

FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD.

What to do with the strawberries. Fields that have been cleared in time should be plowed in readiness for early sowing of oats in spring.

Going Softly.

She makes no moan above her face flowers. She does not vainly strive against her lot. Patient she weaves away the slow, sad hours.

MRS. GREEN'S SON-IN-LAW.

Well, Saeptra, I've found out all about them. Mrs. Green set herself down in front of the fire, took off her bonnet, and shed upon her daughter a smile of great content.

Found out all about whom, mamma? Saeptra questioned, with sweet demure.

Well, upon my word, you are the most obtuse girl of my acquaintance. When you say me in just now, you understand that I mean your father-in-law, I suppose!

But you know I don't often go out. I'm engaged to find that you understand that, too, and you remember those two young men who met twice a week to play cards.

Root crops.—Mangels and sugar beets should be harvested without delay. Later and later the roots are left to mature as long as growing weather holds out.

Cows.—As soon as cows are put on dry feed, the milk falls off, but if they are well fed, what is lost in quantity is gained in quality.

Planting should be done early this month of all hardy fruits. If the soil is not in good condition here in the plants in a sheltered place.

Strawberries.—Cover the soil of the beds with straw or leaves, just before the ground freezes hard.

Cucumbers and gooseberries.—The bushes when crowded should have the old branches thinned out.

Blackberries and raspberries.—If the fruiting canes are not cut out and burned, as directed, last month, they will not do well.

Thelms are repaired, or new ones made, more conveniently now than in spring. Use the best material.

The Germantown (Pa.) Telegraph says: The long debated question as to the best material for stable floors has been revived.

There was no more comfortable, while this horrible grating or second floor might lead to accidents.

Home, Sweet Home.—"Clari, or the Maid of Milan," produced in 1823, contains one piece that is known in every English theatre.

"Clari, or the Maid of Milan," produced in 1823, contains one piece that is known in every English theatre. It is a beautiful peasant girl, who has exchanged her father's lovely cottage for the splendor of the duke's palace.

That he aimed to become the one who would do.

He came then with his friend, but interested by himself, and one day he called on Saeptra, but upon Mrs. Green herself. The nature of his errand made her excluded from a room.
