Montreal, July 4.—John Barry, M. P. for Wexford in the British Parliament, a moderate Home Ruler, is here and says that a gradual disintegration of the Liberal party is going on in the House, and the row in the Commons a tew nights ago was a great step in that direction. In the approaching general election Mr. Barry expects that seventy stanch Home Kulers will be returned. In the course of conversation he expressed the opinion that during the term of the next Parliament a modified term of home rule, such as exists in the provinces of Canada, would be conceded to his country.
