CHRISTMAS.

zation of Christmas and the great event fittingly deserves from all, there would tors Wallace, Ransom, Morgan and morn to dusk of eve, that would not be sat by Blaine's side and comforted him, forgetful of all else but to rejoice that and the ancient Hamlin also remained just now is the anniversary of the great at the right hand of his colleague during Friend of mankind, who came to bring a portion of the debate. Mr. Wallace peace, good will, and joy-and these are was the first to annoy Blaine. The

Our Fourth of strated the fallacy of the Maine Sena-July, Washington's birth day, and such tor's argument last week concerning the like these, what would they be without Christmas? Or rather, we might say kind had not been freed from the Wallace had judiciously selected a few thraldom of the evil power through the coming of Him who was born at Bethlehem that we might be saved from superstition, sin and idolatry. From that day three times as many Democratic votes dates a new era for mankind; and from it sprang light to dispel darkness, and of that party as Republican votes are resow the seeds of civil and religious lib- quired to elect a single Representative

Christmas comes only once a year, and that is enough, for the world only needed the one Redeemer, and He fulfilled all the prophets have said, though many be fools and slow of heart to believe

While all nations have their own special, national holidays, this great Christmas festival is cosmopolitan, and all christian nations and tongues join on this day in thanksgiving and rejoicing over the precious gift that was given to lost and sinful man-a Redeemer and Savior!

It is proper that we all rejoice and b glad-more glad than he who has bestowed upon him silver, and gold, and large estates; far we have received an inheritance for greater than all these.

We wish all our readers a merry Christmas; may there not be one speck of cloud to mar its enjoyment, and if there be no gifts from the hands of men, there is infinite cause for rejoicing over the gift of the babe of Bethlehem which serveth all forever. We quote a few lines from Jan. St. Nicholas:

When Christmas morning comes they say The whele world knows it's Christma

Day;
The very cattle in the stalls
Kaeel when the blessed midnight falls.
And all the night the heavens shine,
With luster of a light divine. Long ere the dawn the children leap With "Morry Obristmas!" in their sleep;
And dream about the Obristmas-tree;
Or rise, their stockings filled to see.
Swift come the hours of joy and cheer,
Of loving friend and kindred dear;
Of gifts and bounties in the air.
Sped by the "Merry Christmas!" prayer.
While through it all, so aweet and strong,
Is heard the holy angels' song;
"Grory be to God above!
On earth be peace and helpful love!"
And on the streets, er hearts within,
The Christmas carolings begin: "Merry Christmas!" in their sleep

Waken, Christian children Up and let us sing. With glad voice the praises Of our new-born King. "Come, nor fear to seek Him, Children though we be; Once He said of children,

"Haste we then to welcome, With a joyous lay. Christ, the King of Glory, Born for us to-day."

Let them come to me.'

One of the severest doses of radical disfranchizement of northern whites, that Blaine got in the senate in reply to his alleged intimidation of negroes, came from senator Wallace, who reminded him of the northern republican gerrymanders whereby the white democrats are disfranchised from their representation in congress. Blaine's committee might take up that phaze of the submen would fail of making out an honest case against the south, it would be eminently successful in what it could prove in the north.
