Beecher and Tyng with the President!

LETTER FROM MR. BEECHER. Henry Ward Beecher has always been regarded as one of the most brilliant luminaries of the Republican party. He has, indeed, one of its founders, and has talked, lectured, preached and written more for it than any other man in the country. His church in Brooklyn was one of the principal recruiting stations of the Kansas Emigrant Aid Society, where preaching of the gospel was mingled with praises of Shrapne's rifles against DuPont's powder.

During the war, Mr. Beecher gave tone to the whole "loyal" pulp of the country. His appeals were addressed to the religious feelings and sentiments of earnest church people and upon these he made a strong impression, carrying them by thousands into the Republican ranks, and inspiring them with his own active zeal in the anti-slavery cause.

Mr. Beecher having accomplished the object he had so long and steadily kept in view and labored so earnestly to effect the Abolition of Slavery, has cast out the spirit of hostility to the South that formerly seemed to animate him, and is now advocating the policy of forgiveness and conciliation. He has written a letter expressing his "hearty wish for the success of all conventions, of what party soever, whose object is the restoration of all the States to rebellion to their Federal relations."

We annex a few paragraphs from this letter, (not having room for the whole), and hope that Republican preachers and parishioners will read them, so that they may know the present views of the great political and religious teacher they have followed so long. Mr. Beecher says:

The Federal Government is unfit to exercise minor police and local government, and will inevitably blunder when it attempts to do so. It is a government of States under Federal authority, but without national ties and responsibilities; to oblige the central authority to govern the territory of the Union by Federal authority, is in fact a policy wholly uncongenial to the Federal principle, but pre-eminently dangerous to the spirit of our Government. However humane the ends sought and the motives, it is in fact a policy wholly uncongenial to the spirit of our Government to be despotic, and familiarizing the people to a stretch of authority which can never be other than dangerous to liberty.

I am aware that good men are withheld from advocating the prompt and successful admission of the exiled States by the fear chiefly of its effect upon parties and upon freedom.

It is said that if admitted to Congress the exiled States would be found to be one of the most important influences of the South, then, to remain disembodied to serve the ends of parties? Have we learned wisdom by the history of the last ten years? In which just this course of sacrificing the nation to the exigencies of parties plunged us into rebellion and war?

I fear with wonder and shame and scorn the fear of a few that the South ought to be in adjustment with the Federal Government will rule this nation! The North is rich—never so rich; the South is poor—never before so poor. The people of the North are richly endowed with the spirit of the South. The industry of the North, in diversity, in forwardness and productivity, in all the machinery and education required for manufacturing, is half a century in advance of the South. Churches in the North crown every hill, and schools swarm in every neighborhood; while the South has but scattered lights at long distances, like light-houses in a fog along the edge of a coast.

It is feared, with more reason, that the restoration of the South to her full independence will be detrimental to the freedom. The sooner we dismiss from our minds the idea that the freedmen can be classified and separated from the white population, and nursed and defended by themselves, the better it will be for them and us. The negro is part and parcel of the Southern society. He cannot be prosperous while it is unprosperous. His evils will rebound upon him. His happiness and religious freedom cannot be kept from his participation. The restoration of the South to amicable relations with the North, the reorganization of its industry, the resumption of its territory, will sit at the door of the freedmen's benefit. Nothing is so dangerous to the freedmen as an unsettled state of society in the South. On him comes all the spite and anger and caprice and revenge. He will be made the scapegoat of lawless and heartless men. Unless we turn the Government into a vast military machine there cannot be armies enough to protect the freedmen while Southern society remains unprosperous. If Southern society is calmed, settled, and occupied, and soothed, with new hopes and prosperous industries, no armies will be needed. Riots will subside, lawless hangers on will be driven off or better governed, and away will be gradually opened up to the freedmen, through education and industry, to full citizenship, with all its honors and duties.

It is fit that the brave men, who, on sea and land, faced death to save the nation, should now, by their voice and vote, consummate what their swords rendered possible for the sake of the freedmen, for the sake of the South and its millions of our fellow-countrymen, for our own sake, and for the great cause of freedom and civilization, urge the immediate reunion of all the parts which rebellion and war have shattered.

REV. DR. TYNG. Rev. Stephen H. Tyng, another of New York's most prominent Republican preachers, also comes out for the Union. In a published letter he says:

I have read with great delight Mr. Beecher's unanswerable letter, and desire to thank him for the fidelity and power with which he has accomplished so good a work. I shall honor the soldiers and sailors of the nation, if they give their cordial and united support to the sound and healthful principles which he proclaims and sustains. It will be a glorious result, if the people of the land unite with them in the universal determination that union, liberty, and generous interpretation and action shall end all the controversies of the day in which we live, in the immediate and complete reconstruction and combined establishment of our whole nation as one harmonious and prosperous people.

That a conquering army should desire this seems but accordant with the spirit of a generous victor. That they should assemble in a powerful fellowship to avow and to promote it, is but exercising their rights as citizens and fulfilling their obligation as intelligent leaders of the people; and that ministers of a religion of peace and good will should sustain and encourage a purpose and movement so honorable to the nation, would appear to be the plainest dictate of duty in the position which they sustain and relations to the people among whom they dwell.

I cannot refuse, therefore, to approve and endorse the meeting which is proposed, (the Johnson Soldiers' Convention at Cleveland,) or the platform on which, I have no doubt, they will assemble.

JACK HAMILTON'S RECORD. Jack Hamilton, the "shining light" of the "Loyal Southerners" convention, was brought into Pennsylvania by No. 10 Prefix Geary, to tell decent white men how to vote. Among other charges made by the Hamilton (Texas) Telegraph against Jack are the following. Whoever has seen the fellow will not question the charges:

We know him when, as a boy, we used to stand at the circuit court in Hamilton and other counties in Alabama. He was then a young lawyer of some promise in the way of ability, but not much in the way of moral character. He came to Texas about 1848, and settled in La Grange. About 1859 a Mr. McKnight was assassinated in La Grange. Dr. Conkright, the brother of the murdered man, published a pamphlet, and circulated it all over the State, holding charging Hamilton with having seduced his brother's wife, and with having procured the murder of her husband in consequence. This charge Hamilton has never publicly denied; but he afforded a public denial of its truth by leaving La Grange and removing to Austin. Dr. Conkright, we believe, is still living in the State, and we call upon him, or any other who have them, to publish a copy of the above named pamphlet.

After removing to Travis county, he was elected to the Legislature, and while there was openly, repeatedly, and persistently charged by Judge Hancock and other "loyal" party with the exercise of his office as a member of the Legislature. To this charge he made no reply.

A negro woman who had brought from Alabama when very young, and who had been brought to Texas by leaving La Grange and removing to Austin. Dr. Conkright, we believe, is still living in the State, and we call upon him, or any other who have them, to publish a copy of the above named pamphlet.

After removing to Travis county, he was elected to the Legislature, and while there was openly, repeatedly, and persistently charged by Judge Hancock and other "loyal" party with the exercise of his office as a member of the Legislature. To this charge he made no reply.
