YOUNG GRIMES.

BY B. P. SHELLABER. Old Grimes is dead—that good old man. We ne'er shall see him more But he has left a son who bears The name that old Grimes bore

He wears a coat of latest cut, His hat is new and gay; He cannot bear to view distress-So turns from it away. His pants are gaiters—fitting snug

O'er patent leather shoes; His hair is by a barber curled— He smokes segars and chews. A chain of massive gold is borne Above his flashy vest; His clothes were better every day

Than were old Grimes's best. Where he delight doth shed: His hands are white and very soft-But softer is his head.

He's six feet tall-no post more straight, His teeth are pearly white; In habits he is sometimes loose And sometimes very light.

His manners are of sweetest grace,

His voice of softest tone; His diamond pin's the very one That old Grimes used to own. A black moustache adorns his face,

His neck a scarf of blue;
He sometimes goes to church for change And sleeps in Grimes's pew. He sports the latest "cab" in town, Is always quick to bet: But thinks "Old Tip" s in yet.

He has drunk wines of every kind, And liquors cold and hot Young Grimes, in short, is just that sort Of man-old Grimes was not.

TURNIPS.

A committee at Guelph, C. W., awarded a prize for a crop of 64,000 pounds of turnips from an acre of land. The second prize was given for a crop of 60,330 pounds. The lightest of five other crops was 52,320 pounds. The committee recommended planting turnips in drills 28 inches apart, and 9 to 12 inches apart in the rows.

THE PRESIDENT'S VETO

The Baltimore Sun, a neutral paper, expresses our views exactiv on President Johnson's veto of the Military Subjects tion bill as follows:

The President's veto of the Sherman military bill is a complete vindication of the principles of constitutional liberty. It has not had the effect to stay the hand of destruction for an hour; nor has its unanswerable logic changed the vote of a single member of either House of Congress. Tried by its apparent present effect, it is powerless as a single ceho against the force of a hurricane. But the liberties of a free people can never he forfeited to their agents, the right of a citizen to be tried by his fellows can never be taken away.

The Constitution of the United States marks the boundaries of power and right with absolute distinctness; and the veto message of President Johnson lays bare of its disguises the military bill, and shows two plainly for misapprehension how, in all its leading features. It viclates liberty and tramples upon humani-ty. Its searching analysis of the various provisions of the bill in connection with the pretence of the necessity for estab-lishing social order out of social chaos leaves no room for escape. In its own terse language, the excuse given for the bill in the preamble is admitted by the bill itself not to be real. This State pa-per should be read by every citizen, in order to an intelligent judgment of the momentous issues which are yet undecided by the American people.

From this standpoint of truth they may measure the departures which have already taken place, and may form some ready taken place, and may form some conjecture as to the further violations of general and individual right which may follow. The law has been passed over the veto. That veto is henceforth efficacious only as a solemn protest in the name of human right by the appointed guardian of the public welfare. It is as a baseon blood tron the reak or which a beacon placed upon the rock on which liberty for a time is wrecked. When the storm shall have subsided and the people shall come to restore the ship, this beacon will be a warning how they may provide more effectually than they have done before against the perils and disaspenetrates to the full depth of the land ploughed, and which it only does during ploughed, and which it only does during tion that Lorenzo Dow said a certain guise of legitimate authority.
