CRUSHING THE NIHILISTS.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 23.—Hessy Helfman was safely delivered of a daughter last Eriday night in a casemate of the Troubetskoi bastion in the fortress. Mother and child are well. Hessy will probably receive a free pardon in consideration of the confessions she has made. These confessions agree with those of Lieutenant Soukanoff. Their immediate result will be that the number of persons figuring in the approaching great trial will be raised from twenty-seven to sixty-two and possibly far more, as not only Hessy Helfman and Soukanoff, but also Trizoni has made a confession. It is quite likely that 200 persons may be tried in a batch, whether by the Senate, constituted as a supreme court, or by court martial, is not yet decided. General Ignatieff, thanks to whose tact and patience these revelations were elicited, would prefer that the Senate try the case. He inclines to what, relatively speaking, may be called clemency. He has pledged himself, in certain instances, that pardon shall be granted and intends to keep his promise. The number of executions will thus be diminished. The trial will strike to the very heart of the nihilist organization. It is not to take place till January, however. Between this time and then General Ignatieff expects to have done much more to check the revolution. Fresh confessions are being made daily.

—While several boys were skating on a pond at Levingston, Mass., one named Walker, aged twelve years, broke through the ice. The father, Arthur Walker, went to the son's assistance and both were drowned.

—You are never imposed upon when you buy groceries at Sechlers, whether in price, parity and freshness of goods sold you; this important fact can be relied upon. Ask any who deal there and you will be told the same thing. Their grocery is the most complete, embracing all belonging to their line. Housekeepers should bear these facts in mind.
