cattle or with their excretions. They have had authentic evidence that Tex as cattle that have passed over a road dropping their excrements, have comunleated the disease to native eattle that passed over the same road forty-eight hours afterwards. The disease is aggravated by motion and ameliorated by fresh air and re pose. Wherever cattle have exhibited the earliest symptoms of the disease, and have been taken from the cars and allowed suitable tood and drink, with rest and fresh air, they have invariatoms, and have gone forward in the disease in its most malignant form. The first symptom of the disease is an appearance of languor and weariwhich is unmistakable; the head drops, the ears hang down, the eyes are staring; the back is arched, strong efforts are made to dung, which are often ineffectual, the droppings being CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, &C., ON HAND, usually dry, scanty, and stained with blood. The urine is generally dark brown in color, and commonly called "black water." The coat is generally rough, the hairs standing almost erect the horns are hot, the nosedry, a frothy saliva flows from the mouth; flies settle in great numbers, and the animal rarely makes an effort to brush them

The meat of diseased animals may easily be recognized. The fat has a deep or high-colored greenish-vellow appearance, and has not the firm resistance of health. The lean meat is of a brownish mallogany color, and on being out into has a neculiar sickening odor. Sometimes the superficial muscle have the natural pink read tint, but the deep-seated muscles, and especially the intercostal muscles (those between the ribs.) have the dark-brown color and naussons smell. The remedy augyested for the cattle lisease is carbolic acid, which, it is aserted, is an absolute and perfect disinhave reason to suspect that their cattle have been exposed to the infection are advised to sprinkle the substance known as "heavy oil" abundantly about the yards where they are confined, and to put some carbolic acid all com into the water they drink, in the proportion of one part pure acid with thrice its own weight of salsoda, to one

The Commissioners state that the disease is not necessarily fatal, several severe cases under their immediate observation having recovered under the treatment above recommended.

The Lady's Friend, for October A fine Steel Plate, "The River Spirit," a brilliant Fashion-Plate, and a spirited wood-cut of a group of young peo-ple amusing themselves with Hallowen rites, are the leading embellishments of the October number of this beautiful monthly. In literary merit it is decidedly at the head of magazines of its class. "Fleeing from Fate," by Louisa Chandler Moulton, is a striking story, worth any one's while To read; "Master Casimer," from the German, has the novelty of foreign customs; "Aunt Paget's Pitcher," by August Bell, is a quaint conceit, the to read: "Master Casimer." from the barry Fortune," by Amanda M. Doug-las, grows in interest with every number; and the Poems by Florence Percy and Beatrice Colonna are such as one does not often meet with in a lady's magazine. At the same time, in tasteful patterns of the Fashions, and Work-table outs and directions, it is especially suited for ladies of refinement and culture. The new music in this number is a bailed—"Fancy Brings Thee O'er the Lea." The Property of the next year contains unequalled inducements to new subscribers, and we advise our readers to send for a specimen number (which is furnished gratis), and avail themselves of the Publishers' munificent offers. It is published by Deacon & Peterson. 310 Wainut'street, Philadelphia, at $2.50 a year (which also includes a large steel engraving). "The Lady's Friend" and "The Saturday Evening Post," $4.00.
