HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS Is composed of the pure juices (or, as they are medically termed, Extracts) of Roots, Herbs, and Barks, insking a preparation, highly concentrated, and entirely free from alcoholic admixtures of any kind.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with the purest quality of Sanda Crus Rum, Ornage, &c., naking one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public.

Those preferring a Medicine free from Alcohol-ic admixture, will use Hoofland's German Bitters. Those who have no objection to the combination of the Bitters, as stated, will use Hoofiand's German Tonic.

Thore are both equally good, and contain the same medical virtues, the choice between the two being a mere mariter of taste, the Tonic being the most palatable.

The stomach, from a variety of causes, such as Indigestion, Ds perpaia, Nervous Debility, etc., is very apt to have its functions deranged. The Liver, sympathizing as it does with the Stomach, then becomes affected, the result of which is that the patient auflers from several or more of the following diseases:

the patient suffers from several or more of the following diseases.

50TH YEAR .-- NO. 21.

"MEET GERTRUDE."

Among the most enterprising, and industrious merchants of Selma, is one whom we will call Smith, principally because it isn't his name, who is blessed with a most exemplary wife in all respects save one—she is of rather a jealous disposition. Mr. Smith has been of late very much engrossed in his business, and has often consumed his evenings over his ledger, instead of in the bosom of his family as has been his custom for years. In reply to the queries of Mrs. S. on the subject, he would always say that he was employed in his business. She did not understand how business could take up so much of his time and her suspicions were aroused that all was not right. Visions of hours spent by her husband in other female society than her own haunted her mind, and she made an inward vow to watch and see for herself. Soon after arriving at this resolution, a telegram arrived for her husband and was sent to his office, which was closed, as he had gone to his supper. The carri-er went to his house and delivered it to his servant at the door. The gentleman not having arrived, it was handed to his read it. It was plain and short:

The Sergeant commenced his journey at Vicksburg, and on the 17th arrived at Montgomery, Alabama, having passed through Jackson, Mississippi. He goes next to Milledgeville, Georgia; thence to Columbia, South Carolina; thence to Raleigh, North Carolina: thence to Richmond, and thence to Washington, which city he proposes to reach about the 4th of July. So far he has received nothing but kindness from the people along the route—in fact, upon his arrival at the cities and towns the people turn out with bands of music and escort him to the best hotels, where he is made the guest of the corporation. To these facts, however, which show the amicable disposition of the Southern people, the Radical press and leaders steadfastly close their eyes and cars. Their dupes are kept in studied ignorance of Sergeant Bates and not having arrived, it was handed to his wife, who with true feminine curiosity by the downtrodden people of the South. -Patriot & Union. A NEGRO PRAYER MEETING. - I strolled into a colored meeting yesterday (Sunday) held in a large building near the hotel at which I tarry. The building was filled to its utmost capacity, and a darker scene I never beheld.

I had often heard of the eccentric character of the negro meetings South, and I will confess that curiosity was my prevailing motive in attending. Not unfrequently some would lie down and roll the entire length of the sisle. One stalwart negro was so violent in his demonstrations that five or six men were compelled to lay him upon a bench and held him down. As the speaker lowered his voice, the audience became more quiet, till order again prevailed. These physical exhibitions I am compelled to believe are involuntary, and result from their excitable nature. It is not what the preacher says in many instances, but the way he says it, that causes this wild excitement. A more empty, senseless, unmeaning harangue, I never heard than the minister's
