That's a common expression and has a world of meaning. How much suffering is summed up in it.

The singular thing about it is, that pain in the back is occasioned by so many things. May be caused by kidney disease, liver complaint, consumption, cold, heumatism, dyspepsia, overwork, nervous debility, &c.

Whatever the cause, don't neglect it. Something is wrong and needs prompt attention. No medicine has yet been discovered that will so quickly and surely cure such diseases as Brown's Iron Bitters, and it does this by commencing at the foundation, and making the blood pure and rich.

> For a long time I have been a sufferer from stomach and kidney disease. My appetite was very poor and the very small amount I did eat disagreed with me. I was annoyed very much from non-retention of urine. I tried many remedies with no success, until I used Brown's Iron Bitters. Since I used that my stomach does not bother me any. My appetite is simply immense. My kidney trouble is no more, and my general health is such, that I feel like a new man. After the use of Brown's Iron Bitters for one month, I have gained twenty pounds in weight.

Leading physicians and clergymen use and recommend Brown's Iron Bit-TERS. It has cured others suffering as you are, and it will cure you.

Searching for the Slain.

Hold the lantern aside, and shudder not so; There's more blood to see than this on the snow; There are pools of it, lakes of it, just over there, And fixed faces all streaked, and crimson soaked hair. Did you think, when we came, you and I, out To search for our dead, you would be a fair sight?

You're his wife; you love him-you think so; and I
Amonly his mother; my boy shall not lie
In a ditch with the rest, while my arms can His form to a grave that my own may soon So, if your strength falls, best go sit by the While his mother alone seeks his bed on the

You will go! Then no fainting! Give me the And follow my footsteps-my heart will lead Ah, God! What is here? A great heap of the slain, All mangled and gory! What horrible pain These beings have died in! Dear mothers, ye weep, Ye weep, oh, ye weep o'er this terrible sleep! More! more! Ah! I thought I could never more know
Grief, horror, or pity, for aught here below,
Since I stood in the porch and heard his chief tell
How brave was my son, how he gallantly fell.
Did they think I cared then to see officers'
stand Before my great sorrow, each hat in each hand?

Why, girl, do you feel neither reverence nor fright.

That your red hands turn over toward this dim light, These dead men that stare so? Ab, if you had Your senses this morning ere his comrades had You had heard that his place was worst of them all—
Not 'mid the stragglers—where he fought he would fail!

There's the moon through the clouds; O, Christ, what a scene! Dost Thou from Thy Heavens o'er such visions leans And still call this curs'd world a footstool of Hark! a groan! there another-here in this Piled close on each other! Ah! here is the fing, Torn, dripping with gore—bah! they died for this rag.

Here's the voice that we seek; poor soul, do not start;
We're women, not ghosts. What a gash o'er the heart;
Is there aught we can do? a message to give To any beloved one? I swear, if I live. To take it for sake of the words my boy said; "Home," "mother," "wife," ere he reeled down mong the dead.

But, first, can you tell where his regiment stood?"
Speak, speak, man or point, 'twas the Ninth.
Ob, the blood
Is choking his voice! What a look of despair!
There, lean on my knee, while I put back the hair From eyes so fast glazing. Oh, my darling, my My hands were both idle when you died alone He's dying-he's dead! Close his eyes, let us God's peace to his soril! If we only could Where our own dear one lies! My soul has turned sick;
Must we crawl o'er these bodies that lie bere so thick? PROVISIONS, I cannot! How eager you are! One might think you were nursed on the red lap of War.

He's not here—and not here. What wild hopes flash through My thoughts as foot deep, I stand in their dread S. SPICES.
And cast up a prayer to the blue, quiet sky!
Was it you, gir, that shrieked? Ahi what face dot, lie
up-tur-ied toward me there, so rigid and MEATS, o, God, my brain! 'Tis a dream. My old sight Is dimmed with these horrors. My soul oh, my son! Would I had died for thee, my own only one! There, lift off your arms; let him come to the

How to be Beautiful. A celebrated beauty, whose complexion at 60 was rather fresher than that of our women at 30, told a New York correspondent of The Washington Critic her secret this summer, and it was divided into two parts. First, she never used a washrag or towel on her face, but with a soft sponge. She used clear water in the morning, but white castile soap or ing it on a soft towel she would trake a flesh-brush and rub her cheeks, chin, and forehead. Second, if she was going to be up late at night she always slept as many hours in the day as she expected to be awake beyond her usual time. She finished her little sermon on beauty flesh-brush and rub her cheeks, chin, to be up late at night she always slept be closed and I will sell only preservation by saying: "Soft water and sound sleep keep off wrinkles and spots, and girls should give more attention to this than they do, for
