GRANT'S NEW HOME.

The Riches of the World Beautifying the New York Grant Mansion.

[N. Y. Letter to Cincinnati Enquirer.]
There is quite a flutter in society, owing to the announcement that General and Mrs. Grant are to give an elegant reception as soon as their new house is in perfect order and every day workmen and artists are bringing nearer the desired end. I understand not a single article has been bought or ordered for the first floor, the eighty cases of magnificent presents presented to the General on his foreign tour furnishing them throughout, as well as supplying the rest of the house with objects of art of every conceivable sort. No two pieces of furniture in the parlors and reception room will be alike. Curiously carved chairs, velvet and gold embroidered divans and ebony and ivory fauteuil, upholstered with Gobelin tapestry and handwrought brocades, will take the place of the modern set.

The Oriental hangings and Persian carpets were made for the ex-President as gifts, and Mrs. Grant will incur the everlasting envy of women by using the finest and most exquisitely woven India cashmeres for the drapery of her own boudoir. The tables and stands are of buhl and mosaic work; the mirrors hang in curiously curved frames cut by the jack-knives of the skillful Swedish carvers. Pictures of every variety, and all of merit in different degrees, have frames in themselves works of art, while statuary and articles of virtu ornament the rooms lavishly.

In General Grant's private dressing room stands a miniature house of five stories and nearly three feet in height. It is of solid silver, curiously beaten and raised in queer flowers and odd birds. On opening the various doors and windows that lead out on comical little balconies can be discovered cases of fretted silver, containing bottles and flasks of carved ivory filled with different and delicious perfumes. This was presented to the owner in China. A pleasant reminder of India is a pair of superb elephant tusks nearly six feet in length, the polished ivory set off by elaborate gold mountings.

The wall on one side of the family sitting room is nearly covered by a remarkable Japanese picture—a hunting scene. The ground is of creamy satin, and the subject is worked out in varied silk embroidery, the figures and foliage standing out as in real life and the colors exquisite and natural.

How exceptional a memory Gen. Grant has is shown in the fact that he knows at a glance where each of these thousands of gifts came from, the name of the city, the donor and the circumstances of the presentation. He does not exhibit the least complacency in their exhibition, but Mrs. Grant shows a woman's natural gratification in them.

—If there is any one store in this county that does business exclusively upon the "one price for all" principle, and the lowest price with every article marked, we must accord the praise to the store of Lyon & Co., and we challenge any one to a denial of this fact. This is the only true and honest business principle; others would do will to pattern after Lyon & Co. if
