The old saying that "lime makes a father and poor son" conveys, we think, a serious error, though the idea it is hased upon be a correct one. This is that lime, while it makes the soil more productive in erops at first, will finally leave it barren if its use be continued; that it will force the ground, so to speak, to its utmost power of production, and HAVE again been to the cities and bought a finally leave it powerless-exhausted of the elements of plant food. This might be, in a great measure, the case, if we assume that everything made upon the farm is carried of from it, as only possible under very bad management.
But let it be remembered that in any proper use of lime, the first effect is great increase of grass crops, filling the ground with masses of roots, estimated metimes to be equal to the whole crop above ground. This alone makes heavy manuring, and is so much added to the lime dressings, and yielding, on decay, all the elements which plants need to feed upon.

But then with grass comes grain, fur nishing large quantitles of straw, and corn-stalks and blades, glving material for great quantities of manure, and with these comes stock to consume them ou the farm. More horses, more cattle more sheep, more hogs—the manure manufacturers of the farmer—turning all these to the best account, are, year after year, leaving great quantities of the best manure behind when they go to market: the best because containing no one element, as lime, but all that is need-

Then, if the farmer be wise enough to the manure is the richest and most valu able, and the soll may be kept at the maximum of fertility, if well managed This accounts for the answer of an extensive and observant Chester county farm er to the question whether, after the an plication of lime for so long a period years, there had been any symptoms of decline in the production of the land or diminution of the benefit derived from it. His answer was decidedly in the negative, for, he said, "those who have limed the most have been pretty sure to manure the most." Those who have LOOK OUT FOR OLD CHRIS! the spirit to improve freely in one direction are not apt to stop at that, but use well all the means at their disposal; they are the best and most careful farmers and their land is constantly advancing in productiveness. - American Farmer.

WHAT A SPIDER EATS PER DIEM .-- In order to test what a spider could do in GOVERNMENT BONDS, of all kinds, BOUGHT the way of eating, we arose about daybreak one morning to supply his tine web with a fly. At first, however, the spider did not come from his retreat, so eped among the leaves and ther discovered that an earwig had been caught and was now being feasted on. The spider left the earwig, rolled up the fly, and at once returned to his "first course." This was at half-past five A. M., in September. At seven A. M., the carwig had been demolished, and the apider, after resting awhile, and probably enjoying a nap, came down for the fly, which he had finished at nine A. M. A little after nine, we supplied him with a daddy-long-legs, which was eaten by noon. At one o'clock a blow-fly was greedily seized, and then immediately with an appetite apparently no worse give us a call, and we will give all informati for his previous indulgence, he commenced on the blow-fly.

During the day and towards the eve ning, a great many small green files, or what are properly termed midges, had been caught in the web; of these we counted one hundred and twenty, all ilead and fast prisoners in the spi nest. Soon after dark, provided with a lantern, we went to examine whether the spider was suffering from indigestion or in any other way from his previous meal; instead, however, of being thus affected, he was employed in rolling up together the various little green midges, which he then took to his retreat and ate. This process he repeated, carrying up the lots in little detachments, until CASH COMPOUND INTEREST NOTES and the web was eaten, for the web and its contents were bundled up together. A slight, rest, of an hour, was followed by ne most industrious web-making pro cess, and before day-break another web was ready to be used in the same way.

AN TMMENSE TREE. - A correspondent of the New York Ledger, in San Francisco, who has been up among the big trees of Calveras county, California, sends us an account of one of them, which was lately felled. He says: "The height of this tree was three hundred and two feet. Across the stump, five feet from the ground, it measured twentyfive feet in diameter without the bark, and twenty-eight feet with it. LEVI MUMPER The Grover & Baker .-- The Best in Gae.

THESE Machines have become so well known in that little need be said by way of recommendation. They have taken the first premium at all the late state Fairs, and are universally acknowledged to be the BEST in use by all who have tried them. The "drover & laker Sittoh" and the "Shuttle Sittch" are points that have been attained by no other Machine. They are the only machines hat sew and embrodder with perfection. These Machines are peculiarly adapted to Family use. They are not seless, sew directly from the spool without rewinding, and are simple in their construction. They are easy to manage, and can be worked by simost any child. Every family should have one. They are labor, they save those, and they save fore, and they save fore, and they save more, and do their June 25, 1868.
