

The Centre Reporter.
SUPPLEMENT.

Centre Hall, Pa., May 5, 1881.

The world owes us all a living, but she is just as hard to collect from as any other debtor.

The sale of diamonds is said to be larger in New York than at any time for the past seven years.

There are now more than twenty celluloid companies in the United States, all doing a successful business.

If you want a good and cheap hat, any style, why go to the Philad. Branch, where they keep the best and largest assortment.

Two snow-white robins, with pink eyes and yellow bills and legs, have been captured at Springfield, Mass.

Many things in this world must be done, not by reason, but by instinct. For instance, driving chickens, folding a newspaper in the wind, trying on a pair of new shoes or manuevering a political declaration.

Nearly every fellow that does any sparking now wears a suit bought at the Philad. Branch. The nice fit is what takes the eye of the fair sex, and they always are good judges.

When Mr. Kwarts asks for a railway ticket he applies two trains ahead, so that the agent may hear all the sentence.

There are two kinds of oranges grown in this country. One is the kind that is good to eat, and the other is the kind that is sold on the railway trains.

A Cincinnati mule deliberately walked into the river and held his head under water until he was drowned. Even a mule gets tired of living in Cincinnati.

One of the proofs that Dinges' is selling goods cheap is the fact that his trade is on the increase every day, and that those who purchase there once always go back again.

"Why don't you come out of the rain?" said a good natured dominie to a ragged Irishman. "Sure it's av no consequence, yer reverence," returned Pat; "me clothes is so full of holes they won't howld water."

A woman rushed into the Pavtucket (R. I.) free library a few days ago and earnestly requested the librarian to select for her an interesting novel, as her husband was not expected to live until morning, and she wanted something entertaining to occupy her mind.

The Philad. Branch is admitted the boss clothing establishment. Boss for good fits. Boss for best goods. Boss for lowest prices, and boss for the greatest assortment of clothing for men and boys. You only want to see their stock to be satisfied of all this.

The story is told of a famous actress that on going to the theater one morning for rehearsal, she remembered that she had left $30,000 under the pillow of her bed at the hotel. A great piece of carelessness. Our wife never goes out and leaves $30,000 under the pillow of her bed. Never.—(Norristown Herald.)

A well-dressed man was recently sitting at a table in a first-class hotel and was served with soup. He looked up at the waiter and said, "No, you can't come any soup dinner on me. Bring me some things that I pay for—almonds, salmon, water crackers, chicken, ice cream and that has with champagne."

The extra pay having been cut off from our legislators at Harrisburg, no one will feel it more than Lewins, as each of the members expected to buy an extra suit at the Philad. Branch, because they buy so much cheaper there. Still the members will all get a suit anyway.

A little bootblack had a system of theology after which a great many may take pattern. He told an inquiring missionary that he always said his prayers at night because he was asleep and didn't know what might happen, but never in the morning, because any bright boy can take care of himself in the daytime.

A little girl who had been very observant of her parents' mode of exhibiting their charity, being asked what generosity was answered, "It's giving to the poor all the old stuff you don't want yourself." And there is more truth than poetry in the definition. But that is not the charity that covereth up a multitude of sins or that stretcheth long and is kind. It is the other kind.

Have you seen the lot of dress goods at Dinges? He has every style, you can wish for and at prices that will undoubtedly give satisfaction.

Do You Know

why Clevie Dinges can sell goods so cheap? If not we will tell you.

1st. He is at very small expense, as everyone knows.

2nd. He need not make large profits to meet expenses, as his trade is increasing so rapidly that he can afford to mark away down and still come out all right in the end.

4th. He is fortunate in buying the right goods at the right price.

We would recommend him and his store to our readers.

The new king of Mandalay, is so much occupied just now with the electric light that he has forgotten all about war with England. A Burmese official has brought the new light to the notice of the monarch, hinting, also, that it is an invention of his own. For this important discovery he has been raised several degrees in rank, and at present the court of Mandalay can think of nothing else.

I open the Spring Campaign with a complete stock in every Department I have goods for all and at prices that I am positive cannot but give entire satisfaction. Having been to the city the past week and bought goods very low I can afford to give my numerous customers the benefit, therefore can safely say that my prices cannot be beat anywhere. All I ask to convince is a trial.

Respectfully
Clevie Dinges.
