BY W. I. B. Do I dream? or stand I now Where hostile legions stood. Pica to face with the forman's row Each seeking other's blood? Did here the thick mass'd lines advance With steady march, and slow; While o'er them in fantastic dance, The burnished imponets glow. Was 't here, engaged in carnings dire. Two foes with fiercest zeal? Stood face to face with lines of fire; Two blazing lines of steel? Was 't here the flow charger flew Through danger ansurvey'd? Was 't here the daring horseman d His flashing battle blade? Was 't here the cannons thunder spak Shook mountain, hill, and him. And curled the cloud of buttle smoke Above a field of slain? Are these the hills that trembled so Heneath the battle shock. Of fifty cannons thundering woe, while fifty more them mock?

Wast' here the loud command was given And readily obeyed, By thousands on to battle driven, Neath war's sufplittric shade ? Is't here, that thousands who that morn Were full of breath and life,
Lay 'neath the soil where raged the storm, All mangled in the strife? Was't here the wounded wretch invoked But pity, and found none;

Received the horseman's fiendish stroke; Was trodden to the ground? In tine, was t' here in bloom of life: All healthful, vig'rous then; There met in dire and mortal strife Twice fifty thousand men? Alas! 'tis true! that awful truth, ... These mounds, long, long will tell, That hundreds, strong, nimble youth, Here nobly fought and fell.

Here brayes from many a vale and hill; A hundred smiling plains, A sacrificial altar fill'd,—
Their country's highest claims. Here sylvan monarchs prostrate lie, In shattered, mangled forms, Whose branches grasping wide and high, Had mocked a thousand storms. Come here, and bow, ye who enjoy That prize for which they fought. The widow, and the orphan boy, Know well how dear 'twas bought, Let a corrowing nation's tears Damp here, where damped their blood; And let a grateful people's cares Give to their orphans food.

As 8900 as a cluster of flowers is visi As soon as a cluster of nowers is visible the stem is topped down to the cluster, so that the flowers terminate the stem. The effect is, that the sap is immediately impelled into the two buds next below the cluster, which soon push strongly and produce another cluster of ilowers each. When these are visible, the branch to which they belong is also topped down to their level; and this is down five times and the strong to the strong the strong transfer to the strong transfer transfer to the strong transfer to the strong transfer tra done five times successively. By this means, the plants become stout, dwarf bushes, not above eighteen inches high. In order to prevent their falling over, sticks or strings are stretched horizontally along the rows, so as to keep the plants erect. In addition to this, all the laterals that have no flowess, and after the fifth topping, all laterals, whatsever, are nipped off. In this way the ripe sap is directed into the fruit, which acquires a hearty size and everthese

One evening, at a party, Peter, from Imbib-ing too freely of various mixtures, began dancing round with a waiter containing daucing round with a waiter containing some ices and cakes, and soon became uproarious. Observing his conduct, the Major publicly reprimanded him, and at once dismissed him from his post of waiter for the evening, and appointed another in his place. This last stroke was too much fer old Peter, and he retired to his hed room in despair. That night Capt K. a folly your addition.

Judge Bharswood, spring of a well-known Pennsylvinia family, was born on the 7th of July, 1819. He graduated on the 31-t of July, 1828, at the University of Pennsylvania, with the highest honors, delivering the Greek salutatory oration. He studied law with the Honors, delivering the Greek salutatory oration. He studied law with the Honors, Joseph R. Ingersell, and was admitted to practice on the 5th September, 1831. In 1837, five years after his ministen to the bar, he was elected from the city of Philadelphia to the Legislature of his native State. This was at a time when that body numbered among its members many of the distinguished men of the State, and when to be a member of it was an honor. In 1838, he was chosen a member of the Select Council of the city of Philadelphia. In 1841 and 1842 he was again elected to the Legislature. On the 8th of April, 1845, upon the reorganization of the pre-est District Court for the city and county of Philadelphia, he received at the hands of that our patriot the late faverner Shunk delphia, he received at the hands of that pure patriot, the late Governor Shunk, the appointment of Judge of that Court; and on the 1st of February, 1848, became its President, one of his senior associates which is the content of the senior associates which is the content of the senior associates which is the content of the senior associates and the court of the senior associates are content of the content of the court of the senior associates are content of the court its President, one of his senior associates yielding the place to him. When the Constitution was changed in 1851 and the judiciary became elective, and again in 1861, he was 'elected by the people without an opposing candidate, the unusual honor of a 'nontification' by both of the great political parties having been conferred upon him.

That the room adjoining Peter's hearing sobs and groans in the next room, rose to inquire what was the matter. He opened the door of Peter's roomand reconnoitered.

Peter was kneeling by a window and praying. Amid his loud cries the captain heard the following:

"O Lord, have pity on thy poor old servant. His massa, who he used to take upon his knees when he was a boy, is vexed with his poor old darkey, and I don't want to live any longer. Odder Lord, please send the angel Gabriel this minute down to take old Peter. Just send the angel Gabriel this minute down to take old Peter to Abraham's bosons! O, please, Lord, do.' Stevens here intimates that white troops Stevens here intimates that white troops performed no part in conquering the rebellion. His hatred of the South, his constant fear of a restored Union, of Southern representation in Congress, diately seized upon a white counterpane, and enveloping himself in it, rapped three times at Peter's door.

"Who's dar?" exclaimed Peter.

"The angel Gabriel, come to take old Peter to Father Abraham's boson!" replied Capt. K., in a sepulchral tone.

"De who, massa?" fearfully asked the suppliant.

"Old Peter."

"Well, I just tell you, massa, dat nieger don't live here; I don't know him at all!"

Capt. K. rushed back to the company. Capt. K. rushed back to the company, convulsed with laughter, and old Peter relates to this day the wonderful answer if Thad Stevens is to occupy a public position as long as he lives, it is forthposition as long as he lives, it is forth-nate for the country that he himself is not willing to insure his life for five years. The mischief he can accomplish in that space even is almost irreparable. -- Buston Post.
