DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL TICKET

FOR PRESIDENT,
WINFIELD SCOTT HANCOCK,
OF PENNSYLVANIA.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM H. ENGLISH,
OF INDIANA.

STATE TICKET.
SENATE.
GEORGE A. JENKINS, Jefferson County.
AUDITOR GENERAL,
ROBERT F. DECHERT, Philadelphia.

"The great Principles of American Liberty are still the lawful Inheritance of this People, and ever should be."

If Garfield got bribed without knowing it is a safe man to put into the presidential chair, is a question for the radical reader of the Reporter.

Read the great speech of Senator Bayard in another column. The utterings of great and pure men like Mr. Bayard should receive thoughtful attention.

Seven times of Waterloo, N. Y. shot seven times at a man six feet away and never even grazed him.—World.

Don Cameron would not take the chairmanship of the republican national committee, because he needs rest.

An editor of a western cast republican paper has been sent to the asylum.

A Madrid correspondent telegraphs as follows:—"Prince Demidoff, who recently sold his estate in San Donato, has just lost a leg in one night."

Gen. Grant has just made, in Missouri, one of the longest speeches of his life, in which he went into a comparison between the two parties, expressing a preference for the Republicans, but professing friendship for the Democrats.

Yet in all this speech, long for him, we find no word of praise for Gen. Garfield, not even the most distant reference to the Republican candidate.

The Reporter would feel inclined not to have Fred Grant take the stump for Hancock.

Some of the republican leaders want Garfield to withdraw because his record is the only one that can not defend against the assaults of the democrats.

In taking the census in Utah a puzzling question arose. The enumerators could not decide what to do with plural wives in the classification list, which made no provision for that unlawful state of matrimonial affairs, and referred the matter to Superintendent Walker.

Senator Wallace has been chosen chairman of the Democratic National Committee, at the request of Gen. Hancock and with the advice of Mr. Tilden.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to Gen. Hancock, the next President of the United States, to William H. English, the next Vice President, and to the various military organizations throughout the State of Missouri.

Resolved, That we, a band of candidates, who believe in adhering to the true principles upon which our republican form of government was founded, have severed our connection with the party which has nominated Garfield, and cheerfully pledge ourselves to support the candidacy of Hancock and English during the ensuing campaign, and promise to use all honorable means to insure their triumph at the coming national election.

Our Next President and Vice President.

Dr. Tanner of New York, is experimenting upon himself as to how long a man can live without taking any nourishment but water. On 4th of the report of his case was thus:

At noon to-morrow, unless he breaks down in the meantime, Dr. Henry S. Tanner—who claims to believe that food is a luxury which man may forego for forty days—will have existed a week without eating, and about one hundred and twelve hours without drinking even water. His determination to do without, if possible, was born of a remark by one of the doubting doctors that water constitutes nine-tenths of a man's weight, and is in one sense food. He says that he will accomplish the feat of doing without food, but will not attempt to do without water, as that would be to do without the necessary to avoid failure in the other respect.

Tanner describes his feeling as a sensation of emptiness in the stomach, and says that he would be affected as men are who are "compelled to fast," where it is not that they are obliged, but that their brain has been affected. When asked whether he had visions of beasts, as starving men do, he replied that he does not allow his thoughts to take that direction. His pulse is normal, his eyes are bright, but his hair has become a prominent element in Indiana politics through his wealth and his long career. He has resided for many years in Indiana as president of the First National Bank of that city, his former calling having been John C. Hancock, added to our list of candidates.

Mr. Deas General: I take the earliest opportunity to congratulate you upon your nomination and to assure you, my dear friend, that I am your most hearty supporter.

A prominent republican out for Hancock.

What Judge Black Thought and Said at the Time.

Washington, November 30, 1867.—My Dear General: This moment I am engaged, but I cannot resist the temptation to steal time enough from my clients to tell you how grateful you have made me by your patriotic and noble behavior.

Mr. Deas General: I take the earliest opportunity to congratulate you upon your nomination and to assure you, my dear friend, that I am your most hearty supporter.

THE TURNING OF THE POLITICAL TIDE.

From the St. Louis Republican.

A republican club of sixty-five voters met last night at the corner of fifth and Myrtle streets, Edward Crowley in the chair, and adopted the following significant resolutions:

Resolved, That we, a band of candidates, who believe in adhering to the true principles upon which our republican form of government was founded, have severed our connection with the party which has nominated Garfield, and cheerfully pledge ourselves to support the candidacy of Hancock and English during the ensuing campaign, and promise to use all honorable means to insure their triumph at the coming national election.

Col. Forney's Reasons for Supporting the Hero of Gettysburg.

The democratic candidate for the Vice Presidency was born in Scott County, Ind., Aug. 27, 1822, studied for three years at the University of South Indiana, studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1846, but devoted his time chiefly to agriculture, being the owner of an extensive estate. He was a clerk of the Indiana House of Representatives in 1853, he was elected to Congress and was re-elected, serving from 1853 to 1861. He has not since then held any important office, but has been a prominent element in Indiana politics through his wealth and his long career.
