

Autumn is dying, winter is come,
Dead leaves are falling, the trees are dumb;

Practicing the Anthem.
A summer wind blows through the open porch
And breathes the rustling leaves;

Each sweet note glads as dreaming memory's
Each melody wakens in pain;
The spectral faces had turned away

Great solemn windows, with a long, long nave,
Their shadowed shafts flung;
Dark purple clouds, with heavy capricious,

Two kinds of courage.
Not many years since the good ship
Ponce sailed from Boston bound for Sumatra.

Among the crew of the Ponce, on her
Present voyage, was a young man
Named Caleb Baker. He had shipped

"I wish you'd be careful," said
Baker, as he moved to gather up his Things.

"They were your things out of my
Way," said the mate, "the ship
