"I suppose I could take it," he said, "if I saw fit to help Lawson." "In what way?" "By working nights. But when he made me the offer, I could at thick of it, for I felt if would be purgatory to spend my evenings anywhere but in your dear company. I felt al little fear, hesides, as I'm not over-strang this summer, that it might pull mg down. Haweyer, that may be purely gallab, reasoning. If you think it would ad to your happiness, I will one of the state of the alternative of the state in the other at once. But I shall never be at home till nine, per- haps later. Farewell, our cowy chais and pleasant seadings." "But, Hgrbert, I have Pet, and nine is not so late; we might sit up a little longer. Besides, I could pass the time agreeably with books and music!" She did not see the look of sadness ihad clouded his face is she said this- that deepened atmost into angufab be- fore she glanced toward him. KEEPING THE LAW.—There was an old Qualier, who had as anfortunate reputation for non-resistance. It was sold that my one could jostle him, tread on his tors or tweak his nose with innpunity; until one day a blus- tering leafer, being toil that he was a man who, if smitten on the chine check, world turn the other also, thought it would be sport to try him. Stepping up to the sturdy, good-matured Friend, he stapped his face. The old man looked at him sorrowfolly for 5 mio- ment, then slowly turned his other check and received counter bufful. Upon that beyooling united off his coat. "I have cleared the -law," sailt he, "and now thee must take it." ' And he gave the fellow al trench- dons thrashing. "Bon Brows, did you say that my father had not as much sense as billy Smith's Intile dog?" "No, I never said uny such thing. I neversand that your father had not as much sense as Billy Smith's Intile dog. All I said was that Hilly's little dug had more sense than your father; that's all I eversaid." "Well, it's well youdidn's say the other, if tell you."	we may leave business in the office and have a heat-cleaning, THE late George Kendall, the foun- der of the New Orleans Picayane, was and exceedingly derecable comparison. He used to relate his adventures on the same Fe expedition with much glee, and in the most interesting man- ner. One of them was as follows: After the capture of the party by a going of Mexican maranders, the pris- oners, were chaladed in couples and driven inland, guarded by a body of aritied men. Word was passed among the prisoners that they were all to be shot lithuitdistely. "Can this be pos- sible, 'Misther Kandáfi?" said the big Iristiman to whom our triend was made fast. "Quite likely," was the quiet response. "Rut, Misther Hin- dall," rojoined Pat, "Isn't files a very iztraordinary state of society ?" FAR FERCIEROne-of the young members of the French legition, hard pushed for a complianent to a fair fady, why-c face was matrice? by an undenia- bily file nose, remarked: "Madánic, you are an angel fallen from heaven, but you fell on your nose." "GAMBO, did yon ever see the Kat- skill Mountains.". "No, Clear; bei I've seen the cats kill mice."	"dirty" thousand collars.
