FROM THE SOUTH.
 A Perfect Combination with two Silent Advantages—Why it Concerns You.
 "There is no mistake about it," remarked Dr. M. P. Flowers, of Gallatin, Missouri. "BENSON'S CAPSINE PLOUERS PLASTER are one of the nearest combinations ever produced. They have two kinds of advantages over all others, which we may call the minor and the major. First, they are clean and pleasant to use, never soiling the hands or the linen of the wearer. Second, they set quickly and powerfully. I have tried the Capsine Plaster on myself for pneumonia and on my patients for various diseases, such as Neuralgia, Muscular Rheumatism, Lumbago, Kidney trouble, etc., and in all cases relief has followed in from three to forty-eight hours."
 Dr. Flower merely voices the written or oral opinion of thousands in his profession. Benson's Capsine Plaster are the perfect external application. The genuine have the word CAPSINE cut in the center. Price 25 cents.

INCIDENTS IN A PHILOSOPHER'S BOYHOOD.

Prof. Joseph Henry, one of the most eminent of American scientists, died May 13, 1878. On Thursday, the 19th day of the present month, his memory is to be honored by the unveiling at Washington of a magnificent bronze statue, made by W. M. Story, and costing $15,000.

Among the interesting reminiscences of his boyhood is the story of his first pair of boots—a true story, often told by himself in later years.

When he was a boy, it was the universal custom to have boots made to order, and his grandmother, with whom he was living, indulgently allowed him to choose the style for himself. There was no great variety of styles. Indeed, the choice was limited to the question of round toes or square toes. Day after day Joseph went to the cobbler's and talked over the matter without coming to a decision, and this even after their manufacture was begun, until at last the shoemaker, fairly out of patience, took the decision into his own hands and made a most remarkable pair of boots—one boot round toed, the other square toed.

Later in life Prof. Henry often came deliberately to his decisions, with the advantage that he seldom if ever had occasion to abandon them.

While Joseph was a schoolboy he acquired a taste for reading in this peculiar way: One day he chased a pet rabbit through an opening in the foundation wall of the village meeting-house. While gleaning about among dirt and rubbish a gleam of light enticed him through the broken floor, and he found himself in a room containing the open bookcase of the town library. The title of one of the books struck his fancy and he took it down. It was Brooks' "Fool of Quality," and he read, coming again and again through the hole in floor, until access by the door was finally granted him. From this first book that he ever read with relish, he passed on eagerly to other works of fiction in that library.

A few years later, in a way almost equally accidental, his mind was turned to an entirely different class of reading.

Confined at home by a temporary illness he took up a book casually left on the table by a boarder, and entitled "Lectures on Experimental Philosophy, Astronomy, and Chemistry, intended chiefly for the Use of Young Persons, By G. Gregory." It began with a few questions: "You throw a stone, or shoot an arrow into the air; why does it not go forward in the line or direction that you give it? . . . Why does flame or smoke always mount upward, though no force is used to send them in that direction? And why should not the flame of a candle drop toward the floor when you reverse it or hold it downward? . . . Again, you look into a clear well of water and see your own face and figure, as if painted there. Why is this? You are told it is done by the reflection of light. But what is the reflection of light?"

The trifling incident of taking up this book may be said to have turned the whole course of this lad's life.

After his death this book was found in Professor Henry's library with the following entry upon the fly-leaf, written in his own hand:

"This book, although by no means a profound work, has, under Providence, exerted a remarkable influence upon my life. It accidentally fell into my hands when I was about sixteen years old, and was the first work I ever read with attention. It opened to me a new world of thought and enjoyment; invested things before almost unnoticed with the highest interest; fixed my mind on the study of nature, and caused me to resolve at the time of reading it that I would immediately commence to devote my life to the acquisition of knowledge."

Many young men quit school at sixteen years of age. They should take a lesson from Joseph Henry, and regard education as not complete, but just begun.

C. P. OSBORNE.

ERB'S CASE DECIDED.
 The board of pardon held a special session on Monday 30 ult. The testimony in the Erb case was read by Recorder Everett, which consumed three hours. The board, after a careful consideration, decided to recommend to the governor a commutation of the death sentence to imprisonment for life. The papers to that effect will be prepared and signed in a few days.

RUMORS OF A NEW RAILROAD.
 Scranton, April 30.—Rumors were circulated during the past week that the Delaware, Lackawanna and western R. R. company is about to open a new line from the Northumberland terminus of the Lackawanna and Bloomsburg division through Union and Clearfield counties, and in westward to make connections with important lines running west and south. This will open a large territory abundant in iron ore, coal and other minerals. It will traverse a farming country now remote from railroad facilities. The line will lessen the distance from New York to Pittsburg considerably and will prove a strong opponent of the Pennsylvania Central and the Reading Railroad.

Another article expedition has started for the frozen regions.

—You need not go out of the valley for good furniture as long as Camp keeps a stock on hand—for his goods compare with any, and his prices are lower. Remember this, and give Camp a call for anything you want in the furniture line, and if he does not render satisfaction, then let us know.

The Dulkes jurors are receiving threatening letters.

—The hundreds of railroad hands within a circle of twenty-five miles of Bellefonte have already learned a thing or two. These foreigners just like we Americans, look to their own interests and have found out the secret of saving money. They have already ascertained that one-third of their wages can be saved by purchasing their clothing at the Philad. Branch, and thither they rush, and the bosses do likewise when wanting something good and cheap in the clothing line.

Three Strong Points.

Point One:
Men's Spring Overcoats; a big stock that takes in everything from the very plain low priced to the finest, from the lightest fancy color to the plain black, from the smallest youths' to the largest of large men's sizes. A commanding stock that every light overcoat buyer must see—if he cares to know the market.

Point Two:
Fifteen Lines of Men's Business Suits. A little money is a powerful thing in Oak Hall. Witness the following:
 Fancy Cassimere Sack Suits at $8.50, and the same goods in walking coat style, at $9.00. Our only boast on them is that they are good for the money. Manhattan Cheviots in six full lines, both sacks and walking coats, at $10.00. The buttons and trimmings of these suits are worth special attention. Plain Cassimeres; three varieties, in sack style, at $10.00. Very reliable.

Five styles of Harris Cassimere Suits, of quiet styles, and in both Sack and Walking Coats, at $16.00. The well-known reputation of these goods speak for themselves.

These fifteen lines are not fragments pulled together for an advertisement. They represent two thousand suits, and goods to make more. There is business in them.

Point Three:
Custom Made Clothing. A large display of piece goods to order. There are very great bargains in all the following lines:

Class A, in any ordinary business style,	$18.00
Class B, " " " "	20.00
Class C, " " " "	22.50
Class D, " " " "	25.00

Our "points" are made short and sharp for practical people.
