THE MOST REMARKABLE ELOPEMENT AND WEDDING EVER CHRONICLED.

Westland Pierce, a young man of Richmond, Va., has for some time past been in love with Miss Daisy Shoemaker, the pretty daughter of a well-known farmer living near that place. The young lady's parents objected, but the lover persuaded his sweetheart, who was under twenty-one years, to agree to elope with him. It was agreed that she should take her father's buggy and drive into the adjoining county, where her lover would be waiting with a magistrate and witnesses to consummate the marriage. In the morning, when the time came for Miss Daisy to start, her courage failed, and she would not go. Her sister, Miss Jane, a bewitching brunette, two years her senior, who was in the plot, begged her to keep her trust with her lover, but all in vain. "Well, if you don't keep your word with West Pierce I'll do it for you," she said, and indignantly leaving her sister she got into the buggy and dashed off, despite the screams of her sister, who could not divine her purpose. Miss Jane reached the waiting place; explanations were made; she said she was willing to take her sister's place. The lover touched by her pluck and captivated by her determination not to let the plan fall through, did actually marry her.

—Any man of limited means who wants to bet a million dollars that he can find a cheaper and better clothing store than the Philad. Branch, can't put up his money a minute too soon. We will cover it. Now this is business on the first floor, and we say no one has the heart to take the bet, which is indisputable proof that the Philad. Branch sells the cheapest and best clothing.

An Italian writer on the catastrophe on the island Ischia mentions those prognostics of an earthquake which are derived from animals. They were observed every place where the shocks were such as to be generally perceptible. Some minutes before they were felt, the oxen and cows began to bellow, the sheep and goats bleated, and rushing in confusion one on the other, tried to break the wicker work of the folds; the dogs howled terribly, the geese and fowls were alarmed, and made much noise; the horses which were fastened in their stalls were greatly agitated, leaped up, and tried to break the halters with which they were attached to the manure; those which proceeded on the roads suddenly stopped and snorted in a strange way. The cats were frightened, and tried to conceal themselves, or their hair bristled up wildly. Rabbits and moles were seen to leave their holes; birds rose, as if scared, from the places on which they had alighted; and fish left the bottom of the sea and approached the shores, where at some places great numbers of them were taken. Even ants and reptiles abandoned, in clear daylight, their subterranean holes in great disorder, many hours before the shocks were felt. Some dogs, a few minutes before the first shock took place, awoke their sleeping masters by barking and pulling them, as if they wished to warn them of the impending danger, and several persons were thus enabled to save themselves.

—When such inducements are offered at Dinges' as at present, we need not wonder why Cleve is so successful, for who will pay high prices other places when Dinges offers the goods lower.

A French military student, home for his Christmas holidays, wished to do a little shooting. Accordingly he possessed himself of his father's gun, dog and permit to chase. He was accosted by a local Dog-berry, who demanded to see his license. He at once produced that of his father. "But," read the official, "seventy-two years old! You are wonderfully well preserved." "Oh, that's common in our family." "Then I see certain peculiarities indicated—wears a wooden leg." The student burst into a laugh. "You don't suppose," he cried, "I should put on my wooden leg when I went shooting?" "Oh! to be sure not," returned the other, "it would doubtless impede your movements." Good day, sir, and good sport.

Do You Know

why Cleve Dinges can sell goods so cheap? If not we will tell you.

1st. He is at very small expense, as everyone knows.

2nd. He need not make large profits to meet expenses, as his trade is increasing so rapidly that he can afford to mark away down and still come out all right in the end.

4th. He is fortunate in buying the right goods at the right price.

We would recommend him and his store to our readers.

"No man who builds up to his line has the right to open a window upon his neighbor's land. The main reason for refusing such a privilege is that after twenty years' enjoyment it becomes a vested right, so that the owner of the land upon which the windows open cannot build it up, and thus by his own walls close up the windows. An owner of a lot recently allowed his neighbors on each side to open side windows to their houses upon it, supposing that they could only enjoy it until he wished to build. After twenty-one years he found that he could not build so as to close the windows, nor could he sell the lot for anything like the value it should have represented."

I open the Spring Campaign with a complete stock in every Department I have goods for all and at prices that I am positive cannot but give entire satisfaction. Having been to the city the past week and bought goods very low I can afford to give my numerous customers the benefit, therefore can safely say that my prices cannot be beat anywhere. All I ask to convince is a trial.
Respectfully,
Cleve Dinges.
