Friday, May 22, 1868. DEMOURATIC STATE TICKET.

AUDITOR GENERAL, Hope CHABLES E. BOYLE, of Payette county THE VERBUT

The impeachers, after much delibera tion, selected the eleventh article as the one most likely to succeed, and therefore determined to allow a vote 4200 it. as a test. Should it fall, all would fall. A vote was accordingly had on Saturday, and resulted in 85 year to 19 nays-not two-thirds, the number required to convict. This, the impeachers' strongest article, failing, the acquittal of the President on the rest is conceded almost without dissent.

All honor to Messrs. Fowcer, Fessen-DEN, CHIMES, HENDERSON, VAN WIN-KLE, TRUBULL and Ross, Republicans. who voted with the twelve Democratic Senators for acquittal. Independent, honest men, they adhered to their conscientions convictions, in the very teeth of the wildest storm ever raised by party friends to force party measures. History will do them justice, and place their names high up among those most deservedly honored, whilst it will rank the impeachers among that class who have never scrupled to sacrifice their country's good to their own or their party's base aims.

A NEW and interesting chapter in the sure the reluctance of that official to leave his position at New Orleans, and throws a most damaging light upon his doings while in charge of the Department of Louisiana. The report of a committee of investigation, appointed by the Government, shows that in conjunction with his brother, the patriotic General chartered vessels for the purpose of sending merchandise and provisions to the rebels, purchased cotton and sugar of the rebels, run the blockade, and purchased a vessel for $30,000 which they chartered to the Government for whom they purchased had previously offered her services for $40 per day. The evidence as to these charges comes from persons who were directly implicated and who resolved their due proportion of the profits. No wonder that the patriotic General funded and fretted at the loss of such a nice little plum.

No manifestation of sentiment was made on either side of the question. What ever were the feelings of the Senators, members, and spectators, they were thoroughly suppressed.

Mr. Johnson remains in the White House. The eleventh was delinerately, and we doubt not judiciously, selected as the article that would command most votes. This failing, all fail. There may be those who deem it whe and well to admit Senators from the reconstructed States and ferce a vertice of guilty by their votes; but we cannot concur. It might have been well to defer the impenchment until those States should be represented in the Senators to vote upon it after the testimony was taken and the argument closed.

Washington, May 18, 1868.
At 12 o'clock precisely the Chief Justice, wearing the silk robe of office, entered and took his seat as presiding officer of the Court of Impeachment, and directed the Sergeant-at-Arms to make procisionation.

The proclamation was made in the usual form.

The Secretary then proceeded to read the journal of the last days' proceedings in the case of the United States against Andrew Johnson, President.

When the reading was concluded, Mr. Williams called up the order heretofore submitted in the following words:

Ordered, That the Chief Justice, in directing the Secretary to read the several articles of impeachment, shall direct him to read the eleventh article first, and the question shall be taken on that article, and thereafter on the other ten successively as they stand.

Senator Johnson inquired whether the order was debatable.

It scarcely seems a matter for exulta utterly degraded and infamous. It is still enough to bring the blush of shame to the cheek of every true lover of his country, that a notoriously false and un-
