WE are advocates for the generous feeding both of stock and land. Within limits, and under control of discretion, bovine stock, young and old, in milk and out of it, will "pay their bite," if the bite is a generous one, but when the dence in that which is progressive, in-telligent, practical and generous: The fault with many tolks is that they either underdo or overdo a thing, and we hold by the intelligent medium. Dairy cows in milk want watching on the food question; they should have always enough, with nothing to waste. So long as they eat up cleanly with relish, and keep up in condition the rest goes well as a rule. Lavish and parsimonious feeding are equally foolish and wasteful, and the man who succeeds is ho who steers midway between these two with his stock. An enthusiastic breeder of Jersej cattle claims that Jerseys make more butter annually, compared with the food eaten, than any other breed ; that the butter is of better grain and flavor; that the cream rises quicker and the butter comes sooner; that the butter brings from 2 to 10 cents more per pound than that from other cows ; that the introduction of Jersey blood in a herd will change butter making from a dead loss to a net profit; for every cent lost on account of the Jersey's smaller carcass there are 2 cents gained on account of her better butter and lorger sunual yield.

OLD VINES. -Old vines and canes are of no use to the new ones nor to the ground, and they should be cut out at any time after the cold weather sets in. Most agricultural journals are recommending that such be cut away now, but the best time for so doing is when the earth is frozen hard and stiff. You will then also have more time for so doing.

Some 10 years ago while at the Reed House Eric, Pa., I was taken sick with the spotted fever and was very low; my back and spine cemed to be affected, with terrible pains in kidneys and back. For fourteen days I laid and could hardly stir, and suffered the most intense agony imaginable. My feet and limbs were bloated; my water was very unnatural a deep, red color and brick-dust deposit, and I was fast losing strength and vitality. The doctors treated me, but with no benefit, and my attention was called to the case of Hon. Joshua Tuthill, of East Saginaw, Mich., a similar case to mine, he being cured of a severe case of Bright's disease. I purchased a bottle, and used it according to directions I began to gain in strength; my water be came more natural; the terrible pains in the back and loins were removed; the swelling of my limbs went down. I continued th use of the medicine until I had used in al five (5) bottles, and it has built me up and completely cured me, and I am as sound and healthy as any man of forty-eight years of age, and can attend to my business every day. I have recommended Hunt's Remedy to many of my friends here in Buffalo, and it has proved, as in my case, a success with them all. Gratefully yours, CHARLES L. WEBB,

A Southern farmer writes that, while all his other grass is dried up, his lucerne Healthful stimulation is living and he has a good crop of hay. But for this he could not winter his stock. Lucerne is sometimes known as alfalfa or the California clover. It flourishes there, where nearly one-half the year passes without rain, and will therefore presumably endure all ordinary Eastern droughts.

THE pig is the only farm animal that will profitably work over the manure of other stock. If store hogs are left to run where cattle or horess are left on store grain they will earn a good part of their living by rooting among the droppings. Again their own excrement will greatly add to the value of the manure pile. In fact, mixing cow and horse manure together and letting it all be rooted over by pigs is much better than using either separately or composting in any other way.

FEED PIGS OFTEN. -It is better to feed young pigs often than to surfeit them at one feeding. Variety adds much to the progress of the young animal. and at this season growth is more desirable than fat.

Healthful Stimulation.

Diffusible stimulants, provided they be absolut ly pure, are among the most useful medicin agents employed by physicians. When the tone of the system is lowering by the depressing influences of disease, or there is an inherent want of vigor in the constitution, they serve to counteract weakening tendencies, and cheer the mind of the desponding fivalish. But when, as in the case of Hostefter's Stomach Bitters, they possess tonic and alterative properties, their effects are renand alterative properties, their effects are ren-dered permanent, and they accomplish a trebly beneficial result. The Bitters not only relieve nervous debility and mental depression, by their healthfully stimulative action, but infuse abiding vigor into the depleted system, and rectify those internal disturbances which are the real causes of weakness. The purity and the wholesomeness of the alcoholic basis of the Bitters greatly increases the efficacy of their botanic ingredients, a fact which the completeness of their curative effects sufficiently demonstrates.
