

FIXING THE SOUTHERN HEART.

The opinion of Attorney General Stanbery, declaring the military reconstruction bill to mean just what it was said to mean by its supporters at the time of its passage, has afforded the Radical leaders another pretext for renewed agitation. This opinion simply recites, what no sensible person who has read the bill will deny, that it was not intended to give the five military commanders exclusive jurisdiction in their commands; that their acts are subject to the approval of the President; and that they have no right to remove the civil officers of the States, or interfere with their legitimate authority. In coming to this conclusion Mr. Stanbery is in entire harmony with the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court in the Mississippi case, pronounced by Chief Justice Chase, the Court being unanimous. Justice Chase said: "By the supplementary act other duties are imposed on the several commanding Generals, and their duties must necessarily be performed under the supervision of the President as Commander-in-Chief. The duty thus imposed on the President is not just sense ministerial, but purely executive and political." Mr. Stanbery uses no more decided language than this, and yet, before the President has indicated that he intends to accept this interpretation of the law as the guide of his action—before he has given a single order which has provoked Radical criticism, he is assailed with all the characteristic venom and malignity of this party of "great moral ideas."

A PARTISAN JUDICIARY.

The confederate scheme of Mr. Stevens, or the agrarian movement of Senator Wade, is not so atrocious as the recent resolution of the Williamsport Convention. That resolution is in these words: That warned by past misfortunes, we ask that the Supreme Court of the State be placed in harmony with the political opinions of the majority of the people, to the end that the Court may never again, by unjust decisions, seek to set aside laws vital to the nation, nor impair the safety of the public securities, nor impede the operation of the bounty, pension and tax laws, which were required for the public defense; nor in any way thwart measures which were essential to the public protection; but that, on the other hand, it may maintain and remain a fit and faithful interpreter of the liberal spirit of the age, a bulwark of public faith, and an impartial and fearless exponent of the equal rights of man. This is an open and bold declaration in favor of a partisan judiciary. Heretofore no party has laid its sacrilegious hand upon the altar of justice and sought to degrade and debase the priests who minister thereon. The judiciary, by common consent, has been kept above the strife and contention, the animosities and bickerings, which are inseparably connected with party contests. To be sure, since Judges were made elective, they have been put in nomination by party conventions, but this was only as a means for obtaining a concert of action among the people, and not as a method of committing the man to opinions which, as a Judge, he would be called upon to announce as law from the bench. Judge Shaw-wood has received the nomination of both and all political parties, and been elected without opposition or question as to his political opinions, and the same compliment has been extended to other Judges in different parts of the State.

TOWN AND COUNTY AFFAIRS.

THE FOURTH OF JULY.—The Fourth was celebrated here with considerable spirit. We had six volunteer military companies, one from Brooklyn, N. Y., numbering about fifty men, and the "Ziegler Guards," of York, Pa., about thirty—with the Mayor and Councilmen of Brooklyn, and a goodly number of people from other sections of the country. The military arrived on Wednesday evening. They were escorted from the cars to the Court-house by a committee of citizens, and there presented to the Burgess, R. G. McCrory, Esq., by Col. C. H. Bucher, in a very neat and fitting manner. The Burgess made a speech of welcome, (seasoned with politics,) and was responded to in a few sensible remarks by the Mayor of Brooklyn. The latter were applauded, as they deserved to be. After cheers for the visitors, and a response "with a tiger" on their part, the companies marched to their respective quarters.
