A Bold Robbery. Nearly four miles below the village of Catskill, on the west bank of the Hudson, resides Abraham Post, a worthy, well-to do farmer. At about 6:30 r. m., a few days since, Mr. Post, his wife and daughter (the latter about twenty-two years of age), his son Edward, and their hired man, an Irishman, were quietly eating their supper, when the door leading from the main hall to the dining-room was abruptly pushed open door leading from the main hall to the dining-room was abruptly pushed open and six men entered and rushed up to the table. Each one of the scoundrels drew a revolver, and laveling the weapons at the head of each member of the family, warned all to keep quiet or they would blow their brains out. While five of the robbers thus held the five inmates of the house quiet, the sixth one drew four pairs of new handcuffs from underneath his coat and in Grape culture and the manufacture of domestic wines being on the increase in this country, we publish the following directions for making five galloms of grape wine by a correspondent of the Germantown Telegraph: Express the juice from twenty pounds of grapes; rinse the pulp and skins in as much water as will cover them; mash them and strain them through a coarse cloth; add to this the juice and put in two pounds of brown sugar te each gallon. When the sugar is dissolved pour the whole into a keg, having the bung open, and let it rest for a month 40 settle, when it should be drawn off quietly, the keg well washed, and the wine returned to it, adding one pound of good raisins, and if it does not seem sweet enough two pounds of sugar may be added to the whole. To Organize a Farmers' Clab.

Call together your neighbors at the school-house (with the consent of the Trustees) or at your own home. Select a Chairman and Secretary; propose at topic for consideration and discussion; let one man talk at a time and the rest listen; give each one a chance to talk; adjourn to meet again on some other farm, after having fixed upon a subject for discussion at the next meeting. The example of the French is given as a case in point. The French, "who never go in debt, and who have been saving money since the days of the first Napoleon, have become the richest people in the world, which seems proved by the fact that the Ger-man indemnity of a thousand millions of dollars, which they were obliged to pay, has been all discharged in two years, while we have been struggling for eight years with twice as much. Perhaps the wealth of the French farmers arises as much from the small farm system and the high cultivation they give the soil.
