A lawful ton of coal, as decided by the United States Circuit Court, at Philadelphia, should weigh 2,240 pounds.

The Pennsylvania Editorial Association will have its annual excursion this year to Fortress Monroe. The members will rendezvous at Baltimore on the evening of June 11th and go by boat to the Fortress.

The Reporter will not have time to go with the party this year, sorry.

DECORATION.

The decoration ceremonies, at Centre Hall, on Wednesday, 30th ult., were the most imposing and solemn yet held here. At 6 p. m. the different Sabbath schools formed in line at the lower end of town, where they were met by the Shannon Post. The Linden Hall band having arrived, the procession proceeded to the cemetery, all in line supplied with bouquets for laying upon the tombs of the dead soldiers.

The first exercise was the reading of brief but appropriate sentiments by members of the Post—Messrs. Wm. J. Thompson, Wm. Shoop, and Greg, George Boal and Thos. Palmer. The joint choir then sang a patriotic air which was elegantly performed. The squads of little boys and girls were then marched to their respective sections of the cemetery and bedecked the graves of the fallen ones with flowers, followed by music from the band. Rev. W. E. Fischer then delivered the decoration address, which was full of lofty sentiment of patriotism and eloquence, and delivered with such a clearness of voice that every one of his well-spoken sentences could be distinctly understood in the most distant part of the crowd.

Rev. Roeder followed in a short address, speaking to the purposes of the monument that honored the missing, and feelingly touched upon the sacredness of the memory of those whose bones could not be found and brought to their native soil for burial.

The choir again sang a patriotic air in most charming style, when the crowd was dismissed. The ceremonies, all through, exceeded any yet had here on Decoration day in their imposing nature and solemnity.

The Linden Hall band did itself credit by the charming music it discoursed, and our own drum-corp's wakened up the fires of patriotism by their martial music.

At Spracetown, in the afternoon, a large crowd assembled to decorate the graves of soldiers buried there. The Post of Centre Hall went there in a body, and the ceremonies passed off with becoming solemnity. An able address suited to the occasion, was delivered by Rev. Foster, of this place. We did not learn fuller particulars.

"LITTLE MAC."

Galveston, Texas, May 24.—The Fort Worth Gazette prints a four column interview with Gen. Geo. B. McClellan, in which the latter discussed matters freely. He is in Texas in the interest of a syndicate of New York capitalists who contemplate purchasing a body of land in Knox county. He thinks the South in general and Texas in particular have made wonderful progress since the war. He anticipated that the introduction of cotton factories would advance the Cotton States to the first position in the Union. The Democratic party should come out squarely for a tariff for revenue only. Absolute free trade was impossible. People would not submit to the burden of protection any longer. He believed the chances favored the election of Carlisle for Speaker of the House, but spoke very warmly of Randall's ability and services. Tilden was out of the field as a Presidential possibility, and Cleveland was never a candidate. He spoke warmly of Hancock and Bayard. It would not surprise him if the former was again the Democratic nominee. Butler and Dana were impossibilities, as none but straight Democrats should be honored. He further said that Northern capitalists were striving eagerly to possess themselves of Texas land, and that cattle raising was becoming contagious with Northern people.

The Czar is now crowned Emperor and his subjects seem to be glad and the Czar is glad too, of course. But to the people of Centre county it is of more importance that the crown has been awarded to the Philad. Branch for always selling the cheapest clothing to all men, rich and poor, high and low. These are greater benefits than any crowned head can bestow upon his subjects.
