In countless legions, whose wild surges The stalwart oaks that loom above the plain,

Relics of centuries that are no more. Far down sun-gleaming heights they toss the And over battling waves the sea-birds bear,

And drive great ships against some beetling Then loudly trumpet where vast ice-fields glow, Or with mad dissonance affright the air Where heavy clouds the sterile desert

Old-Fashioned Rose HOOSIER DIALECT. They ain't no style about 'em, And they're sort o' pale and faded; Yit the doorway here, without 'em,

Would be lonesomer, and shaded With a good 'eal blacker shadder Than the mornin' glories makes, And the annshine would look sadder For their good old-fashion

I like 'em, 'cause they kind o' Sort o' make a feller like em! nd I'll tell you, when I find a

Bunch out whur the sun kin strike 'em, It allus sets me thinkin' O' the ones 'at used to grow

And peek in thro' the cl O' the cabin, don't you know!

And then I think o' mother, And how she used to love 'em, hen they wuzn't any other
