prize meeting of riflemen opened at Creedmoor, near New York.....Four boys in a rowboat were run down by a ferryboat on the Hudson river, at New York, and three of them were drowned.....In a five-mile swimming match at Long Branch between George H. Wade, the American champion, and Frank Prince, of St. Louis, the former was defeated.

The father of John Wesley Hardin, who was recently arrested in a railroad car in Alabama, was a preacher, who lived in ably quiet, and gave no evidence of the terrible passions which, in after life, made him thirst for blood. When almost sixteen years of age, and while the state was under military rule, a colored man was under military rule, a colored man on his father's place provoked him, and he shot him. For this he was placed under guard of some soldiers, who started to Huntsville with him. As he was only a boy they did not watch him very closely, and at night lay down to sleep. Hardin rose in the night and killed every one of them. This outlawed him. His next act was the murder of Jack Helm, out of which grew the Sutton and Taylor troubles, Hardin siding with the Taylors. His father and brother got mixed up and were taken out and hung in Western Texas. From this time on he was a desperado of the worst order. Missouri and Kansas became the field of operation, and before he left them he added many more to the death list. In those states there are at present large rewards offered for him. From these he wards offered for him. From there he came back to Texas, and kept the border came back to Texas, and kept the border in a state of terrorism. His last murder was the killing of Webb, the deputy sheriff of Brown county, at Comanche. It is estimated that in various parts of the county there are twenty thousand dollars of rewards offered. Hardin is a young man about twenty seven or twenyoung man, about twenty-seven or twen-ty-eight years of age, five feet eight inches and one-half in height, weighs one hundred and fifty pounds, has flaxen hair, blue eyes and not an unpleasant countenance. - Dallas (Texas) Herald.

A Successful Farmer's Opinion. Mr. Harris Lewis, a well known dairyman of Herkimer county, N. Y., at a dairymen's meeting at Ingersoll, Canada, remarked as follows: "I hold that every man, woman and child is fitted by nature to perform some act or discharge some one duty in life better than any other. But man in his ignorance often thwart's nature's operations and designs, and turns them to worse than useless purposes. Many parents seem to look upon labor as degrading, and try to find some higher place for their children, rather than encourage engaging in use-Mr. Harris Lewis, a well known dairy-
