FOR THE YOUNG PEOPLE

What a Child May De A little child I am indeed, And little do I know : Much help and care I yet shall need That I may wiser grow ; If I would ever hope to do Things great and good and useful too But even now I ought to try To do what good I may ; God never meant that such as I Should only live to play, And talk and laugh and eat and drink And sleep and wake and never think. One gentle word that I may speak, Or one kind, loving deed, May, though a trifle poor and weak, Prove like a tiny seed ; And who can tell what good may spring. From such a tiny little thing?

Then let me try each day and hour To act upon this plan ; What little good is in my power To do it while I can. If to be useful thus I try I may do better by and by.

How to Keep a Journal. The first thing to do in beginning nal, is to resolve to stick to Don't begin, and let the poor journal lie in a week. A journal, or diary, hould be written in every day, if poss Now, don't be frightened at this, or you do a great many things every and this isn't a very awful condi-The time spent may be longer or horter, according to the matter to be ritten up ; but try and write, at least a ittle, every day. good motto. It is a great deal easier to ite a little every day than to write up everal days in one.

Do not get for a journal a book with dates already printed in it. That kind will do very well for a merchant's note-book, but not for the young man or woman who wants to keep a live, heerful account of a happy and pleasant life. Sometimes you will have a picuic ion to write about, and will want to fill more space than the printed page allows. Buy a substantially-bound ink-book, made of good paper ; write and address pl ly-leaf, and, if you choose, paste a calndar inside the cover. Set down the ate at the head of the first page, thus : Tuesday, October 1, 1878. the record of the day, endeavoring, s far as possible, to mention the events in the correct order of time-morning, afternoon and evening. When this is done, write in the middle of the page, "Wednesday, Ootober 2," and you are ready for the record of the next day. It well to set down the year at the top of each page.

But what are you to write about ! First, the weather, Don't forget this, Write, "cold and windy," or "warm and bright," as the case may be. It takes but a moment, and in a few years you will have a complete record of the weather, which will be found not only rious, but useful. Then put down the letters you have eceived or written, and, if you wish, any oney paid or received. The day ing or leaving school ; the studies sue; visits from or to your ids; picnics or sleigh-rides; the books you have read; and all such items of interest should be noted. Write
