

The Gentre Reporter. RED RURTZ EDITOR.

CENTRE HALL, PA.; Jan. 5, 1882.

The REPORTER, with this issue, enters its 15th Volume under the most flattering auspices, and as the next oldest journ. al in this county-following the Watchman in age. We have labored incessantly, fifteen years, to make the REPORTER S good paper, and to give our patrons the full worth of their money, and when we look back it is gratifying to observe that our work seems to have been appreciated, indicated by a steady increase of our patrons. It is impossible for a newspaper as for an individual to please everybody. We have not done it, nor tried to do it—but did try to do what we though right and duty required. No paper and be conducted upon any other principal and gain the respect of decent men. The journalist who follows this courses can be and to deal him staggering blows from the stump during the campaign. the Record very properly places the laks none of the qualities needed to the paironage which in the past we had demand. May we ask a continuance of the spinonger in this state—when he talks er-when he talks eres, and reconsign the investigated when the talks eres, and reconsign the investigated has been defined to the mine of the spinons erest. THE NEXT GOVERNOR. Iow her to sit at the same table with publicans, while their own in this Con-his half-brother, and Brad Garland killed A. B. Harrie. The fight was with kniver. The possible candidates for the next, gebernatorial race are being brought to ortice in some of the public prints. The republican bosses seem to have decided that their party must nominate General. Beaver, with liability to 'change their mand sin a more statistic than there extensive than the public prospect of election. If we must have a republican governor it may as well be Beaver. But let us have a seemulating wealth from the physical labor of those poor women and their which was regarded that makes them take to Beaver, which would be far better than Beaver or any one else the bossec, an select.
