NEWS OF THE WORLD.

Thirty-four persons were injured, some fatally, by a collision between two trains during a fog near Viohy, France.

The death of Ole Bull, the well-known violinist, is reported at Bergen, Norway. He was seventy years old and had given many concerts in the United States. Some years ago he bought 162,000 acres of wild land in Potter county, Pa., and tried to found a Norwegian colony, but the scheme proved a failure.

It has long been known that the simplest method of sharpening a razor is to put it for half an hour in water to which one-twentieth of its weight of muriatic or sulphuric acid has been added, then lightly wipe it off, and after the sulphuric acid has been added, then lightly wipe it off, and after the sulphuric acid has been added, then lightly wipe it off, and after the sulphuric acid has been added, then lightly wipe it off, and after the sulphurical sulph added, then lightly wipe it on, and after a few hours, set it on a hone. The acid here supplies the place of a whetstone by corroding the whole surface uniformly, so that nothing further than a smooth polish is necessary. The process never injures good blades, while badly hardened ones are frequently improved by it, although the cause of this aprovement remains unexplained. The boy was never known to dislike work. He is always willing to do anything required of him, but he always finds it difficult to parcel out his work to fit his time. That is to say, he finds the morning he is firmly of the opinion that the evening is the proper and only time fitting for labor. This would be all right and as agreeable to his parents as himself, but it so happens that when evening comes his matutinal convictions have undergone a complete revulsion, and he is now thoroughly convinced the morning hours should alone be consecrated to toil.
