A MODERN ABRAHAM

He Offers His Daughter as a Burnt Offering.

Crazed by Religion He Tries to Crucify His Son, but is Fortunately Prevented—His Daughter Likely to Die.

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 3.—The eastern part of this county is intensely excited over the actions of a man crazed by religion. Some months ago Sylvester Knott, a well-to-do farmer living in a comparatively isolated spot on the shore of Lake Erie, attended a meeting of the Salvation Army at Franklin. He became very much excited, and finally insane. For two weeks past he has wandered up and down the shore, declaiming on religious themes, picturing the horrors of the judgment day, and calling upon sinners to worship God or be eternally lost.

He planted a large cross in the woods on which to nail his eight-year old son, believing the boy would be tormented in hell fire forever unless he died the death of the Saviour. With almost superhuman strength Knott held the lad firmly while driving a large nail through the little fellow's hand, perfectly regardless of his piteous cries for mercy. The dreadful work was interrupted by some wood cutters who happened to be passing. Leaving his son hanging, the maniac fled, first striking down one of the rescuers with a hammer. He leaped into the lake, and as the search for him proved fruitless it was thought that he had been drowned. This was not the case, however. Before night the crazy man returned, smashed in the door of his house and knocked Mrs. Knott insensible at a single blow.

Entering a chamber in which his only daughter—Minnie, a girl of seventeen—lay asleep, he bound her hand and foot and carried her to a lonely place in the forest, where hundreds of cords of wood were piled. An altar were quickly built, and upon it the madman secured his child. "Even as Abraham did with Isaac, will I offer you as a burnt offering unto God," chanted the madman, setting the funeral pyre on fire. The flames soon reached the limbs of the girl, whose shrieks of agony and prayers for a more merciful death were music to madman's ears. Dancing around the heap on which lay the girl, he implored the Almighty to accept the sacrifice as atonement for the sinful deeds committed by him in past years.

He added fresh fuel to the altar. But help arrived in time to prevent the consummation of the fearful design. Two young men crossing the woods on their way home from a party saw a bright light, and heard the young woman's screams. One felled the father while his companion scattered the blazing wood and lifted the girl from her fiery bed. The cords that bound her limbs were transferred to those of the unconscious maniac. Miss Knott's legs are badly burned, and there are large blisters on her shoulders, arms and sides. So awful was her experience that the doors of an asylum may open to admit the daughter as well as the father. She raves night and day, and it is feared her reason is permanently dethroned.

Ten Thousand People Drowned.

THE HAGUE, Sept. 5.—The Governor of the Dutch East Indies telegraphs that the town of Telokong was probably totally destroyed by the volcanic eruption. The district in which that town is situated is entirely inaccessible, as all the roads have been obliterated. Nothing has been heard from Lampong, on the southern coast of Sumatra. Some of the lighthouses in the straits are standing, but the lights are extinct. The report of the destruction of Tjiringine by the tidal wave and the drowning of 10,000 people there is confirmed.

A BIG BLAZE.

A Baltimore Monastery Burned

While a Fair is in Progress.
BALTIMORE, Sept. 7.—St. Joseph's Passionist Monastery, a large granite building on the Frederick road, about three and a half miles from the city limits, is now a smoking ruin. A fire broke out in the building during the progress of a fair which was being held there for the benefit of the church attached to the monastery. Beside the interior of the house, many visitors and persons engaged in the management of the fair were present, and indescribable confusion followed the alarm. The fire spread rapidly, being fed by inflammable material, and was soon beyond the control of those who attempted to quell it with the insufficient means at hand. Dispatches were sent to this city asking for aid, and fire engines were sent out, but before they could reach the monastery the flames had done their work of destruction. The interior of the building was almost totally destroyed, the fire as it swept from room to room, carrying everything before it. The rooms in which the fair was being held contained a large quantity of articles of all sorts, some of them bulky, which had been contributed by friends of the institution. There were many donations from Baltimore, various merchants having contributed sets of furniture, sewing machines, and almost all kinds of articles used in housekeeping. The building is a massive structure, its dimensions being 60x250 feet. It cost $150,000. The loss by the fire will, it is estimated, amount to over $100,000.

A $15,000 Fire in Newark.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 7.—A fire broke out in the felt hat manufactory of Carl F. Seitz & Son, Nos. 27 to 25 Ward street, this city, doing damage to the amount of $15,000 and throwing 125 hands out of employment. The firm are the largest manufacturers of ladies' felt hats in this country and the present time is their busiest season, they having orders ahead for two months. An overheated stove caused the fire.

The Result of a Lover's Quarrel.

ROCKY MOUNT, Va., Sept. 7.—Rus'Hall, a young man living near here, parted from his betrothed, Miss Fannie Hopkins, in anger. It is understood that from some trivial cause the engagement was broken off. In the afternoon Miss Hopkins was walking with a young man at this place, when she was seen by Hall. He fell back from the path, and simply glanced at them. Cutting a heavy club, he skulked behind them till the young man left the girl near her gale. Hall then rushed upon her, and felled her to the ground with the club, fracturing her skull and otherwise injuring her. She begged piteously for her life, but her appeals seemed to infuriate him the more, and he only stopped when she was unable to cry longer. She is still lingering. Hall escaped.

Stephen J. Field on the Presidency.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 3.—Justice Stephen J. Field has written to Mr. William L. Royall, of this city, giving his views on the presidency. He favors a moderate tariff reform; the conciliation of the south, and thinks the federal government should refund to the southern states the cotton tax collected after the war.

Fatal Boiler Explosion.

LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 7.—The boiler of a steam thrasher on the farm of Abraham Oberholzer, in Dauphin county, exploded, instantly killing Simon Briner, the engineer, and Jacob J. Kline, both of Elizabethtown. The explosion was due to a lack of water in the boiler.

NOTICE—By virtue of authority of the powers and duties in me vested by the 11th Section of Act of Assembly of the 24th of May, 1872, all fish baskets, eel-wires, kiddies, brush or fascine nets, or any other permanently set means of taking fish in the nature of a seine, which are growing to be wasteful and extravagant modes of fishing, existing in any of the streams within Centre county, are hereby declared common nuisances and are ordered to be dismantled by their owners or managers, so as to render them no longer capable of taking or injuring fish of the streams of whatever kind, and if all such fish baskets, eel-wires, where they now exist are not destroyed or dismantled within ten days after the date of this notice, I shall proceed to remove and dismantle the same as directed by said 11th Section of Act 24th of May, 1872. T. J. DUNKLE, Sheriff, Bellefonte, Aug. 29, 1882.

Having completed shelving and fixing up my goods, I extend a cordial invitation to everybody to come and examine my goods, which consist of Clothing, Men's Furnishing Goods Hats and Caps, Boots and Shoes, and the best assortment of Trunks and Valises in the county. I haven't $40,000.00 worth of goods, I am sorry to say, but what I have is new and of the latest styles. I have good goods, and some cheap goods. I have some of the very best make of the celebrated Rochester goods. I have them to suit young and old, rich and poor. I will not boast of what I will do, but if you give me a call I will do as I always have done: treat you fair and honest and give you the value of your money, and don't you forget it.
