting voice, is intended to solve the mystery as to the truth of the sensational statements sayng that Gen, Lee had either actually ndered his resignation as Consul Gen eral to Cuba, or threatened to do so, uness the administration gave him better packing than it has been in Cuba It is also believed that it was intended as an affront to President Cleveland It is customary in such resolutions to request the President to furnish the desired information, if in his opinion it is compatible with public interests Senator Hill ignored the president entirely, and nis resolution asks Secretary Olney for he information. Congress feels very ngly towards the administration on acount of its Cuban policy, but there is no time left to do anything now, except pass the appropriation bills.

Mr. Bryan was in Washington two days this week, and was the recipient of much attention. He was also the central figure in several important political Representative Bailey, of Texas, gave the Republicans a good natured raking over in a speech which did not overlook the assistant Republicans, about their embarrassment in distributing 60,000 offices among 350,000 applicants, and made the prediction that every one of the fifty congressional disricts which the Republicans carried last November by majorities of less 1,000 would go Democratic at the next elec-"Four years ago," said Mr. Bailey, "you laughed at our embarrassment; now we laugh at yours. to retire from power." That a majority of the Republicans in the house would like to see the civil ser vice law thrown overboard was shown by the hearty applause with which they received the assertion of delegate Flynn, of Oklahoma, that if he had his way he would wipe out the civil service law and fill every office with a Republican withtion according to his passing whim or in twenty-four hours after McKinley's inauguration. Representative Grosvenor, of Ohio, also jumped all over the civil service law and declared his belief that it would be repealed.

Representative Bailey in reply to a direct question as to what he thought of the law promptly said: "I think it is a hambug," and when asked why the Democratic party didn't repeal it when they had the power he said: "We didn't have sense enough then, but we shall know better hereafter." Repre sentative Brosius, of Pa., chairman of the house committee on Civil Service Reform, defended the law, and accused Grosvenor of having by his talk against it "fleshed a sword in the heart of the president-elect," whatever that may mean. Whatever Mr. McKinley may do there is little doubt that Grosvenor will have a numerous support if he wishes to lead a fight against the law in

His lest of all in Leavening Power .- Latest U.S. Gov't Report

Says it is Unamerican.

Harrisburg, March 1 -The governor to-night sent to the legislature a veto of the concurrent resolution which provides that all materials of every kind and character used in the construction of the proposed capitol building or buildings shall be of Pennsylvania product, whether natural or manufactured; and, secondly, that all architects, contractors and laborers employed, whether skilled or unskilled, in and about the erection and construction of the proposed new capitol building or buildings, shall be itizens of Pennsylvania. Hs says:

"I am unable to concur either in the purpose or spirit of this resolution. It would seem to me to be the most un wise, from a strictly business standpoint, to exclude the citizens of other states from competing with our own for ur public work when it is so manifest ly to our interest that the citizens of Pennsylvania should be permitted to ompete freely for the work, both pub c and private, of other states. If we draw a line around our borders forbidding the citizens of other states to come into competition with our laborers skilled and unskilled, and have at our gates the stone, the iron and other materials entering into the construction of our public buildings, other states may do likewise, and the result would work reater injury to ourselves than to them. "But apart from, and above our own business interests the resolution is sectional and unamerican in spirit."

Philadelphia Wants the Capital

Philadelphia, March 2 -A number of prominent citizens gathered in the mayor's office this afternoon to talk about the expediency of moving the capitol of the state from Harrisburg to this city. Every one present agreed that the good of the state and city would be best served by establishing the capitol at Philadelphia. Mayor Warwick appointed a committee of fifty to agitate the movement and induce the legislature to submit the question of moving the capitol to a vote of the people.

THE DR. RUIZ MURDER.

Correspondence in the Case Refused the Senate.

Instead of transmitting the official correspondence, the secretary supplies an account of his own composition covering the essential facts in the case, He says: "Ruiz, a native of Cuba, came to this country during the revolution which terminated in 1878 and studied dentistry at Philadelphia, declaring his intention to become a citizen of the United States in 1877, he re ceived his final papers in 1880. After this he returned to Cuba and has resided there since.

He details Ruiz's arrest on Feb. 4, of which he says the department was immediately informed, but that nothing more was heard in regard to the matter until Feb. 17, when the consul general reported that Ruiz had been found dead. He says the department had assumed that the case was being attended to during this interim and that a demand would be made that the prisoner should be put in communicado, but that it afterward developed that no such demand had been made and the prisoner had remained constantly in solitary confinement. The circumstances attending the death were such as to lead to a demand for immediate investigation.

"After such personal examination as he was able to make," the secretary continues, "the consul general has reported to the department that Ruiz was placed and kept for 315 hours in a small, closed and filthy cell, three feet by five, R. L. JOHNSTON, M. J. BUCK. 4. having a rough stone floor with no window and only a six inch square opening in the door for the admission of food, which aperture was kept shut except when so used; that no one was allowed to see him; that he died from neglect or violence; that he became de ranged; that an autopsy showed seven contusions on top of the head; that he died from congestion of the brain; that there was no fracture of the skull, but that all knowledge was confined to officials and that it was difficult to ascertain the facts. He says that on the other hand, the acting governor general of Cuba in a report made to his government, on Feb. made a report entirely different, claiming that Ruiz had been well treated. This official also reports that Ruiz was found in his room very much excited, with a contusion on his head, after a blow was heard in the room. Later he was found by the attendant in the act of butting his head against the grating of the door, afterward died. The conclusions of the official reports of the two governments being thus radically conflicting, the secretary says another open and thorough investigation seemed to this government indispensable and that the Spanish government concurred in this view. The secretary encloses a copy of Minister de Lome's letter acceding to this request. He says that Ruiz did not make known his Americanship when arrested, a circumstance, which, he says, often occurs and always leads to PRESIDENT CLEVELAND ILL. He May Be Unable to Attend the Inaug-

The president's condition is causing anxiety to senators and representatives of both parties, who fear that it may cause him to leave unsigned a number of minor bills of particular interest to the members who have been pushing them, and which otherwise would have received the president's signature before the closing of his term of office. As to the possibility of the president's inability to attend the inauguration exercises Secretary Thurber said: "I fear there is. But he will go if he can force himsolf to do it."
