

THE CENTRE REPORTER.
 PUBLISHED WEEKLY.
 Centre Hall, Pa., Oct. 1, 1874.

TERMS.—$2 per year, in advance, 25¢ when not paid in advance.
 Advertisements 20¢ per line for three insertions, and 6¢ for each 12 lines by special contract.

Democratic Nominations.

For Supreme Judge,
W. W. WARREN J. WOODWARD, of Berks.
 For Additional Law Judge,
JOHN H. ORVIS.
 For Lieutenant Governor,
HON. JOHN LATTA, of Westmoreland.
 For Auditor General,
HON. JUSTICE F. TEMPLE, of Greene.
 For Secretary of Internal Affairs,
GEN. WILLIAM M. CANDLESS, of Philadelphia.
 For Congress,
L. A. MACKAY,
 For State Senator,
WM. A. WALLACE.
ASSEMBLY.
S. T. Shugert, Bellefonte.
S. S. Wolf, Potter.
DISTRICT ATTORNEY.
J. L. Spangler, Bellefonte.
COMMISSIONER.
J. Newlin, Howard.
CO. SURVEYOR.
J. H. Reiffinger, Penn.
AUDITOR.
Adam Yearick, Marion.

WHO MAY VOTE.

It is well to remind our readers that under the new Constitution, every person offering to vote must show:

1. That he has been a citizen of the United States at least one month.—This will cut off all persons naturalized after the third day of October in the present year.

2. That he has resided in the State removed therefrom shall have returned six months preceding the election.—This is the old provision that prevailed in the old Constitution.

3. That he has resided in the election district where he offers to vote, at least two months immediately before the election.

4. That he has, within two years and at least a month before the election, paid a State or county tax assessed at least two months prior to the election.

Let no man move from one ward or district immediately before the election and expect to vote.

The radicals of New York have recommended Gen. Dix for governor. Sam'l J. Tilden is the democratic nominee.

Jack L. Spangler is one of the people's favorites upon the democratic ticket, and he will make a capable district attorney. He is a self-made young man, very studious and sustains an unblemished character. He speaks both languages and that is a matter of great importance to our people.

Four years ago, when the district was hopelessly radical, every democrat was proud with Mr. Mackey as a candidate for congress. He is the same man still, only the more deserving. He was the only man who then had courage to face the enemy in a district that was heavily against him.

The Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin, radical, opposes a third term for Grant. It cites Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, and Jackson as having opposed such a thing as electing a president for a third term. It is right, but the fellow that wants it on all his past conduct, he is the only proper person the people could find who seemed to answer in the present state of affairs. Col. Mackey is an honor to this district, and we feel proud to advocate his election, and we know that when he shall have served his term in Congress, to which he will be elected by an overwhelming majority, that he will return more beloved and esteemed than ever, for he will be found to have been true to his people and their interests, and because the tolling masses will find his votes to have been in favor of ameliorating their condition, a trait in Mr. Mackey's character which has ever stood out in bold relief.

There, voters of central Pennsylvania, is a ticket that has no taint of "ring" about it, save the clear and joyful ring of true integrity, honesty and capacity. It remains now for the people to say on the 3rd of November, whether they will stand by good men, who have ever stood by them. We know that the people will be true to themselves.

Free From Rings.

Some of the "opposition" of the "stop thief" order, who compose all in order of what is called "the ring," in order to draw attention from themselves, attempted to raise the cry of "ring" against L. A. Mackey. But it did not stick anywhere. Now the real facts are these: The ring tried to bring out a candidate in Union county to interfere with Mackey, but no democrat would bite, and the people of Union county, unasked and unanimously for Mackey. Was there any ring there?

The same cattle tried to get out Mr. Hall, of Elk, but he was too sensible a democrat, and the people of Elk went unanimously for Mackey. Did that sound like ring?

Clinton county went unanimously for her own worthy son, and the charge of ring does not come in there either.

Clearfield county solicited went unanimously for Mackey. The people of Clearfield, on the other side, were fixed the matter on him of their own accord, and if that is ring, it is the kind of ring that always should make nominations.

Now if there is such a thing as a people's ring, Mackey is the choice of that circle, we admit. But if you mean the low, tricking, corrupt politician's ring, that concerns was done against Mackey, because he would not identify himself with it.

The attempt of the opposition to cause dissension and split, failed and

The District Nominees—Orvis, Wallace and Mackey.
 Already do the sounds of joy come up to us, from the democracy of their parts of the state, on the excellent of our district nominees, made by the various conferences at Bellefonte, on Wednesday, 23. Surely when the democracy of the entire state endorse such men as Orvis, Wallace and Mackey, we in the district, who are more immediately interested have great reason to be proud. Yes, and the democracy do feel proud of these their leaders, for, while other districts have good and able men, we have the satisfaction of knowing that we have men who are the peers of any three in the commonwealth, for ability, integrity and honesty. This is admitted by all—republicans as well as democrats.

Democrats now work for the nominees. If ever a ticket deserved commendation, it is that headed by Orvis for Judge, Mackey for Congress, and Wallace for Senator. No blemish there—it is faultless—the men are purely and solidly the choice of the people. We have the satisfaction of supporting nominees unshaken by ring theories, despisers of states, and the recorded enemies of corruption.

Hon. John H. Orvis, as a legislator and a Judge, is down as the arch enemy of corruption, rings, rosters and lawbreakers. Our readers all know him and his eminent abilities.

Hon. W. A. Wallace, the gallant leader of the democracy in the senate for the last twelve years, is down upon the record as the vigilant enemy of every species of monopoly and special legislation; and in all that long and faithful career in the senate, we defy any one to point out a single vote or speech that is not in favor of the interests of the masses, the FARMER, MECHANIC and LABORING MAN. We repeat, we defy any one to oppose to Mr. Wallace, to take up his record and point out where that able, fearless and devoted champion of the people's rights was not true to his trusts. Democrats, honest republicans, you all know W. A. Wallace, you know that he can not be spared in the senate at this important juncture when the state is throwing from her bowels the corruptions that so long afflicted her. He has ever been one of the noble and true men who battled unceasingly to purify legislation and drive out corruption. They are the kind of men that the taxpayers—the farmer, mechanic and laboring man—must now stand by, for the good work is not all accomplished by the adoption of the new constitution, and none knows the field and where the weeds are so well as our nominee for senator, Wm. A. Wallace.

On a par with Messrs. Orvis and Wallace, stands our gallant nominee for Congress, L. A. Mackey—the people's man in every sense of the word; the friend and patron of the farmer, the mechanic, the laboring man, and the generous-hearted and liberal-hearted father of the needy. Often in past years have the poor of Lock Haven and Clinton county had occasion to say, "God bless our friend Mackey." But aside of all that, Mr. Mackey has the ability necessary for the position. He understands the political questions of the day, and especially the intricate question of finance, and having the stamp of integrity upon his brow and impressed it on all his past conduct, he is the only proper person the people could find who seemed to answer in the present state of affairs. Col. Mackey is an honor to this district, and we feel proud to advocate his election, and we know that when he shall have served his term in Congress, to which he will be elected by an overwhelming majority, that he will return more beloved and esteemed than ever, for he will be found to have been true to his people and their interests, and because the tolling masses will find his votes to have been in favor of ameliorating their condition, a trait in Mr. Mackey's character which has ever stood out in bold relief.

There, voters of central Pennsylvania, is a ticket that has no taint of "ring" about it, save the clear and joyful ring of true integrity, honesty and capacity. It remains now for the people to say on the 3rd of November, whether they will stand by good men, who have ever stood by them. We know that the people will be true to themselves.

The district nominations give general satisfaction in the different counties. The people never were better pleased. In another column we print extracts from a few of our exchanges, commending the nomination. We could fill columns of like sentiments, but this suffices to show the popularity of Messrs. Orvis, Mackey and Wallace. In Pennsylvania, the stronghold of Centre county democrats, we never saw a ticket more acceptable to the people, and there is not a dissenting voice, all warmly endorse the doings of the conferences. Even the republicans admit the ticket to be a good and strong one.

A New Orleans paper publishes a list of the stubs in Governor Kellogg's check-book, which shows the payment by him of sums ranging from $2,000 to $500 to various Radical Congressmen.

Several minor engagements between the Spanish and insurgent forces are reported in Cuba.

An accident occurred on the Mississippi Central Railroad on 27, near Holly Springs, Miss., by which fifteen persons were wounded. The accident was caused by a recent flood.

A fire on Chartres street, New Orleans, destroyed seven buildings on 27, valued at $100,000, and insured for half the sum.

Mount Etna is reported in a state of eruption, several houses having been destroyed in a neighboring village.

they stand alone at the grave of their still-born infant, which they bury in darkness, themselves the pall-bearers and mourners.

The same remarks apply to our other nominees, Messrs. Orvis and Wallace.

Now that the democratic ticket is complete, we invite the candid attention of every honest man to it. Commence at the top with Warren J. Woodward, the opposition even can find no fault with him, for Supreme Judge. Then is Hon. John Latta, a former member of the House and Senate, with a record unimpaired by anything that savors of corruption. Next comes Justice F. Temple, one of the purest and best men in the state and the idol of Green county, he is our nominee for the important office of Auditor General, where the game of "Addition, Division and Silence" was played under a radical incumbent. Next comes the gallant soldier, Gen. M'Callister, who went through the thickest of the war, a statesman and senator of clean record—his name is the name of honor in the annals of our country. Then are these noble champions of honesty, Messrs. Orvis, Mackey and Wallace, of whom we speak more at length in another column. Then for Assembly, Hon. S. T. Shugert and Lieut. S. S. Wolf, both men of large intelligence, unshaken character, and tried heretofore and never found wanting; the latter, Mr. Wolf, having served gallantly as a soldier. We beg to remind democrats of the importance of electing two democratic members from this county, as the next session will be a highly important one, many reforms are to be made, and a U. S. Senator is to be chosen, and one single vote may decide who he shall be. Then come J. L. Spangler, for District Attorney, J. N. Hall for Commissioner, and Henry Yearick, for Auditor, all men from among the people, and who are known to have the people's interests at heart. Democrats, stand by these men. Each one has been fairly nominated; any falling will have a damaging effect upon the future of the party.

Our District Nominations.
 Our district nominees are as popular abroad as at home. The democracy of the entire state is complimenting us upon our ticket. The Bloomsburg Republican, edited by that veteran H. L. Dieffenbach, speaks of them as follows:

Mr. Mackey's fitness for Congress is conceded, and no question as to his entire propriety has been raised except that he is and has long been President of a National Bank. But this circumstance loses its force when the fact is stated that Mr. Mackey is not favorable to the National banking system, and his bank only accepted it when forced to do so by the heavy and irresistible exactions of the Federal government. It would abandon the National feature whenever the Federal laws permitted. Under his management as a State institution the bank was one of the best and most successful, bearing a most important part in the development of the upper West Branch valley, establishing manufacturing, etc. Forced into the Federal system by inexorable laws, it continued to be an eminently useful institution and never exceeded its charter or imposed upon the public by charging more than six per cent interest. It was and continues to be an exception generally to all such institutions, its directors always having acted upon the idea that it was established for the public good and not merely for the profit of its stockholders. Objection on this ground, therefore, disappears, and Mr. Mackey's eminent financial abilities and largely his qualifications for the position of Congressman.

The action of Clinton county assures the return of Mr. Wallace to the Senate, which will be gratifying to a large portion of the party in the State, and will be a grand triumph for the democracy. Unable to agree with him in all respects, we yet cordially admire his general ability, personal integrity, earnestness of character, and patriotism of purpose. The objection exists that his relations with railroads necessarily somewhat divide his affection, and detracts from his influence, but the people in this district do not seem to regard this fact as of material importance. As a leader of the minority in the Senate, he has prevented many a change of legislation, and his results, and has been more successful in these directions than minority leaders usually are. In these days of infidelity it is an honor to a constituency to keep a man of his ability constantly in high official position.

No man ever went to the Judicial bench with higher hopes and prospects of honor and usefulness, on the part of his friends, than John H. Orvis, and proudly has he thus far vindicated their confidence and sagacity. The public accorded to him great integrity, and the strictest conscientious integrity, and he has added largely already to the great esteem in which he is held. A brilliant judicial career is before him. He will probably be elected without opposition—at least by a majority that will amount to the same thing.

Pittsburg Post.
 The Democratic Senatorial Conference of the Centre, Clearfield and Clinton district met yesterday at Bellefonte, and nominated Hon. W. A. Wallace for State Senator. The nomination has been warmly bestowed, and as such it affords us extreme pleasure in recording it. The Senate of Pennsylvania can boast of no more able, hardworking or attentive member.

Williamsport Bulletin, radical.
 Personally Mr. Mackey is very popular with the party, and if a democrat must be elected, we know of no better man.

Morning Patriot.
 There is reason for congratulation among democrats throughout the state in consequence of the nomination of Hon. W. A. Wallace as a democrat, and the fact that the nomination has been warmly bestowed, and as such it affords us extreme pleasure in recording it. The Senate of Pennsylvania can boast of no more able, hardworking or attentive member.

Clinton Democrat.
 The conference meeting held at Bellefonte yesterday, in nomination Hon. L. A. Mackey for Congress, Wm. A. Wallace for State Senator, and John H. Orvis for additional Law Judge. On the eve of going to press, we cannot do more than congratulate the people of the district upon the presentation of so able and honorable a ticket, which it should be the aim of the democracy of the district to give its most active and enthusiastic support, and to elect by a large and increased majority.

Business men and property owners of Chicago are at length brought to face the problem of transacting their business and holding their property securely without the aid of the insurance companies. The City Government of Chicago having decided to take the precautions again suggested by the National Board of Fire Underwriters in July last, that body has now issued a circular advising all companies to discontinue the business of fire insurance in Chicago after the 1st of October. No basis of compromise or other adjustment is suggested, but it hardly seems possible that Chicago can for long dispense with the services of the insurance companies. As business is now done Chicago merchants could get no credit on uninsured goods, and would in fact be virtually to go out of business. Money cannot easily be raised by mortgage on uninsured buildings. A fire which should destroy a merchant's uninsured stock or buildings of a wealthy citizen of Chicago, actively connected with its business system, might bring a local financial crisis of times of severe economy.

Next comes the gallant soldier, Gen. M'Callister, who went through the thickest of the war, a statesman and senator of clean record—his name is the name of honor in the annals of our country. Then are these noble champions of honesty, Messrs. Orvis, Mackey and Wallace, of whom we speak more at length in another column. Then for Assembly, Hon. S. T. Shugert and Lieut. S. S. Wolf, both men of large intelligence, unshaken character, and tried heretofore and never found wanting; the latter, Mr. Wolf, having served gallantly as a soldier. We beg to remind democrats of the importance of electing two democratic members from this county, as the next session will be a highly important one, many reforms are to be made, and a U. S. Senator is to be chosen, and one single vote may decide who he shall be. Then come J. L. Spangler, for District Attorney, J. N. Hall for Commissioner, and Henry Yearick, for Auditor, all men from among the people, and who are known to have the people's interests at heart. Democrats, stand by these men. Each one has been fairly nominated; any falling will have a damaging effect upon the future of the party.

Our District Nominations.
 Our district nominees are as popular abroad as at home. The democracy of the entire state is complimenting us upon our ticket. The Bloomsburg Republican, edited by that veteran H. L. Dieffenbach, speaks of them as follows:

Mr. Mackey's fitness for Congress is conceded, and no question as to his entire propriety has been raised except that he is and has long been President of a National Bank. But this circumstance loses its force when the fact is stated that Mr. Mackey is not favorable to the National banking system, and his bank only accepted it when forced to do so by the heavy and irresistible exactions of the Federal government. It would abandon the National feature whenever the Federal laws permitted. Under his management as a State institution the bank was one of the best and most successful, bearing a most important part in the development of the upper West Branch valley, establishing manufacturing, etc. Forced into the Federal system by inexorable laws, it continued to be an eminently useful institution and never exceeded its charter or imposed upon the public by charging more than six per cent interest. It was and continues to be an exception generally to all such institutions, its directors always having acted upon the idea that it was established for the public good and not merely for the profit of its stockholders. Objection on this ground, therefore, disappears, and Mr. Mackey's eminent financial abilities and largely his qualifications for the position of Congressman.

The action of Clinton county assures the return of Mr. Wallace to the Senate, which will be gratifying to a large portion of the party in the State, and will be a grand triumph for the democracy. Unable to agree with him in all respects, we yet cordially admire his general ability, personal integrity, earnestness of character, and patriotism of purpose. The objection exists that his relations with railroads necessarily somewhat divide his affection, and detracts from his influence, but the people in this district do not seem to regard this fact as of material importance. As a leader of the minority in the Senate, he has prevented many a change of legislation, and his results, and has been more successful in these directions than minority leaders usually are. In these days of infidelity it is an honor to a constituency to keep a man of his ability constantly in high official position.

No man ever went to the Judicial bench with higher hopes and prospects of honor and usefulness, on the part of his friends, than John H. Orvis, and proudly has he thus far vindicated their confidence and sagacity. The public accorded to him great integrity, and the strictest conscientious integrity, and he has added largely already to the great esteem in which he is held. A brilliant judicial career is before him. He will probably be elected without opposition—at least by a majority that will amount to the same thing.

Pittsburg Post.
 The Democratic Senatorial Conference of the Centre, Clearfield and Clinton district met yesterday at Bellefonte, and nominated Hon. W. A. Wallace for State Senator. The nomination has been warmly bestowed, and as such it affords us extreme pleasure in recording it. The Senate of Pennsylvania can boast of no more able, hardworking or attentive member.

Williamsport Bulletin, radical.
 Personally Mr. Mackey is very popular with the party, and if a democrat must be elected, we know of no better man.

Morning Patriot.
 There is reason for congratulation among democrats throughout the state in consequence of the nomination of Hon. W. A. Wallace as a democrat, and the fact that the nomination has been warmly bestowed, and as such it affords us extreme pleasure in recording it. The Senate of Pennsylvania can boast of no more able, hardworking or attentive member.

Clinton Democrat.
 The conference meeting held at Bellefonte yesterday, in nomination Hon. L. A. Mackey for Congress, Wm. A. Wallace for State Senator, and John H. Orvis for additional Law Judge. On the eve of going to press, we cannot do more than congratulate the people of the district upon the presentation of so able and honorable a ticket, which it should be the aim of the democracy of the district to give its most active and enthusiastic support, and to elect by a large and increased majority.

Business men and property owners of Chicago are at length brought to face the problem of transacting their business and holding their property securely without the aid of the insurance companies. The City Government of Chicago having decided to take the precautions again suggested by the National Board of Fire Underwriters in July last, that body has now issued a circular advising all companies to discontinue the business of fire insurance in Chicago after the 1st of October. No basis of compromise or other adjustment is suggested, but it hardly seems possible that Chicago can for long dispense with the services of the insurance companies. As business is now done Chicago merchants could get no credit on uninsured goods, and would in fact be virtually to go out of business. Money cannot easily be raised by mortgage on uninsured buildings. A fire which should destroy a merchant's uninsured stock or buildings of a wealthy citizen of Chicago, actively connected with its business system, might bring a local financial crisis of times of severe economy.

Next comes the gallant soldier, Gen. M'Callister, who went through the thickest of the war, a statesman and senator of clean record—his name is the name of honor in the annals of our country. Then are these noble champions of honesty, Messrs. Orvis, Mackey and Wallace, of whom we speak more at length in another column. Then for Assembly, Hon. S. T. Shugert and Lieut. S. S. Wolf, both men of large intelligence, unshaken character, and tried heretofore and never found wanting; the latter, Mr. Wolf, having served gallantly as a soldier. We beg to remind democrats of the importance of electing two democratic members from this county, as the next session will be a highly important one, many reforms are to be made, and a U. S. Senator is to be chosen, and one single vote may decide who he shall be. Then come J. L. Spangler, for District Attorney, J. N. Hall for Commissioner, and Henry Yearick, for Auditor, all men from among the people, and who are known to have the people's interests at heart. Democrats, stand by these men. Each one has been fairly nominated; any falling will have a damaging effect upon the future of the party.

Our District Nominations.
 Our district nominees are as popular abroad as at home. The democracy of the entire state is complimenting us upon our ticket. The Bloomsburg Republican, edited by that veteran H. L. Dieffenbach, speaks of them as follows:

Mr. Mackey's fitness for Congress is conceded, and no question as to his entire propriety has been raised except that he is and has long been President of a National Bank. But this circumstance loses its force when the fact is stated that Mr. Mackey is not favorable to the National banking system, and his bank only accepted it when forced to do so by the heavy and irresistible exactions of the Federal government. It would abandon the National feature whenever the Federal laws permitted. Under his management as a State institution the bank was one of the best and most successful, bearing a most important part in the development of the upper West Branch valley, establishing manufacturing, etc. Forced into the Federal system by inexorable laws, it continued to be an eminently useful institution and never exceeded its charter or imposed upon the public by charging more than six per cent interest. It was and continues to be an exception generally to all such institutions, its directors always having acted upon the idea that it was established for the public good and not merely for the profit of its stockholders. Objection on this ground, therefore, disappears, and Mr. Mackey's eminent financial abilities and largely his qualifications for the position of Congressman.

The action of Clinton county assures the return of Mr. Wallace to the Senate, which will be gratifying to a large portion of the party in the State, and will be a grand triumph for the democracy. Unable to agree with him in all respects, we yet cordially admire his general ability, personal integrity, earnestness of character, and patriotism of purpose. The objection exists that his relations with railroads necessarily somewhat divide his affection, and detracts from his influence, but the people in this district do not seem to regard this fact as of material importance. As a leader of the minority in the Senate, he has prevented many a change of legislation, and his results, and has been more successful in these directions than minority leaders usually are. In these days of infidelity it is an honor to a constituency to keep a man of his ability constantly in high official position.

No man ever went to the Judicial bench with higher hopes and prospects of honor and usefulness, on the part of his friends, than John H. Orvis, and proudly has he thus far vindicated their confidence and sagacity. The public accorded to him great integrity, and the strictest conscientious integrity, and he has added largely already to the great esteem in which he is held. A brilliant judicial career is before him. He will probably be elected without opposition—at least by a majority that will amount to the same thing.

Pittsburg Post.
 The Democratic Senatorial Conference of the Centre, Clearfield and Clinton district met yesterday at Bellefonte, and nominated Hon. W. A. Wallace for State Senator. The nomination has been warmly bestowed, and as such it affords us extreme pleasure in recording it. The Senate of Pennsylvania can boast of no more able, hardworking or attentive member.

Williamsport Bulletin, radical.
 Personally Mr. Mackey is very popular with the party, and if a democrat must be elected, we know of no better man.

Morning Patriot.
 There is reason for congratulation among democrats throughout the state in consequence of the nomination of Hon. W. A. Wallace as a democrat, and the fact that the nomination has been warmly bestowed, and as such it affords us extreme pleasure in recording it. The Senate of Pennsylvania can boast of no more able, hardworking or attentive member.

Clinton Democrat.
 The conference meeting held at Bellefonte yesterday, in nomination Hon. L. A. Mackey for Congress, Wm. A. Wallace for State Senator, and John H. Orvis for additional Law Judge. On the eve of going to press, we cannot do more than congratulate the people of the district upon the presentation of so able and honorable a ticket, which it should be the aim of the democracy of the district to give its most active and enthusiastic support, and to elect by a large and increased majority.

Business men and property owners of Chicago are at length brought to face the problem of transacting their business and holding their property securely without the aid of the insurance companies. The City Government of Chicago having decided to take the precautions again suggested by the National Board of Fire Underwriters in July last, that body has now issued a circular advising all companies to discontinue the business of fire insurance in Chicago after the 1st of October. No basis of compromise or other adjustment is suggested, but it hardly seems possible that Chicago can for long dispense with the services of the insurance companies. As business is now done Chicago merchants could get no credit on uninsured goods, and would in fact be virtually to go out of business. Money cannot easily be raised by mortgage on uninsured buildings. A fire which should destroy a merchant's uninsured stock or buildings of a wealthy citizen of Chicago, actively connected with its business system, might bring a local financial crisis of times of severe economy.

Next comes the gallant soldier, Gen. M'Callister, who went through the thickest of the war, a statesman and senator of clean record—his name is the name of honor in the annals of our country. Then are these noble champions of honesty, Messrs. Orvis, Mackey and Wallace, of whom we speak more at length in another column. Then for Assembly, Hon. S. T. Shugert and Lieut. S. S. Wolf, both men of large intelligence, unshaken character, and tried heretofore and never found wanting; the latter, Mr. Wolf, having served gallantly as a soldier. We beg to remind democrats of the importance of electing two democratic members from this county, as the next session will be a highly important one, many reforms are to be made, and a U. S. Senator is to be chosen, and one single vote may decide who he shall be. Then come J. L. Spangler, for District Attorney, J. N. Hall for Commissioner, and Henry Yearick, for Auditor, all men from among the people, and who are known to have the people's interests at heart. Democrats, stand by these men. Each one has been fairly nominated; any falling will have a damaging effect upon the future of the party.

Our District Nominations.
 Our district nominees are as popular abroad as at home. The democracy of the entire state is complimenting us upon our ticket. The Bloomsburg Republican, edited by that veteran H. L. Dieffenbach, speaks of them as follows:

Mr. Mackey's fitness for Congress is conceded, and no question as to his entire propriety has been raised except that he is and has long been President of a National Bank. But this circumstance loses its force when the fact is stated that Mr. Mackey is not favorable to the National banking system, and his bank only accepted it when forced to do so by the heavy and irresistible exactions of the Federal government. It would abandon the National feature whenever the Federal laws permitted. Under his management as a State institution the bank was one of the best and most successful, bearing a most important part in the development of the upper West Branch valley, establishing manufacturing, etc. Forced into the Federal system by inexorable laws, it continued to be an eminently useful institution and never exceeded its charter or imposed upon the public by charging more than six per cent interest. It was and continues to be an exception generally to all such institutions, its directors always having acted upon the idea that it was established for the public good and not merely for the profit of its stockholders. Objection on this ground, therefore, disappears, and Mr. Mackey's eminent financial abilities and largely his qualifications for the position of Congressman.

The action of Clinton county assures the return of Mr. Wallace to the Senate, which will be gratifying to a large portion of the party in the State, and will be a grand triumph for the democracy. Unable to agree with him in all respects, we yet cordially admire his general ability, personal integrity, earnestness of character, and patriotism of purpose. The objection exists that his relations with railroads necessarily somewhat divide his affection, and detracts from his influence, but the people in this district do not seem to regard this fact as of material importance. As a leader of the minority in the Senate, he has prevented many a change of legislation, and his results, and has been more successful in these directions than minority leaders usually are. In these days of infidelity it is an honor to a constituency to keep a man of his ability constantly in high official position.

No man ever went to the Judicial bench with higher hopes and prospects of honor and usefulness, on the part of his friends, than John H. Orvis, and proudly has he thus far vindicated their confidence and sagacity. The public accorded to him great integrity, and the strictest conscientious integrity, and he has added largely already to the great esteem in which he is held. A brilliant judicial career is before him. He will probably be elected without opposition—at least by a majority that will amount to the same thing.

Pittsburg Post.
 The Democratic Senatorial Conference of the Centre, Clearfield and Clinton district met yesterday at Bellefonte, and nominated Hon. W. A. Wallace for State Senator. The nomination has been warmly bestowed, and as such it affords us extreme pleasure in recording it. The Senate of Pennsylvania can boast of no more able, hardworking or attentive member.

Williamsport Bulletin, radical.
 Personally Mr. Mackey is very popular with the party, and if a democrat must be elected, we know of no better man.

Morning Patriot.
 There is reason for congratulation among democrats throughout the state in consequence of the nomination of Hon. W. A. Wallace as a democrat, and the fact that the nomination has been warmly bestowed, and as such it affords us extreme pleasure in recording it. The Senate of Pennsylvania can boast of no more able, hardworking or attentive member.

Clinton Democrat.
 The conference meeting held at Bellefonte yesterday, in nomination Hon. L. A. Mackey for Congress, Wm. A. Wallace for State Senator, and John H. Orvis for additional Law Judge. On the eve of going to press, we cannot do more than congratulate the people of the district upon the presentation of so able and honorable a ticket, which it should be the aim of the democracy of the district to give its most active and enthusiastic support, and to elect by a large and increased majority.

Business men and property owners of Chicago are at length brought to face the problem of transacting their business and holding their property securely without the aid of the insurance companies. The City Government of Chicago having decided to take the precautions again suggested by the National Board of Fire Underwriters in July last, that body has now issued a circular advising all companies to discontinue the business of fire insurance in Chicago after the 1st of October. No basis of compromise or other adjustment is suggested, but it hardly seems possible that Chicago can for long dispense with the services of the insurance companies. As business is now done Chicago merchants could get no credit on uninsured goods, and would in fact be virtually to go out of business. Money cannot easily be raised by mortgage on uninsured buildings. A fire which should destroy a merchant's uninsured stock or buildings of a wealthy citizen of Chicago, actively connected with its business system, might bring a local financial crisis of times of severe economy.

Next comes the gallant soldier, Gen. M'Callister, who went through the thickest of the war, a statesman and senator of clean record—his name is the name of honor in the annals of our country. Then are these noble champions of honesty, Messrs. Orvis, Mackey and Wallace, of whom we speak more at length in another column. Then for Assembly, Hon. S. T. Shugert and Lieut. S. S. Wolf, both men of large intelligence, unshaken character, and tried heretofore and never found wanting; the latter, Mr. Wolf, having served gallantly as a soldier. We beg to remind democrats of the importance of electing two democratic members from this county, as the next session will be a highly important one, many reforms are to be made, and a U. S. Senator is to be chosen, and one single vote may decide who he shall be. Then come J. L. Spangler, for District Attorney, J. N. Hall for Commissioner, and Henry Yearick, for Auditor, all men from among the people, and who are known to have the people's interests at heart. Democrats, stand by these men. Each one has been fairly nominated; any falling will have a damaging effect upon the future of the party.

Our District Nominations.
 Our district nominees are as popular abroad as at home. The democracy of the entire state is complimenting us upon our ticket. The Bloomsburg Republican, edited by that veteran H. L. Dieffenbach, speaks of them as follows:

Mr. Mackey's fitness for Congress is conceded, and no question as to his entire propriety has been raised except that he is and has long been President of a National Bank. But this circumstance loses its force when the fact is stated that Mr. Mackey is not favorable to the National banking system, and his bank only accepted it when forced to do so by the heavy and irresistible exactions of the Federal government. It would abandon the National feature whenever the Federal laws permitted. Under his management as a State institution the bank was one of the best and most successful, bearing a most important part in the development of the upper West Branch valley, establishing manufacturing, etc. Forced into the Federal system by inexorable laws, it continued to be an eminently useful institution and never exceeded its charter or imposed upon the public by charging more than six per cent interest. It was and continues to be an exception generally to all such institutions, its directors always having acted upon the idea that it was established for the public good and not merely for the profit of its stockholders. Objection on this ground, therefore, disappears, and Mr. Mackey's eminent financial abilities and largely his qualifications for the position of Congressman.

The action of Clinton county assures the return of Mr. Wallace to the Senate, which will be gratifying to a large portion of the party in the State, and will be a grand triumph for the democracy. Unable to agree with him in all respects, we yet cordially admire his general ability, personal integrity, earnestness of character, and patriotism of purpose. The objection exists that his relations with railroads necessarily somewhat divide his affection, and detracts from his influence, but the people in this district do not seem to regard this fact as of material importance. As a leader of the minority in the Senate, he has prevented many a change of legislation, and his results, and has been more successful in these directions than minority leaders usually are. In these days of infidelity it is an honor to a constituency to keep a man of his ability constantly in high official position.

No man ever went to the Judicial bench with higher hopes and prospects of honor and usefulness, on the part of his friends, than John H. Orvis, and proudly has he thus far vindicated their confidence and sagacity. The public accorded to him great integrity, and the strictest conscientious integrity, and he has added largely already to the great esteem in which he is held. A brilliant judicial career is before him. He will probably be elected without opposition—at least by a majority that will amount to the same thing.

Pittsburg Post.
 The Democratic Senatorial Conference of the Centre, Clearfield and Clinton district met yesterday at Bellefonte, and nominated Hon. W. A. Wallace for State Senator. The nomination has been warmly bestowed, and as such it affords us extreme pleasure in recording it. The Senate of Pennsylvania can boast of no more able, hardworking or attentive member.

Williamsport Bulletin, radical.
 Personally Mr. Mackey is very popular with the party, and if a democrat must be elected, we know of no better man.

Morning Patriot.
 There is reason for congratulation among democrats throughout the state in consequence of the nomination of Hon. W. A. Wallace as a democrat, and the fact that the nomination has been warmly bestowed, and as such it affords us extreme pleasure in recording it. The Senate of Pennsylvania can boast of no more able, hardworking or attentive member