In quiet womanly ways,

I would not join the fight Or jostle with crowds in the highways To suity my garments white; But I have rights as a woman, and here I claim

The right of a rose to bloom In its own sweet, separa : way With none to question the perfumed pink And not to utter a nav If it reaches a root or points a thorn, as even a

The right of the lady-birch to grow, To grow as the Lord shall please By never a sturdy oak rebuked, Denied nor sun nor breeze For all its pliant slenderness, kin to the stronger

The right to a life of my own Not merely a casual bit Of somebody else's life, flung out That taking hold of it, I may stand as a cipher does after a nume

THE CENTRE REPORTER.

FRED KURTZ, Editor and Proprietor.

TERMS: $2.00 a Year. in Advance.

VOLUME XIV.

CENTRE HALL, CENTRE CO., PA. THURSDAY, MARCH 24, 1881.

"I want you to tell me about your people and your home."

I felt as if her little, soft, plump hand had dealt a blow upon my bare heart;

Her and took her hands in mine. "Lola," I said, "whatever lies before you, whether joy or sorrow, remember that you have me always for your friend. You have me always for your frie but I answered, simply:

"I have no home, and my people are all dead or gone from me—that is, my parents and sisters and brothers, for I never had a wife or a child, which is what you meant, perhaps."

"Yes; I meant that. It is so sad. I thought, perhaps, you might have a daughter like me, and that made you so kind."

"No, I have no daughter," I said slowly: "though I am, in truth, old enough to be your father."

"And you have never loved any one—never wanted to be married to some one who was good. I was unfeignedly distressed. In that how was good and beautiful and kind!

How strange I's
Thes questions were scarcely marked by early interrogative accent. She seemed to be merely stating them as facts, with a spent evidence for the most to be merely stating them as facts, with a spent evidence for the most to be merely stating them as facts, with a spent evidence for the most to be merely stating them as facts, with a spent evidence for the most to be merely stating them as facts, with a spent evidence for the most to be merely stating them as facts, with a spent evidence for the most of the state of the most of the spent evidence for the most of the most o

The region of the first position of the control of

and one contracting of the latter and the contracting of the latter and the contracting of the latter and the l the company has determined to discontinue its service in those counties, altitude its service in the servi

The same of a straight of the straight of a straight of the st

If all as if her little, soft, plump hand bad dealt a blow upon my have heart; and any soft our friend. You have me always for your friend. You have me so you would upon the from me, which he munificating store. A supporting store in the many for the second in 1889, from 300 colors, and a surreingle surrounded his overcroat at the waist. It is so sad. I thought, perhaps, you might have a flangther like me, and that made you are a flangther like the me, and that made you are a flangther like the me, and that made you are a flangther like the me, and that made you are a flangther like the me, and that miles will all size of the "lever" like and the manufacture of the ware and the manufacture of th

TIMELY TOPICS.

Phrases Used in Wall Street

Bear market—When the market is heavy and falling, and lower prices are appropriately, in Beeton, Cal., and appropriately, in Beeton, Cal., and heavy the not unfamiliar name of the "bears."

Bear market—When the market is heavy and falling, and lower prices are expected in consequence of the efforts of the "bears."

If you have money to fool away seed down your young orchard to clover or timothy or sow a crop of wheat or cats.

NUMBER 11.

Hoe Out Your Row. One day a lazy farmer boy Was hoeing out the corp To hear the dinner horn.
The welcome blast was heard at last,
And down he dropped his hoe;
Put the good man shouled in his ear

To use a plowman's phrase, And the lad, as sailors have it, Beginning well to "haze," "I can," he said, and manfully And the good man smiled to see The boy "hoe out his row,"

The lad the text remembered long And proved the moral well, That perseverance to the end At last will nobly tell. Take courage, man! resolve you can And strike a vigorous blow; In life's great field of varied toil, Always "hoe out your row."

1.97 Never address your conversation to a person engaged in footing up a column of figures. There's nothing so deaf as 5.00 Young possible.