The great majority of republicans favor Blaine in preference to Grant, yet Cameron boasts he is greater than his party. In Pennsylvania this has proven true-for he forced the state convention to favor Grant, although the majority of its delegates were Blaine men. Slavery, indeed.

The loss to the Clearfield coal region by the strike is estimated at $200,000 per week, and has been going on over seven weeks, which would make it figure up a loss of $1,500,000. We never knew a strike that did not result in great loss to some one, and in the majority of instances the strikers are the loosers; they are the parties who can least afford it, yet they are often led into it by leaders of their organizations who have nothing to on, and Doyle, a defaulting tax collection of a set of men who have not ces the strikers are the loosers; they are
