Property Endangered by Melting · Ice and Swollen Rivers.

Twelve Barges and a Steamer Torn from Their Fastenings in Penns sylvania-People Driven from Their Homes by the Water.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 1 .- The ice on the Youghiogheny and Upper Monongahela rivers has broken up. River men generally had made preparations for the protection of their property, but, notwithstanding their precautions, siderable damage was done. Near Elizabeth, twelve barges were swept away. The steamer Oella broke loo e. She struck a pier of the bridge and stove in her cabin. Several attempts were made to pull her ashore, but the current was too strong. The men abandoned her and came ashore. The dam at Leonards was completely swept away.

From Burgettstown comes the report that many families were driven out of their homes and that many homes were ruined. At West Newton and Broadford the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks are covered with water and trains are greatly delayed. A wooden bridge was swept off its piers and soon floated out of sight. Just before it went down the stage coach, loaded with six passengers, passed over.

In this city there has been no damage as yet, but the river is rising rapidly, and the prospects are that the lower part of the town will be under water. The ice has gorged at a number of places up the river, and more damage is expected in that direc-

River men are watching the Allegheny with grave fears. The ice in it is expected to come out to-morrow. It is very heavy and if it comes out with a rush will do great

WILLIAMSPORT, Feb. 1 .- Fully three feet of snow covers the ground throughout the entire mountain region. Grave apprehensions of a destructive flood in the river are now

The Susquehanna is covered from the Chesapeake to its source with ice ranging in thickness from fourteen to twenty inches. At Williamsport the dam which forms the boom, where three hundred millions of feet of lumber in the log are annually caught, is frozen to a thickness of eighteen inches. The great tributaries of the west branch are almost closed with ice.

The point where immense ice jams generally form in the river when a break-up takea place, is at a short distance above Fairandsville. Three years ago the great ice gorge here covered the track for five miles, and required the service of 500 men to cut a channel through in two days and nights. At present the ice is gorged here for nine miles to the depth of six and eight feet. If it cannot be forced out a frightful jam must be the result, which may endanger Lock Haven if it breaks, as the volume of ice and water will be irresistible when once in motion.

Superintendent Westfall, of the Eastern division of the Philadelphia and Eric Railroad, is already making preparations to combat the great ice barrier, in case the

A Destructive Ice Gorge.

Sr. Louis, Mo., Jan. 31 .- At dark the ice bridges across the Mississippi river broke and the great mass commenced moving from a point just below the bridge. The 'ce was very thick, and great consternation ensued among the crews of vessels. Fires were hurriedly made, and the shrill steam whistles brought thousands of people to the river front. The irresistible wall of ice moved on as though to carry everything down before it. The Anchor wharf boats, moored with immense chains, were the first to succumb to shock, and they were driven high upon the The wrecking steamer Salvo was crushed like an egg shell and buried out of sight beneath the ice. The St. Paul and St. Louis Packet company's fine steamer Minneapolis, valued at $40,000, was the next vessel overtaken. Her sides were also crushed in and she was totally demolished. The Salvo was valued at $10,000 and was owned by Carroll & Powell. Many other small boats were sunk or damaged, and the ice is still Toledo, O., Jan. 31.-Toledo, Ottawa, Napoleon and several points on the Maumee river are threatened with a serious ice gorge and flood. The snow along the banks of the river averages a foot in depth for forty miles up the Maumee. The ice is from one to three feet thick and has melted so fast in the last forty eight hours that the river is rising to a degree which is very alarming.

Without a Leader.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 1 .- While ex-Senator Conkling was sitting behind the counsels' desk in the Dinsmore suit, a friend approached him and asked him what he thought of the political situation. "I am taking no active interest in politics just now," said Mr. Conkling, "being fully occu-pled with legal business. I think, however, that if the republican party wins next fall it will be by means of democratic votes. I do not consider the republican party strong enough in itself to win. Democratic blunders, as usual, will give victory to the republicans. No party, like no corporation, can succeed without a leader. The republican party has no leader at present."

Gen. Hancock at Home. NEW YORK, Feb. 1 .- Gen. Hancock has again settled down at his quarters on Governor's Island, and has been decidedly improved by his jaunt through the west and south. In conversation he spoke most encouragingly of the prospects of Southern California, and was surprised to find the marked improvement which had taken place since he rode across the plains in 1858. In the southern states energetic capitalists were establishing numberless mills and factories, and the whole section impressed him as being in a flourishing condition. He feared that the fence question in Texas might result in serious consequences,

A Monument to Paine, NEW YORK, Jan. 30 .- The freethinkers of this city celebrated the 147th anniversary of the birth of Thomas Paine, at the German Masonic Temple. The attendance was very large, the principal hall being filled to its utmost capacity. Many ladies were present. The programme consisted of speaking by T. B. Wakeman, S. Putnam and others, interspersed with vocal and instrumental music. At the conclusion of the exercises, an organization to be known as "The Paine National Historical association" was formed, and a fund was started for the purpose of erecting a monument to Paine's memory.

THE CENTRE REPORTER TO REINSTATE PORTER.

Toxt of the Bill Passed by the House after an Excited Debate.

lov. Curtin's Brilliant Peroration-Fighting the Memorable Battle All Over Again-Gen. Garfield's Position in the Case.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 .- Gen. Fitz-John orter has at last been vindicated, the bill o restore him to his position in the army taving passed its biggest stumbling block by vote of 184 to 78. The debate over the bill asted until nearly eight o'clock. At times it was very spirited. The bill as passed is as

"Be it enacted by the senate and house of opresentatives of the United; States of America in congress assembled: That the president be, and he hereby is authorized to ominate and, by and with the advice and onsent of the senate, to appoint Fitz-John Porter, late a major general of the United States volunteers and a brevet brigadier teneral and colonel of the army, to to position of colonel in the army the United States, of the same grade and rank held by him at the time of his ismissal from the army by sentence of ourt martial, promulgated January 27, (6), and to place on the retired list of the rmy as of that grade, the retired list being nereby increased in number to that extent; ndall laws and parts of laws in conflict erewith are suspended for this jurpose only; but this act shall not be construed as unthorizing pay, compensation or allowance gior to the passage of this act."

The house dispensed with its morning seson and devoted the day to debate upon the iii. Mr. Wolford, of Kentucky, speaking a support of the bill, said he hoped that no man who thad served in the confederate rmy had got so angry over the fight hat after twenty years he could not an act of justice to a man who had ight against him. He hoped that no man would get up and say: "I can't vote on this sill. I am interested. I am still mad," He inderstood that his Confederate friends were here loving the flag and loving the ountry, and that they were here saying tomy and forever that they had left behind hem the bitter feelings engendered by the war an I everything that divided the country. Mr. Calkins, of Indiana, began his speech y saying he knew there was no doubt about the passage of the bill. There was t probable that the bill would pass all the way through, but if there was such a condition of affairs now he would appeal rom the action to the people. Members were asked by this bill to say, in the lanuage of the gentleman from New York Mr. Sloenm), that Abraham Lincoln and Edwin M. Stanton and Gen. Halleck conpired together to organize a court to con rict Fitz John Porter, and the gentlema ndertook to attack the name of William ' Sherman to help him out. Gen. Sherma was true to his country, and while he an Stanton had a difficulty yet, with the ger erosity of late years, the general had sai true to himself or him. If these scenes wer to be re-enacted here, there might come ime when the bugle Blast of the grand arm of the republic, by the side of their cam ires, would ask Gen. Sherman to come ou of his retirement and lead them again victory as he did before. Mr. Phelps of New Jersey spoke in favo of the bill. Speaking of Gen. Garfield's connection with the case, he read the joint resolution introduced by him for the appoint ent of a board of review, and stated the e had private letters of that gentlems which he could twist into an approval his bill, as other gentlemen had twiste private letters into a disapproval of it. The eader of the conferency went down th steps of the Capitol threatening to retur and destroy it. He failed in the attempt and yet he walked in freedom. The men who penned Union soldiers in Andersonville and Libby still lived. Officers who were trained at West Point, whose treason needed no lavestigation, were sitting in this cham-ber. Should Perter be the only victing

Should be be the sacrifice of the nation? The bill was finally reported to the house, after several attemps to kill its purpose by amendments but been defeated, and Mr. Curtin, of Pennsylvania, closed the debate with a speech in favor of the bill. In a brilliant percration, which was warmly applauded, he appealed to the house to do jus-ice to a wronged man, and at the conclusion of his speech was heartily congratulated by

The bill was then passe !, 184 to 78.

Carlisle for Senator. CINCINNATI, Feb. 2.—A special to the News-Journal from Frankfort, Ky., says: "At the beginning of the caucus several efdate after each ballot, but all voted the proposition down. Mr. Hallam appealed to Mr. Harcourt to withdraw Mr. Carlisle's name, but Mr. Harcourt refused, Mr. Robbins left the chair. He said that he was originally a Carlisle man, but felt that he reflected the wishes of that gentleman in saying that he could not be a candidate. But for the magnanimity of Mr. Blackburn, Mr.-Carlisle could not have been speaker, and it was just that Mr. Carlisle should not now be projected into this fight. Mr. Halam followed with similar remarks, saying that Mr. Carlisle could not be a contestant for this office and could not accept it unless it came to him without his seeking. In order to give the members time for reflection he moved for an adjournment, and his motion was carried by a vote of 63 to 50. There is a strong feeling that his action points to the nomination of Mr. Carlisle."

The Morey Letter Recalled. New York, Feb. 2.—In the suit of Josh Hart to recover damages for libel from George Affred Townsend the plaintiff said in regard to the famous Morey letter that he had first eeen Morey's name on the hotel register at Kirkland, Mass., in October, 79, and had subsequently seen it entered at democratic headquarters. To the naonal-democratic committee he had sent 173,000 copies of the colition of the paper containing the Chinese letter. The envelope which had held the Morey letter was produced for the inspection of the jury.

He Should Avoid Cincinnati. NEW Yors, Feb. 2.-Mr. Loon Chotteau, the most distinguished apostle of free trade in France, arrived on the steamer Grecian Monarch. In appearance he closely re-sembles Gen. Grant. M. Old people like it for its wonderful power to restore to their whitening locks their original color and beauty. Middle-aged people like it because it prevents them from getting bald, keeps dandruff away, and makes the hair grow thick and strong. Young ladies like it as a dressing because it gives the hair a beautiful glossy lustre, and enables them to dress it in whatever form they wish. Thus it is the favorite of all, and it has become so simply because it disappoints no one.
