SUFFER

no longer from Dyspepsia, indigestion, want of Appetite, loss of Strength, lack of Energy, Malaria, Intermittent Fevers, &c. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS never fails to cure all these diseases.

Boston, November 26, 1881.
Gentlemen:—For years I have been a great sufferer from Dyspepsia, and could get no relief (having tried everything which was recommended) until, acting on the advice of a friend, who had been benefited by Brown's Iron Bitters, I tried a bottle, with most surprising results. Previous to taking Brown's Iron Bitters, everything I ate distressed me, and I suffered greatly from a burning sensation in the stomach, which was unbearable. Since taking Brown's Iron Bitters, all my troubles are at an end. Can testify any time without any disagreeable results. I am practically another person.

Matrimonial Stories.

At a recent fashionable wedding, after the departure of the happy pair, a dear little girl, whose papa and mamma were among the guests, asked with a child's innocent inquisitiveness: "Why do they throw things at the pretty lady in the carriage?" "For luck, dear," replied one of the bridesmaids. "And why," again asked the child, "doesn't she throw them back?" "Oh," said the young lady, "that would be rude." "No, it wouldn't," persisted the dear little thing, to the delight of her doting parents who stood by. "Do you pretend to have as good a judgment as I have?" said an enraged wife to her husband. "Well, no," he replied deliberately; "our choice of partners for life shows that my judgment is not to be compared with yours." In matters of controversy, however, the woman usually has the best of it. A witty old author advises men to avoid arguments with ladies, because, in spinning yarns among silks and satins, a man is sure to be worsted and twisted; and when a man is worsted and twisted, he may consider himself wounded up. The above retort might be matched by a dozen others culled from domestic controversy, in which the woman has come off triumphant. "Really, my dear," said a friend of ours to his better half, "you have sadly disappointed me. I once considered you a jewel of a woman, but you've turned out only a bit of matrimonial paste." "Then, my love," was the reply, "console yourself with the idea that paste is very adhesive, and in this case will stick to you as long as you live." "See here," said a fault-finding husband, "we must have things arranged in this house so that we shall know where everything is kept." "With all my heart," sweetly answered his wife, "and let us begin with your late hours, my love. I should dearly love to know where they are kept." He let things run on as usual. It is not often, however, that one runs across such a crushing retort as that which a Sheffield husband received from his wife the other day, through the medium of the public press. He advertised in one of the local journals that he, Thomas A., would no longer be answerable for the debts incurred by his wife, who seems to have been a truly amiable creature, if one may judge from the advertisement which she published next day in reply: "This is to notify that I, Elizabeth A., am able to pay all my own debts now that I have got shut of Tommy."

Some husbands would be obliged to confess, if they told the plain, unvarnished truth, that when they led their wives to the altar their leadership came to an end. "Your future husband seems very exacting; he has been stipulating for all sorts of things," said a mother to her daughter, who was on the point of being married. "Never mind, mamma," said the affectionate girl, who was already dressed for the wedding, "these are his last wishes. This is a complete reversal of the rule laid down by the old couple. My dear, love thy wife; thy husband, wife, or Wives are our heart; we should be head and tail."

In many instances, the state of the case is rather something like the following: "If I'm not home from the party to-night at 10 o'clock," says the husband to his better and bigger half, "don't wait for me." "That I won't," replies the lady, significantly; "I won't wait, but I'll come for you." He is home at 10 o'clock precisely.

I went up to the campanile of St. Giorgio, with an odd American, mild in appearance, and studying for the church, who was always retiring to write up his "impressions," which were three weeks in arrears. He always dressed in black, and subsequently disappeared without paying his bill. Quoth he to me, looking absently round upon the sea-bound city and the wide stretch of the lagoons. "Venice has been very much misrepresented to me in one particular. It was told that the great fault was the want of water." Either that man was the Heathen Chinese himself, or he had met Gilbert or Burnand.—London Spectator.

An Altoona dispatch says John L. McDowell, treasurer of the Young Men's Christian Association, and a prominent commission merchant, has absconded with $400 of the association's money, and between three and four thousand dollars belonging to parties dealing with him in the commission business.

J. M. Buckwater, Phoenixville, Pa., says: "I have invariably heard Brown's Iron Bitters spoken of as an excellent remedy."

The commissioners of Lycoming county have offered a reward of $800 for the apprehension of McKinney Smith, fugitive from justice and ex-convict commissioner. It is supposed he is somewhere in Canada.
