statements that appear to be well grounded, and as Niagara is one of the argest, if not the largest, apple growing county in the State, they are of interest. It says a disease is prevailing in the orchards there that has destroyed many trees. It manifests itself in a the leaves; the bark dies; then the body of the tree dies upward about a foot from the ground; the dis-ease also extends into the root several feet, and kills the whole tree. The bark tightens and adheres firmly to the tree, and does not crack nor peel. There seems to be no preceptible cause for fa-tality among the apple trees; no grubs can be found nor anything else that would be likely to destroy. About fifteen trees in a splendid orchard belonging to Mr. George W. Tower, in the town of Porter, have been attacked with this disease and killed. The trees were from fifteen to twenty years old.
