LOCAL ITEMS.

—Our democratic friend, Wm. Kerlin, of Spring Mills, called upon the REPORTER the other day. We are sorry to learn that he has some intention of going west in the spring.

—A good chance for choice building lots at Spring Mills. See adv. of R. H. Duncan.

—Mr. Sandoe, the tailor, has arrived, and is now ready to receive work, in the bank building, 2nd floor. He has come to stay, and expects to render the utmost satisfaction in all his work as a tailor. Card next week.

—The Democrat says the Bellefonte glass works will be revived by outside capitalists. Hope so.

—Dry goods, fancy goods, notions, groceries, variety than ever before, and larger variety. The old reliable Wolf stand, cheap too, at which you will find an inferior article where you never get there is good.

—Mr. Snook, one of the leading business men of Millheim, is seriously ill from an affection of the heart.

—Housekeepers, you neglect your own interests if you fail to purchase your groceries at Sechlers, for the reason that they offer none but pure and unadulterated goods to their customers. This we vouch for, and ask every reader to try them, to find out the truthfulness of the assertion. We stake our reputation for veracity upon it.

—The railroad has proved a new benefit to our farmers. The apple crop, when large, went to rot for want of a market, or rather facilities to get them to market. The railroad supplies this want now. In the last three weeks several thousand bushels of apples were shipped from this valley in barrels. We are informed that Rev. Dr. Hamill alone shipped over 1,000 bushels. Harris township farmers sold their apple crop at from 25 to 30 cts. per bushel, delivered at Spring Mills station, 8 to 10 miles.

—The other day a fellow was found running into town and nearly out of breath and he could not be stopped. People thought he was a crank and wanted to shoot the president, but it was soon plain that he was rushing to Dinges' cheap store to get some of the bargains in goods. He was no crank after gains. A man of good judgment.

—It may be of interest to some of our people to know that the Supreme Court of this State has decided that a person who has paid part of the purchase money on property, but who is not entitled to the ownership until the entire price is paid, has an insurable interest in the property to the extent of his own interest therein.

—Tom Rote, wife and sister, Mrs. Fisher, who were home visiting their friends in Aaronsburg have again gone home to Ill.

—The Bower homestead at Aaronsburg was sold to George Bright; the squares to Fred Limbert, who immediately after the sale traded them to Simmon Rote on a tract of land adjoining his farm.

—On Sunday night last while returning from Woodward, where she was attending preaching, Miss Ida E. Eisenhuth, of Millheim, met with a dangerous accident. In attempting to jump from the wagon her dress caught at the lock throwing her upon her face and became insensible. She was carried into the house, stimulents were applied and she then slowly regained consciousness. Although not out of danger she is doing very well.

—Remember, reader, that at Wolf's old stand you can find a choice assortment of ready made clothing. Overcoats cheap enough that the poorest can keep warm, and suits at prices so low that you need not wear shabby clothes. At Wolf's.

—Lock Haven market: Butter, 35 to 40 cts. per lb; eggs, 25 cts. per dozen; potatoes, $1.25 per bushel; chickens, 30 to 50 cts. per pair; lard, 15 cts. per lb; apple butter, 50 cts. per gal; corn, 75 cts. per bu; oats, 60 cts. per bu; apples, 40 to 60 cts. per bu; cabbage, 10 to 20 cents per head; cider, $4 per bbl; celery, 5 cts. per stalk; honey, 20 cts. per lb; chestnuts, 20 cts. per quart; ducks, 50 cts. per pair; turkeys, 10 cts. per pound, live weight.

—After the blow of others, people must always fall back upon the Philad. Branch for cheap clothing, and goods warranted to be genuine. They mark all goods plainly, have one price for all, offer no miserable shoddy or auction stock, but manufacture themselves what you buy there and warrant every article they sell. No other dealer in clothing offers these important inducements.

Lewisburg, Oct. 31—The citizens of Lewisburg have now raised $10,000 for the University at Lewisburg. This secured to the institution an additional endowment of $100,000 of which William Bucknell, of Philadelphia gives $50,000.

—Let others say what they will if you want a good understanding, you must go to the boot and shoe emporium of Powers & Son. They are beyond question headquarters for boots and shoes; they give you the best goods; lowest prices; the best selection, and honest dealing at all times; no imposition practiced; all they sell is warranted as represented.

—In any one day there is more ready-made clothing sold at the Philad. Branch, than at any other store in a week. Lewins is the regulator of the clothing trade in this part of Pennsylvania. If it were not for him, all would have to pay from 25 to 50 per cent. more for their clothing than they do. All should patronize the Philad. Branch for this reason.

—In Cherokee county, Ala., on Thursday, officers shot and killed Jake Robinson, who resisted arrest. While dying he confessed to having murdered six men, one a minister, whom he killed while preaching a sermon.

—What you cannot get at A. J. Browns in the furniture line is not worth having. Parlor suits, chamber sets, etc., of every style and quality. Mark this—that you buy no furniture before looking in at Browns, if you want to save money.

—As a safe, pleasant and reliable remedy for all diseases of the pulmonary organs, Green's Comp. Syrup of Tar, Honey and Bloodroot has no equal. It is sold by the Murray.

—Emanuel Ettinger, of the convicted murderers in the Snyder county jail, died on Friday morning a week, of typhoid fever. The evening before his death he confessed the crime. The only particulars we have of the event is the following letter received by Detective Lyon, of Reading, from A. K. Gift, Esq., a justice of the peace at Middleburg. He says:

Ettinger was sick in September, but was convalescent about a fortnight ago. At that time I and a friend called to see the prisoner, who was apparently enjoying good health. The horse-thief Both, died in jail about the time Erb, Moyer and Ettinger received the news of the decision of the Supreme Court in their case. The double event caused a deep impression on their minds. Ettinger was especially affected, and from that day on his condition changed, resulting in an attack of typhoid fever. He lingered until Friday morning, the 21st inst., at 6 o'clock when he died. That evening James, his brother, and some other friends, took the body away.

The evening before he died J. T. Smith took his father-in-law, J. P. Shindle, in to see him and then he made a confession, saying that he shot John Kintzler and that Uriah Moyer shot Gretchen; that the bodies were taken into the house on the evening of the killing, as sworn to by Miss Mary Hartley, but that they had not been killed in the evening. He did not say whether Moyer or Erb assisted in any manner. The Commonwealth was not represented at the time the confession was made.

There is a great deal of excitement about this case and the public want justice done to Uriah Moyer. Some ministers went in to see Moyer and Erb last week and they still deny their guilt.—Democrat and Sentinel.

—The rush for Dinges' cheap goods is unabated and popularity increasing. Roll in, tumble in, for at Dinges' you save much of your hard earned money.

—The dwelling house of James Evans, near Spring Mills, was destroyed by fire on last Tuesday night. The fire was only discovered about midnight after it had gained too much headway to save the building. We understand that the greater part of the furniture was saved. The house was good, almost new. The fire is supposed to have originated from boiling apple butter during the day. Insured in the Centre Hall company.

The insurance on the house is $2,000 and on Prof. D. M. Wolf's library $600.

—If any of our people desire to take a look at and examine a truly fine assortment of goods, then call and see the new stock just unpacked at Wolf's old stand. Wolf's reputation for keeping the latest, best and finest styles of dress goods is more than kept up by the new stock.

Elections were held in ten states on Tuesday—Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, Mississippi, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Nevada.

—At Brown's furniture rooms all is new; no old style goods; prices lower than any where else in the county. Call and see for yourself.

SCHOOL-TAX.—Notice is hereby given that the school-duplicate is in the hands of the undersigned for 1881. On all tax paid before Dec. 1, there will be 5 per cent deducted. From Dec. 1 to Jan. 1, 1882, the face of duplicate will be required, and on all remaining unpaid after Jan. 1, 1882, there will be an addition of 5 per cent, according to the act of assembly.

It is the height of folly to wait until you are in bed with diseases that may last for months, when you can be cured by a timely use of Parker's Ginger Tonic. We have known sick families made the healthiest by it.—Observer.

Nittany Hall and Vicinity.

Mr. Henry Robb (proprietor of the Nittany Hall hotel) when feeding a horse fell and hurt himself which confined him to his bed for some time, but is fast recovering.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Grimm, of Illinois, are visiting friends here and are pleased to find them all so well. They both look well. We wish them a safe return.

Miss Maggie Shafer went to Philadelphia where she intends to spend some time in drawing.

Mr. Samuel H. Showers is going to the Central State Normal, in Lock Haven, where he intends to spend his winter.

Mr. Henry Beck has his house nearly completed.

We have had considerable rain here for the last few days. The grain looks as well as can be expected. The farmers are all done husking corn, and when they look at the crib it just looks as if the winter was past. GUESS.

WONDERFUL POWER.

When a medicine performs such cures as Kidney-Wort is constantly doing, it may truly be said to have wonderful power. A carpenter in Montgomery, Vt., had suffered for eight years from the worst of kidney diseases, and had wholly been incapacitated for work. He says, "One box made a new man of me, and I sincerely believe it will restore to health all that are similarly afflicted." It is now sold in both liquid and dry form.—Danbury News.

INTERNATIONAL LESSONS.

NOVEMBER 13—The Feast of Tabernacles.

GOLDEN TEXT:—"Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits."—Ps. ciii. 2.

Lev. xxiii. 33-44.

Verses 33-38.—The fifteenth day of this seventh month—that is, of Ethanim (I K. viii. 2), or Tisri, as it was called by the later Jews. The feast of tabernacles—so called because the Israelites were to dwell in tents, or rather booths, made of boughs, during the seven days of the festival (v. 42.) It was one of the three annual feasts which all male Israelites were required to attend at the national sanctuary (Ex. xxiii. 17, xxxiv. 23; Deut. xvi. 16.) In later times they were called by the rabbins "pilgrimage feasts." The "Songs of Degrees"—or "Pilgrim Songs"—(Ps. cxx.—cxxxiv.) were doubtless sung by the pious pilgrims as they went up to the Holy City on these occasions. For seven days—beginning, like the Passover, at the full moon. An holy convocation—a gathering for worship. No servile work—no ordinary, daily labor, such as belongs to one's worldly vocation. It was permitted to prepare food (Ex. xii. 16,) which, with all other work, was forbidden on the weekly Sabbath, and on the Day of Atonement (Ex. xx. 10; xxxv. 3; Lev. xxiii. 28, 30.) On the eighth day—the 22nd of the month. This day, strictly speaking, did not belong to the feast of the Tabernacles, which was to continue but seven days (see Num. xxiix 35; Neh. viii. 18.) "The eighth day was rather the solemn close of the whole circle of yearly feasts, and therefore was appended to the close of the last of these feasts as the eighth day of the feast itself." (See John vii. 37.) It is clearly distinguished from the preceding days by the number of the offerings made (Num. xxix. 36-38), and by the abandonment of the booths at the end of the seventh day. It was, moreover, a solemn assembly (margin, day of restraint), understood by many commentators to mean a closing festival, though the term is applied also to a religious assembly in a general sense (2 K. x. 20; Joel i. 14.) These are the feasts, &c—literally, the appointed times. They are enumerated in the preceding verses of the chapter. On verses 37 and 38 The Speaker's Commentary says: "The meaning appears to be; these are the yearly appointed times on which we shall hold Holy Convocations and offer to Jehovah sacrifices, in addition to the Sabbath offerings (Num. xxviii. 9, 10), and to all your voluntary offerings (Num. xxix. 30.)"

Verses 39-44.—Also—properly rendered here surely. The following verses give a fuller description of this concluding feast of the year. Gathered in—see Ex. xxiii. 16; Deut. xvi. 13-15. A Sabbath—the Hebrew word here used may be rendered a sabbatical rest. Boughs of goodly trees—the marginal reading, fruit, is to be preferred. Keil renders the passage; "Take to you fruit of ornamental trees, palm branches, and boughs of trees with thick foliage, and willows of the brook." He regards fruit as the generic term, and as including the shoots and branches of the trees, as well as the blossoms and fruit that grew out of them, while the three names which follow specify the particular kinds of boughs. The purpose for which these boughs were to be gathered is stated in Neh. viii. 15—"pine branches" being properly wild olive boughs. The meaning of the term rendered thick trees is uncertain, but probably signifies, as Keil renders it, trees with thick foliage, of whatever kind. Ye shall rejoice . . . before the Lord—it was a feast, a rejoicing, (as the word means), and the most joyous of all the feasts. They were to rejoice, first, over present blessings—the ingathered fruits of tree and field, the year's produce of corn, fruit, oil and wine (Deut. xvi. 13); second, over past blessings—the care and leadership of Jehovah during the long wilderness journey, when but for his divine protection the nation must have perished. Ye shall dwell in booths—according to Jewish tradition, these booths were structures of boards with a covering of boughs. In later times, they were erected in Jerusalem on the housetops, in courts, or wherever it was convenient (Neh. viii. 16). All that are Israelites born—the requirement was restricted to native Israelites, perhaps for the reason suggested in v. 43. It was a peculiarly national festival. But clearly foreigners were to be invited to participate in the enjoyment of the feast (Deut. xvi. 14). That your generations may know, &c.—may keep in perpetual remembrance "the grace, care and protection which God afforded to his people in the great and terrible wilderness." The use of the word booth or hut in place of tent has occasioned much difficulty. Generally, the Israelites in the wilderness dwelt in tents. They may, however, have erected huts when sojourning for some time at any point. But a structure of boughs would be a convenient and inexpensive substitute for a tent, and equally expressive of the temporary and shifting character of the wilderness life, in comparison with the settled condition of the people in the fruitful land into which Jehovah had led them. And Moses declared—this verse is a conclusion to the whole chapter.

And now read the Golden Text, and ask yourself, teacher and scholar, whether there are not some "benefits," temporal and spiritual, for which you have reason to "bless the Lord."

BABY SAVED.

We are so thankful to say that our baby was permanently cured of a dangerous and protracted irregularity of the bowels by the use of Hop Bitters by its mother, which at the same time restored her to perfect health and strength.—The parents, Roshester, N. Y. See another column.—Buffalo Express.

From Orangeville.

Dear Sir:—High water prevails now at the Mississippi, for to-dy, to one who only occasionally sees this river, it appears like a great sea. Not only is the farmer damaged by this great swell of the Mississippi, but railroad trains are submerged, and the iron horse is brought to bay. One can hardly estimate the damage which must be sustained along this great water channel, in consequence of lost crops and the necessary suspension of business upon railroad lines coming within its reach. Never before in the experience of the oldest settlers has such a rain been known at this season of the year. Much suffering must come to many of the inhabitants living in the valley of the great river.

Corn around our section of country that was planted early is good and is producing a large yield, and an excellent quality, notwithstanding the severity of the drought, while the late planted corn is poor. The work of husking and cribing is now in progress. Since the close of the drouth, the weather has been highly favorable to agriculture. Sufficient rain has fallen to revive the pasture and late vegetation and give the winter wheat and rye a good start. These crops have a promising appearance at present, though only a small acreage of winter wheat was sown throughout this section, but a large amount of rye. We think it might have paid well for the farmers to have sown more winter wheat than they did, as it is not likely the crop will be winter killed this coming winter. The drouth, though damaging some of the crops, had a beneficial effect upon the soil and the condition of the time of fall seeding (middle of September) and since, was never better than the present season. The recent copious rains, too, have thoroughly saturated the ground and replenished the streams affording a plentiful supply of water and according to the theory of certain weather wise observers, will cause a mild and open winter. So mote it be.

Died, on the 27th of September, Mr. Henry Miller, an old settler, living near Buena Vista. Mr. Miller moved from Centre county, Pa., to this county, where he made himself a pleasant home and many friends. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Anna Evans, of near Centre Hill and also of James Evans, of near Penn Hall.

Died at Orangeville, Ill., Oct. 8th, 1881, Samuel Swartz, aged 41 years and 7 mo. The deceased was born in Millheim, Centre county, Pa., and was the oldest of five children of Andrew and Sarah Swartz.

I forgot to say that this month was a pleasant month with the exception of several rainy days, but yet no cold weather. We have had only one hard frost and that to say was not severe.

Yours,
Oct. 31, 1881. W. L. ROYER.
