Cumpiler.

BY JOHN G. WHITTIRE. Bland as the morning breath of June

The southwest breezes play; And, flurough its haze, the Winter's noon Sechis warm as Summer's day The snow-plumed Angel of the North Has dropped his icy spear; Again the mossy earth looks forth, Again the streams gush clear.

The fox his hill-side cell forsakes, The muskrat leaves his nook, The blue bird in the mesdow brakes Is singing with the brook. "Bear up, oh ! mother nature!" cry Bird, breeze, and streamlet free, "Our Winter voices prophesy Of Summer days to thee !"

So in those winters of the soul, By hitter blasty nd drear, O'erswept from memory's frozer, pole. Will sound a source and Faith, they show The sout its living powers, And how beneath the Winter's snow Lie gems of Summer flowers !

The Nightis Mother of the Day, The Winter of the Spring, And ever, upon old Decay The greenest mosses cling. Be lind the cloud the sub rlight lurks,

Through showers the sunisem For God, who loveth all His works, Hath left his Hope with all. District Attorney-"Did you see the
