

THE CENTRAL REPORTER.

FRED. KURTZ, Editor. Centre Hall, Pa., May 28, 1874.

TERMS—$2 per year, in advance, 25c when not paid in advance.

Wm. W. Eaton, democrat, was elected U. S. Senator from Connecticut, on 20 inst. Mr. Eaton takes the place of Buckingham, radical.

Candidates for the different offices are becoming numerous, and wearing pleasant faces and with it very hard shak.

The next general election, which will be held in November instead of October, will be an important one for the people, particularly of this county.

Persons visiting the Capital in Washington, D. C., have noticed the telegraph office near the main door of the House of Representatives. It now appears that the messages sent over the wires from that point are often copied by persons hearing them ticked off, or by some other means, and the result is a leak of confidential information.

Democrats will see that the election will be an important one, and we trust they will also see the necessity of nominating good men, men of honesty and integrity, who are clear of rings, cliques and above intrigue.

Let the citizen not be too hasty in his promises to candidates—the good of the party demands of each and every one, having the future of the democratic party at heart, that he be cautious and circumspect, and that he throw his preferences solely to the selection of men of good standing, and who will give strength to the ticket.

Washington had a big wedding last week—the daughter of the President was married to Mr. Sartoris, an Englishman of high birth, and a father with no little pile. He is 23, and Nellie is 19. After the wedding the bride party started for Europe.

The yearly meeting of the Friends is now in session in Philadelphia. Two paragraphs relating to the experience of two Indiana missionaries.

Deborah Wharton then related that notwithstanding the prejudice existing against the Indians in Nebraska, an editor in that State had acknowledged that since the Quakers had taken charge of them there had been a wonderful improvement.

The missionary, Mary Lightfoot, being present, related some very amusing instances of the difficulty experienced in teaching the Indians.

First came Mr. Sartoris and Col. Frederick D. Grant, in full uniform, the only groomsmen. Next the bridesmaids, and led by two the bride, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Grant, and her two sons, Elvise and Jess. They were followed by relatives of the family.

On reaching the platform the President transferred his daughter to Mr. Sartoris, with the bride, and the bridegroom, who the officiating minister was in waiting to receive them, and took a position under the forest wedding tree.

The bride wore a white satin dress elaborately trimmed, with a point lace tulle veil, and her hair was arranged with orange blossoms.

The dress of the groom was in the latest style, with the conventional white necktie.

The bridesmaids were Misses Bernice, Fish, Drexel, Dent, Porter, Carpenter, Sherman and Frelinghuysen. They were dressed in white corded silk, decorated with white illusion, with puffs and pleatings caught up with flowers.

quig candlesticks to match with a wax candle in each; flowers are painted on the candles. There were several handkerchiefs and neckties on the table. A superb bracelet of wrought gold, an invaluable number of watches, silver spoons, gloves, two sets of fine cut and carved wood.

The full name of Nellie Grant's husband is George Washington Sartoris. Frederick Alington Sartoris, Nobody can reasonably object to the name.

THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE SENATE CONVENTION.—The tenth annual Convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association will be held in the First Presbyterian Church on Washington Avenue, in the city of Scranton, on Tuesday, May 28, and Thursday, May 30, 10th and 11th, 1874. You are earnestly invited to be present.

The Rev. J. H. Vincent, D. D. of New York, will be present and take part in the proceedings. The singing will be by an excellent choir, and a musical number by the Philadelphia. Whatever arrangements may be made for reduction of fares will be made hereafter. Entertainment will be provided for all delegates who will notify Wm. Hadden, Esq., Chairman of Local Committee, Scranton, Pa., on or before the 1st day of June.

The World publishes a carefully prepared table showing the issues of the Radical party since the presidential election of 1872. Grant had a popular majority of 702,771 votes. It then gives the votes in 1872 and 1873 in the States of California, Connecticut, Iowa, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, New York, New Hampshire, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Texas, Virginia and Wisconsin, and the total votes shows an opposition majority of 188,955, a net gain of 688,356, or within 43,915 votes of reversing in these eighteen States Grant's majority in the whole country.

The World appropriately adds: "It is almost unnecessary to add that 98 per cent. of these opposition gains are Democratic gains, and equally unnecessary to state what the elections of the past year have demonstrated with absolute certainty, that the Democratic party must eventually and speedily attract to its ranks all the struggling opponents of Radicalism who, under one name or another, are attempting to wage a sort of guerrilla warfare against the Radical party."

Tennessee seems to be powerfully stirred upon the "mixed school" question. The feeling against any legislation securing that object has been strong enough to turn so old and aged a friend of the negro as Senator Brownlow against it, and the few Republican journals of the State are almost as emphatic as he is in their opposition to the measure.

August 26, is fixed as the time, and Pittsburgh as the place, for the Democratic State Convention, which will place candidates for the same offices in nomination. Both the candidates for the Supreme Court will be elected on the principle laid down in article 5, section 16, as follows:

Whenever two judges of the Supreme Court are to be chosen for the same term of service, each voter shall vote for one only, and when three are to be chosen he shall vote for no more than two, candidates highest in number shall be declared elected.

This section puts in practice for judicial elections, in the particular cases mentioned, the system known as the limited vote. It insures the election of the nominee of each of the two great parties, and would do so even if a third party not having greater strength than either of the other two were to place a candidate in the field.

The principle is just, since it is manifestly fairer to the minority party than should have one of two judges chosen at the same time than that, it should be left wholly unrepresented by giving both to the majority. The minority are entitled by their numbers to say three-fourths of a judge in such a case, and judges are not to be elected by a majority of the whole.

Truly the unfortunate white people of the South are in a most deplorable condition. After having been fully plundered by myriads of carpet baggers, upheld in their thieving operations by the whole influence and power of the national Government, in most of the reconstructed States the negroes are in the hands of the most ignorant class of the population, who continue to dispoil them and grind them to the earth under burdens of oppressive taxation. Along the great water courses millions of acres of the richest and most productive lands in America are covered with weeds. And now from those portions of the South that have escaped the floods which have hopelessly ruined so many thousands in the regions of the Mississippi and its tributaries, we receive the most discouraging accounts of the prospects of the cotton crop. There were heavy rains in April, followed by frosts, and the results have been disastrous.

In large tracts of country the crop has been entirely killed out, so that the planters have been compelled to begin anew and do their work all over again, provided they can obtain the requisite seed, which in many instances they are unable to do. In Florida the stand of cotton is reported to be in a terrible condition, being thrown back and laid in the water. In the West Indies the cotton has been totally destroyed. The Charleston News and Courier says that the cultivation of Sea Island cotton this year, irrespective of losses by frost, would have been at least one-third less than last year, and that much of that which was started has been destroyed and will have to be replanted. It is impossible to refrain from an expression of admiration for the undaunted pluck and perseverance of the white folk of the South exhibit under the manifold misfortunes which have overtaken them. From all quarters we hear that, with few exceptions, the former men of wealth who have been brought to want by the events of the past fourteen years bear their hard lot with a noble courage, and are working with sturdy energy to repair their broken fortunes. Some of the best lands in the Sea Islands are worked entirely by their owners, while all over the South the young men, as a rule, are exhibiting the highest qualities of manly self-reliance.

A COMBATIVE SNAKE. John Gwinner, a young man, while traveling through Powell's valley, saw the supposed track of a wild turkey recently determined to satisfy his curiosity he followed the trail, but he had proceeded very far a magnificent black snake, measuring nearly twelve feet in length and twelve inches in circumference, dispirited his pursuer. THE INFLATION VETO. Chicago, May 13.—The Tribune this morning publishes replies to a circular letter sent to 28 anti-inflation members of Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, and Nebraska, asking them to sign a resolution to veto the President's veto of the currency bill. The replies show that of the 28 papers only 10 are in favor of the veto.

THE CENTENNIAL. Philadelphia, May 20.—At a meeting of the United States Centennial Commission this morning, a financial statement was made showing the total subscription to be $2,000,000. The total expenses to May 1st, including plans and work on grounds $144,712, and estimate of total cost of building according to designs $8,750,000.

THE REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE in relation to the report of the Commission to pass an appropriation for the Centennial says: "Profoundly impressed with the responsibility resting on the commission, and being conscious of having performed to the best of our ability the duty imposed on us by an act of Congress, we respectfully submit that without government aid which has been requested, it will be impossible to render the celebration creditable to the nation, and worthy of the occasion it is intended to commemorate. The responsibility therefore rests on the success of the Centennial International Exhibition now clearly rests with Congress."

THE NATIONAL CONFERENCE OF DUNKARDS met at Grand, Illinois, Saturday, and a large gathering of delegates occurred in that country. It is estimated that 10,000 persons were present. An enormous tent was erected for their accommodation capable of holding 5,000 persons, but it was found to be very defective for trial. This afternoon a heavy rain fell, and the tent was blown down. It was being just twenty-two hours. He will be obliged with thirty lashes on Saturday, and on the 10th he will be imprisoned for ten years.

SIX HUNDRED HOGS BURNED. Chicago, May 21.—A late hour last night today a fire broke out in the Grove and Eighteenth streets, was burned out about 3:00, and was estimated to be worth about $50,000, and was destroyed a large number of dressed hogs, and other property. In addition, there were on the premises 800 live hogs, and the loss is estimated at over $100,000, and is fully covered by insurance.

THE MILL RIVER DISASTER. The correspondent of the Tribune gives the following graphic description of the terrible calamity in Massachusetts:

About seven o'clock the watchman at the dam discovered a small leak near the base of the dam. It was not noticed until it had become a great one. In a few minutes the rushing stream had become a roaring torrent, and the dam was in danger of being swept away. The water was so high that it was impossible to see the top of the dam. A CHINESE TALE OF HORROR. [Shanghai Evening Courier, Mar. 14.] Yesterday morning the principal magistrate of the quiet city of Chinkai was aroused from his dreamy slumbers by the appearance of a wife-deceived and avenging husband, who produced from a cloth wrapped up in his arms a severed head. The wife and her family were present. The severed head was that of the husband. The wife and her family were present. The severed head was that of the husband.

SHOT DEAD BY HIS OWN FATHER. Willsboro, May 16.—John Kilpatrick, a man, during a drunken fit last night, shot and killed his only son. Kilpatrick came home about 9 P. M., and when he ascertained that his wife was visiting at a friend's house, he took his son's watch and set on the table, saying that unless the boy returned in fifteen minutes he would blow his head out. The son, aged 19, who had retired, heard the threat and asked the father to put up the pistol, but received a threat for a reply, and on repeating the request the father fired and killed him in the left temple. The murderer was arrested a few minutes afterward, but he denied all knowledge of the affair.

THE SUPREME COURT OF PENNSYLVANIA has ruled that the demand for payment of note must be made at a reasonable time of day, if at a private residence, not an hour when it may be presumed that the family is in bed; and if at a place of business within business hours the demand may be made at any time.

THE NEW EXEMPTION LAW AS IT NOW AWAITS THE GOVERNOR'S SIGNATURE. The following is a copy of an act to exempt from taxation public property used for public purposes and places of religious worship, places of instruction for private or corporate profit, and institutions of pure public charity, as the same has been amended.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted, That all churches, meeting-houses, or other regular places of public worship, and all places of instruction for private or corporate profit, and all hospitals, universities, colleges, seminaries, and other places of instruction of learning, benevolence, or charity, with the grounds thereunto annexed and necessary for the occupancy and enjoyment of the same, founded, endowed, and maintained by public or private charity, and all schools belonging to any county, borough, or school district, and all property, real or personal, other than that which is in actual use and occupation for the purposes aforesaid, and from which any income or revenue is derived, shall be exempt from taxation, except where excluded by law.
