Correspondence.

Carrolltown, Pa. July 28, 1897. ED. FREEMAN: -"Woe awaits a country when she sees the tears of bearded men,' and such is the state of affairs in our vaunted land of the free at present. Strong hearty men willing to work for their daily bread, tramping through the land hungry and weary begging for work and in very many cases leaving their little ones and wives behind them to exist on the cold charity of the world. Yes, great bearded men shedding tears and bitter ones at that in sheer desperation at their ituation in a land teeming with plenty. What is the cause of this; why have we uch a state of affairs in so grand a country as this? A coutry that can boast of being possessed of every cereal that can be grown, of inexhaustible mineral wealth climate and willing people to develop it ill. There is something wrong, and very wrong, and it is all due to the mismanagenent of the government of this great ountry which the bearded men in tears will ratify sooner or later, so sure as the oun rises and sets, unless the party in JOS. HORNE & CO ower change their tactics. Why was i n the days before multi-millionaireism, i wou will allow me to coin the word, we did not hear of such misery and hardships as the country is afflicted with at the present time? The epoch of million aires dates from the close of the civil war and the complete power of the Republican party, and mark it well, we can stead ily trace the gradual decay of our liberties rom that epoch.

A false sense of patriotism caused many f the followers of the principles promultated by Jefferson, to renounce them and cast their fortunes with the wearers of the bloody shirt, and richly have they reaped their reward. A country full of million ires and starved and desperate men, ready or rebellion and anarchy. "Labor for sale," who ever heard of such a comodity in the American market before? But such the case, we know of just such transacions as this: A man wants work, the employer says, well, I can give you work f you do the right thing, that is, my price to laborers is $1.25 per day, you take $1.00 and give me the 25 cents and you can have work, if not, pass on. Well, I am starving and I suppose I must do it, and in many cases, yes, in most of cases, he does.

Is it a wonder we have so many strikes' The men are human and human nature asserts itself. This state of affairs should not be tolerated in our fair land. The law of necessity is now asserting itself and where it will end and under what conditions, God only knows, for as yet, none of our exalted statesmen have solved the problem.

In a democracy the people frame the aws by which they themselves are to be governed. Have we that right any more? No, the laws are framed now by bosses of the party in power, regardless of the will will of the people. Citizens, why not throw off the yoke, throw aside your adherence to the party in power and elect men who will do your will and this land of liberty will no more see "bearded men in lears."

Herminie, a little mining village at the erminus of the Hempfield branch, in Westmoreland county, was the scene On Sunday morning of what in all probability will prove a double murder. James Porter and John Hyde, two striking miners, were visiting Robert Rodgers, who is employed in the Ocean mines at Herminie. Saturday night they drank heavily and soon became intoxicated. They all lay in a stupor until Sunday morning about 3 o'clock, when Hyde awoke, and, getting an old as which was in the room proceeded to use it upon his two sleeping companions. James Null, Esq., of arrolltown, addressed the meeting and the northwest corner of trawlord avenue strongly advised them to be a unit or else their efforts would fail. There was an afidavit signed by a number of miners of nine No 8, near Hastings, that the manager of the mine deducted every fifth ton of oal for himself as a bonus for giving the men work, thereby compelling the men to ouy their job. William Laughlin, a miner at McGonigle's minus, east of town, met with a very
