REVOLT IN SOUDAN.

London, May 6.—A dispatch from Alexandria says:—"Another insurrection has broken out in the Soudan. The false prophet Mehdi has defeated the Egyptian troops, captured the city of Sennar and taken Muder prisoner." A later dispatch from Cairo says:—"The false prophet, with 8,000 well armed followers, has almost reached Khartoum. Egyptian troops will advance to meet them to-morrow. The provinces of Darfur and Kor-dofa have completely revolted."

THE PUEBLO INDIANS.

Two weeks ago Professor Cushing, of the Smithsonian Institute, delivered a lecture at the Museum on the Pueblos, or the Zunis and Moquis. It was listened to by a crowded house. Six of the Pueblo chiefs were on the platform.

About three years ago Professor Cushing was sent out to investigate and report upon the laws and usages of the Pueblos.
Finding it impossible to learn otherwise, the Professor is an active man and a devoted scientific, made friends with one of the chiefs, was adopted as a son, donned the Indian costume, joined the sacred Order of the Bow, learned the language and sacred poems and traditions, was elected one of their chiefs, then war-chief, which office he now holds. It appears that the nation of 1,600 persons occupies a single cliff-house on terraced mountain-sides, each family or person inhabiting one chamber. The Order of the Bow, consisting of thirty-one persons, governs, wielding the civil, military and ecclesiastical power. The courting is done by either the men or the women; the marriage ceremony is in the giving and accepting a present; divorces are optional, but rare; and one of the precepts of their religion is to speak in a low tone, and another, never to strike or hurt each other. Professor Cushing says he never heard boisterous talking or witnessed any violence among them; and that he himself narrowly escaped expulsion from the nation for a crime of getting angry and giving one of them a slap. They manufacture, till the ground, and pasture sheep and cattle.
Their religious traditions are transmitted through the priests, four of whom commit them exactly to memory. There is a rumor that Professor Cushing has married a wife among the Zunis; but it may be doubted whether his devotion to the dis-fusion of knowledge among men has gone to that extent.

The grand high-priest of the Zunis followed Mr. Cushing in a speech, full of poetry, and ending with a marvellous touch of pathos. After speaking of the wonders seen by him among the whites, he said that though they were so many and the Zunis were so few, he did not envy them or feel unkindly to them, but was glad to meet them, and thought it just possible that some of them were glad to see him. He hoped they would never use the mighty power, given them by God for wise purposes, to crush the Zunis or even humiliate them; but they should respect the national pride of the Zunis, remembering that all men are brethren.
