If Meek's Watchman, in 1872, when Curtin was just over, fresh from the republican party, could make it appear that he deserved a high place in our party and should have every democratic vote, how can Gov. Curtin be worse! now after six years faithful service in the party? Say?

Our neighbor, the Watchman, was wild for Curtin in 1872, as we showed from articles copied in the Reporter last week, yet in the face of all that, that paper refuses to support him now when he is the regular democratic nominee for congress--why is this? is there any other reason than simply because Mr. Meek failed to get the nomination? Is that the kind of democracy that the Watchman has been preaching and is its editor now following his own teachings? Far from it.

We repeat, is Mr. Meek living up to what he had been preaching through the Watchman, and especially, as to what he had to say of Curtin in 1872?

Democrats, when there is treachery in the camp it behooves us to be all the more vigilant and see that secret schemes and plans to defeat the ticket, or part of it, are brought to naught. There is no good cause for scratchingthe democratic nominees are all men of unexceptionable character, and every one was fairly nominated. Democrats determine that no treason shall strike down a single nominee. The future of the party demands present success.
