

THE CENTRE REPORTER.

FRED KURTZ, Editor
CENTRE HALL, Pa., May 24, 1883.

The new head of the Williamsport daily Sun and Banner is pretty; the S. & B. is a spry daily.

Judge Rockefeller, of Sunbury, fined a woman $500 and sent her to jail for ninety days for selling liquor without a license.

Mrs. Hammel, of Lewisburg, mother of Judge Hammel, is 98 years of age and quite feeble.

Mrs. Detwiler, of Millinburg, is 90 years of age, and the oldest resident of the borough.

Mr. Adam Hart, of Clinton township, celebrated his 95th birthday, on the 6th of May.

The last of the Bourbon pretenders to the French throne, the Count Chambord, is reported dying. His residence is at Frohsdorf, in Austria. As he dies without issue, the Count of Paris—Lewis Philippe's grandson—will unite in his person all monarchial pretensions to the French throne.

Ireland is a pretty expensive portion of the United Kingdom for the British Government under the present Russian policy. Prior to the Land League organization three years ago it cost but $11,000,000 to run the governmental machine there.

The Drovers' Journal has received reports in detail from regions in Colorado, Kansas, Texas, Nebraska, Idaho, Wyoming, Indian Territory, Montana and Nevada. Reports show the range cattle business to be in a very thrifty condition.

The percentage of loss in all the States and Territories ranges from one to twenty per cent, or a general average of 3 1/2 per cent. The greatest loss was reported in Idaho, Indian Territory and Kansas.

The average condition of cattle on the ranges is reported by Kansas, Texas and Indian Territory to be worse when compared with the corresponding period last year, but other sections report an average or better condition of stock than last spring.

DECORATION DAY.

General Order No. 8. Headquarters, Department of Pennsylvania, Grand Army of the Republic, No 122 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, May 31, 1883.

I Wednesday, May 30th, will be observed by this Department as Memorial Day. II. Clergymen of all denominations, teachers, magistrates and all the people, are cordially invited to co-operate with the Grand Army in its effort to keep green the memory of Pennsylvania's heroes.

With this understanding of his unequalled facilities for procuring and keeping up a full stock of fine imported and domestic goods, our readers will turn with fresh interest to Mr. Wanamaker's advertisement in this issue and see the values offered in this issue and see the values offered in this issue and see the values offered in this issue.

V. Men and women, youths, maidens and little children join with us in these patriotic services. Bring with you the laurel, the rose and the honeysuckle, to place upon the soldiers' graves, and do not forget to wave above them the standard that shone so proudly in the front of battle.

The Legislature has agreed to adjourn June 6.

ABOUT FRAUDS.

Mr. Editor:—It has occurred to me that a few suggestions to farmers and a word of warning might be out of place—but perhaps work to their advantage.

There are often unscrupulous men who make representations that, to your sorrow, your after experience proves to be false. I have known them to gather refuse trees that had been thrown out of the nurseries and then sell them for first quality.

The oily tongues and smooth talks of these traveling agents are no guarantee that their trees will bear as sleek and nice or that their fruit will be equally as sweet. Again, I have known farmers to accept agencies for plows and other implements, both good and indifferent, but before they were through perhaps had an "unknown" note to pay and a fine lot of costs in addition.

THE RECENT CYCLONE.

Ravages in Indiana and Ohio—Great Destruction to Property.

Cincinnati, May 16.—Reports have been received here of the ravages of Monday night's storm in Indiana and Ohio, showing the cyclone swept across an area of about twelve miles in length, and about six miles north of Columbus, Indiana, with a path a few rods wide, striking the village of Waterloo, destroying every house but three in that place, and doing great damage to the farms in its path, but injuring nobody.

It is a common practice with middle-aged people to sigh for the return of the good old times "when things were what they seemed"—those times when silk goods were not clever mixtures of men and jute stiffened up with gum to give them weight and lustre, but were honest throughout in wool and web; when stockings sold at 75c, and on an examination to be overreached by hand instead of woven into shape in looms, as by right they should be.

The truth is that at no period of the world's history have all sorts of dry goods been so superb as to quality or so moderate as to price as they are in this our day and generation. A moment's thought will convince all reasoning people that in consequence of the increased production of raw material and the improved system of manufacture the result must be a better class of goods and lower prices than could have been offered with the limited supplies of inefficient methods of a quarter or a half century ago.

With a resident buyer in Paris and others in all the great marts of trade throughout the civilized world, what wonder that Mr. Wanamaker can offer for sale at incredible low prices the choicest products of the looms of Lyons, Berlin, Belfast, Manchester and Nottingham; chosen as experts in the class of goods they are commensurate to purchase, every agent sent abroad by Mr. Wanamaker knows just what style and price of goods are most desirable, and is fully posted as to where these can be obtained in the best qualities and at the most advantageous rates for the house they represent and the customers thereof.

With this understanding of his unequalled facilities for procuring and keeping up a full stock of fine imported and domestic goods, our readers will turn with fresh interest to Mr. Wanamaker's advertisement in this issue and see the values offered in this issue and see the values offered in this issue.

"Oh, my back!" is a common exclamation and expresses a world of misery and suffering. It is singular that this pain arises from such various causes. Kidney disease, liver complaint, wasting affections, colds, rheumatism, dyspepsia, overwork, nervous debility are chief causes. When thus afflicted seek prompt relief. It can be found in Brown's Iron Bitters. It builds up from the foundation by making the blood rich and pure. Leading physicians and ministers use and recommend it. It has cured many, and if you are a sufferer try it.

Work Given Out. On receipt of your address we will make an offer by which you can earn $3 to $7 evenings, at your home. Men, women, boys or girls can do it. H. C. WILKINSON & Co., 195 Falon St., New York. 10may6

Songs Never Sung.

"How does that verse run? Something like this isn't it? There are who touch the magic string, And noisily fame is proud to win them, Alas! for those who never sing, But die with all their music in them."

"Yes that's beautiful, pathetic and true," said your representative. "The poet alludes to people who are somewhat suppressed, and never get their full allowance of joy and air. Which reminds me of a letter shown me the other day by Hiscox & Co., of New York, signed by Mr. E. C. Williams, of Chapman Saylor Co., Pa., a prominent business man of that place. He writes:

"I have suffered with asthma for over forty years, and had a terrible attack in December and January, 1882. I hardly know what prompted me to take Parker's Tonic. I did so, and the first day that night I slept as if nothing was the matter with me, and have ever since. I have had colds since, but not asthma. My breathing is now as perfect as if I had never known that disease. If you know of any one that has asthma tell him in my name that 'Parker's Tonic' will cure it—even after forty years." There was a man who escaped the fate of those whom the poet laments.

This preparation, which has heretofore been known as "Parker's Ginger Tonic," will hereafter be advertised and sold under the name of "Parker's Tonic." Inasmuch as ginger is really an important ingredient, and unprincipled dealers are constantly deceiving their customers by substituting inferior preparations under the name of ginger, we drop the misleading word.

SPRING OPENING '83.

Having completed shelving and fixing up my goods, I extend a cordial invitation to everybody to come and examine my goods, which consist of Clothing, Men's Furnishing Goods Hats and Caps, Boots and Shoes, and the best assortment of Trunks and Valises in the county. A Great Cause of Human Misery IS THE LOSS OF MANHOOD. A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Radical Cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermatoblastia Induced by Self-abuse, Involuntary Emission, Impotency, Nervous Debility and Impediments to Marriage generally; Consumption, Rheumatism, Mental and Physical Exhaustion, etc., etc. (JOHN T. CULVERWELL, M. D., and author of the "Green Book.")

The world-renowned author, in this admirable lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the worst consequences of Self-abuse may be speedily and permanently removed without dangerous surgical operations, tonics, stimulants, trappings and cordials, by the use of a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically. This lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands. Sent under seal in a plain envelope, in any address, post paid, on receipt of the cent of U. S. postage.
