The centennial of the surrender of Burgoyne's army to Gates was celebrated at Schuylerville, N. Y., by the laying of a corner-stone commemorative of the event. Forty thousand people collected to witness the exercises, and military companies were present from Hartford, Conn., Bennington, Vt., and different parts of New York State. Addresses were delivered by ex-Governor Horatio Seymour, George William Curtis, Hon. Lafayette S. Foster, and others, and an

He also stated that it cost him $60,000 to escape from Ludlow street jail, that sum having been paid to the various persons who aided him in getting away.

A boatman rowing on one of the lakes in Central Park, New York, discovered the body of a handsome and fashionably-dressed woman. The corpse proved to be Mrs. Thomas Otis Leroy, aged forty-one, residing in Fifth avenue. She had evidently thrown herself into the water intentionally.
