HOW TO MAKE MILKERS. nation what breed you have, wheth er Aryshire, Jersey, Short Horn, or grades, comeshing is necessary to be done to reach the highest success in raising milkers.
"It is a great thing to have good blood

but apart from this advantage, the course of raising a milker is somewhat different from that of raising an animal for beef or for labor.

The calf should be well fed and petted

Fondling helps to create a quiet-diapo sition, so important in a dalry cow, and this education must begin when young. For a milker we would have the belfe come in at two years old, and if she has been well kept, so as to have attained a good what she is then old enough to be come a cow. She will give more milk for journing in early. It forms the babit of giving milk, and the habit, you know, is a sert of second nature. We use too many young bulls. An older buil is better. A three year old buil s far better us a stock getter than a year fing, and many prefer a five or six years old to any other. After the heffer has come in let her be fed regularly. A little catmeal induces a large flow. Indian menl is rather fattening. In bad weath-er, give het a clean, airy stall.

A cow newly come in should not drink cold water in cold weather, but moderately warm slop. Calves intended for raising should be taken from the cow within a few days after birth. Feed them first with new milk for a time, then swimmed milk, then sour milk, taking care that all the changes are gradual, by adding only a portion, and gradually a little meal.

Calves well fed and taken care of, with a quart or two of meal daily in winter, will be double the size at two years old they would have attained by; common Helfers thus treated may come in at two years old, and will be better than neglected animals at three, and one year of feed saved.

Helfers dried up too early after calv ing, will always run dry earlier in after ly the first year, until about six weeks

Hearty eaters are desirable for cown and they may usually be selected while calves. A dainty calf will be a dainty Helfers should become accustomed to be freely handled before calving, and drawing the teats.

They will then not be difficult to milk. Begin gradually and never startle tiem. Persona who milk should keep the pails short; unimals are sometimes hurt with sharp nails, and are unjustly charged with restlessners.

To determine which cows are hest for keeping, try their milk separately, and weigh their butter-for sometimes a cow may give much milk and little butter and vice verta. —Colman's Rural World.

MILKING BEFORE CALVING .- A dairyman writes the Practical Farmer that the best cows he ever raised had to be milked several weeks before the period of calving. This piractice was a preventive of garget, and tended to the general health of the animals. It sometimes happens that the udders of cows become greatly and painfully extended weeks before calving, and but few persons resort to the equable practice of relieving them by milking. If this were practised more there probably would be less compliant of garget than there now is.

GREASING WAGONS. But few people are aware that they do wagons and carriages more injust by greating too plentifully than in any other way. A well-made wheel will endure common wear from ten to twenty-five years, if care is taken to use the right hind and proper quount of greate short if bls matter is not attended to, they will be used up in five or six years. Lard never be used on a wagon, for i will penetrate the hub and work its way out around the tenons of the spokes, and spett the wheel. Tallow is the best inriestor. for wood axlutrees, and castor oll for iron.

Just smough grease should be applied to the spindle of a wagon to give it a light coating; this is better than more, for the surplus put on will work out at the which, and be forced by the she bands and nut-washers into the hub around the outside of the boxes. To oil an axietree, first wine the spindle clean with a cloth wet with spirits of turpentine, and then apply a few drops of castor oil near the shoulder and end. One teaspoonful is sufficient for the whole.—Ohio Furmer.

CALEDONIAN CREAM.—Two ounces of rasploring jam ar jelly, two ounces of red currant jelly, two ounces of sifted loaf sugar, the whites of two eggs, put into a bowl, and beat with a spoon for three loans, and beat with a spoon for three cuarters of an hour. This wakes a were the court House, where he offers for assortment of the court House, where he offers for assortment of the court House, where he offers for assortment of the court House, where he offers for assortment of the court House, where he offers for assortment of the court House, where he offers for assortment of the court House, where he offers for a second men and the court House as well as the court Hou quarters of an hour. BOILED SHAD.—Clean your shad, wash and wipe it, flour it well, wrap it in a cloth and put it into a large vessel of bolling water with a great deal of sait. It will require about twenty minutes to cook it. Serve it with egg sauce or rich drawn-butter.

TOR IRREGULARITIES!
I have tested these brops in my own practica, over ten years, and do not healtate to say, that nothing has yet been developed by medical research, that acts so powerfully, positively and harmlessly, in cases of female irregularity, as does this medicine. In all recent cases it never rails, while thousands who have been long sufferers, are indebted to it for the boon of health to-day. india, while thousands who have been long sufferers, are indebted to it for the boon of health to-day.

Although so powerful and positive, they are perfectly harmless, and may be used at all times.

They have been extensively employed by eminent physicians in France and England, as well as in my own practices, over ten years, and I have yet to hear of the first instance of failure. I could give you testimonials of their efficacy from all over the northern and western states, were they so in their nature private. Over 10,000 bottles to the first instance of their efficacy from all over the northern and western states, were they so in their nature private. Over 10,000 bottles to the south of the states of their efficacy from all over the northern and western states, were they so in their nature private. Over 10,000 bottles trust as many sufferers have been benefitted. I am well aware that a remedy so potent to remove all obstructions, may be used for a bad purpose, but trust that where one bottle is thus used, ten may fall into the hands of really needy sufferers.
