

THE CENTRE REPORTER.

FRED. KURTZ, Editor and Prop'r.

One of the questions that threatens the harmony of the next National Republican convention is, who is the first lady of the land.

Quite a number of papers in this state are mentioning Wm. A. Wallace for president. Some favor Gov. Curtin, and some delegates have already been instructed for Sam'l J. Randall.

Quay, the Republican deputy boss, has pronounced in favor of a modification of the tariff. Don't all who have been following Quay's lead, howl at once now.

The boomlet in favor of Logan for President, is very pale and delicate and threatens to kick the bucket. It won't have a large funeral.

The Williamsport Banner says: In 1844—forty years ago—the Leaning Gazette, the only paper then published in Williamsport, was owned and printed by John B. Beck & Co. Charles D. Eldred, Esq., was editor.

We might add here, as of interest, that the press upon which the Gazette was printed, is now used in the Centre Reporter office to print posters.

A company has decided to build a rolling mill and nail works at Lewisburg, the citizens subscribed a bonus of $3000 which was accepted.

The Lewisport Free Press is now issued semi-weekly—just what the Errand has been thinking about doing for the last six months.

The Centre Democrat in making favorable comment upon the manner in which the present board of County Commissioners have managed the finances of our county, concludes with the following, which we can heartily endorse:

"Before dismissing the subject, it is but just to say that the board of commissioners were ably advised by their attorney, D. F. Fortney, Esq., on all questions of law, and his opinions on all economic methods were a departure from the usual routine of business in the office were made a necessity, have been strictly followed. He is an able counsellor, and devoted to relieving the people of all unnecessary burdens of taxation.

It now turns out that an innocent man was hung at Williamsport in 1871. Lloyd Britton, a colored man, was hanged in the jail yard of that city, by Sheriff John Platt, on March 22, 1871. Britton was arrested and charged with the murder of Jacob Bay. Bay was supposed to have been stabbed with a sharp-edged tool, thought to be a chisel, on the evening of Nov. 16, 1870.

The real murderer of Jacob Bay—although thirteen years have gone by—has been discovered, and the evidence is from the lips of the murderer himself. A mulatto, named Thompson, who recently died in Canada, while on his death bed the startling confession that he himself inflicted the wound that caused Jacob Bay's death. The confession was made in the presence of a colored man now on a visit to Williamsport. The cause for the deed, as stated by Thompson, was jealousy.

Thompson's wife, part Indian and part mulatto, was of a loose character, and Thompson was jealous of a party that visited the saloon, and especially Lloyd Britton. While Britton and Bay were in the room on the evening of Nov. 16, 1870, Thompson was in the kitchen; he blackened his face by a burnt cork and took his position near the fence, on the opposite side the road, awaiting Britton's appearance. It was Lloyd Britton that Thompson intended to stab, and not Bay. Britton escaped, probably before Thompson had left the house, and Bay coming out, he was mistaken for Britton by Thompson, and stabbed with a large knife. Thompson's disguise by blackening his face had the purpose of avoiding detection, and therefore when Britton was taken before Bay, he thought, on account of Britton's dark color, that he was the man that had stabbed him.

The Supreme Court of this state has decided in the case of Holland vs. Burns, reported in the 4th Underbridge, 206, just issued, that a letting of a house by parole for a certain sum per month, without anything being said about a year, constitutes a lease from year to year, as has been commonly supposed. And when a tenant from month to month holds over for more than a year, he does not become a tenant from year to year, but remains a tenant from month to month. The tenant in such cases is not liable for the whole year's rent, and is not entitled to three months' notice to quit. A month's notice to quit is sufficient. In cases of written leases of houses, conditions govern the agreement as contained in the body of the instrument.

Philadelphia went Republican by 10,000. They had a bad ticket but elected it by sticking to it as usual with them. Democrats can see how they do it.

FIGURES AND FACTS.

The Philadelphia Record publishes a statement prepared by a mechanic of Packerton, this state, which gives the following exhibit of the wages of skilled labor and of the cost of living in the Lehigh Valley and of Bristol, England:

Lehigh Valley, Pa.	City of Bristol, Eng.
Average wages for skilled labor.	Average wages for skilled labor.
Wages, per week.	Wages, per week.
Coal, per ton.	Coal, per ton.
Sugar.	Sugar.
Tea.	Tea.
Eggs, at present.	Eggs, all the year.
Butter.	Butter.
Soup.	Soup.
Cheese.	Cheese.
Ham.	Ham.
Beefsteak.	Beefsteak, English.
Lard.	Lard.
Men's shoes.	Men's shoes.
Men's suits.	Men's suits.

The cost of living per week would therefore be as follows:

Lehigh Valley, Pa.	City of Bristol, Eng.
Rent.	Rent.
Coal, 3 1/2 tons.	Coal, 3 1/2 tons.
Coal, 2 1/2 tons.	Coal, 2 1/2 tons.
Tea, 3 lb.	Tea, 3 lb.
Sugar, 1 doz.	Sugar, 1 doz.
Butter, 1 gal.	Butter, 1 gal.
Butter, 1 doz.	Butter, 1 doz.
Bacon, 3 lbs.	Bacon, 3 lbs.
Ham, 2 lbs.	Ham, 2 lbs.
Beefsteak, 2 lb.	Beefsteak, 2 lb.
Men's shoes, 1 pair	Men's shoes, 1 pair
Men's suits, 1 in 3 months.	Men's suits, 1 in 3 months.

Thus it appears that the skilled laborer in the Lehigh Valley saves $3.23 of his $10 per week, while his fellow workman at Bristol, England, saves $3.74 of his $9 per week. At the end of six days' toil the English workman has but 54 cents the advantage of his American brother, notwithstanding the fact that the wages of the latter are $1.00 per week more than those of the former. But a comfortable cottage rents in most of the manufacturing towns of England for $4 per month, or $1 per week. Besides the cost of clothing for women and children, not estimated above, is much less in England than in this country. On the whole the English workman buys with his week's wages of $9.00 what would cost not less than $12.00 here; so that when the skilled laborer in this country gets $10.00 per week, he is really $2.00 per week worse off than the Englishman. And this is the sort of protection the workingman gets from a high tariff.

AN EXTEMPORANEOUS SERMON.
The Rev. Dr. Dodd, who lived near Cambridge, England, had rendered himself obnoxious to many of his students by frequently preaching against drunkenness. Several of them met him on the highway and determined to make him preach in a hollow tree which was near the roadside. According to y, addressing him with apparent politeness, they asked him if he had not lately preached against drunkenness. He replied he had, and they insisted that he should now preach from a text of their choosing. In vain did he remonstrate on the unreasonableness of expecting to give a discourse without study, and in such a place. They were determined to take no denial, and the word "malt" was given him for a text, on which he immediately delivered himself as follows: "Beloved, let me crave your attention—I am a little man, come at a short warning to preach a short sermon, from a small subject, in an unworthy pulpit, to a small congregation. Beloved, my text is 'malt.' I cannot divide it into words, there being but one; nor into syllables, there being but one. I must, therefore, necessarily, divide it into letters, which I find to be these four—M, A, L, T. 'M' is my beloved, 'M' is moral, 'A' is allegorical, 'L' is literal, and 'T' is theological. The Moral is set forth to teach you drunkards good manners; therefore, M, master, A, all of you, L, listen, T, to the text. The Allegorical is when one thing is spoken and another is meant. The thing spoken of is 'Malt'; the thing meant is the juice of malt, and of which you drunkards make M, meat. The Literal is according to the letter—M, much, A, all, L, little, T, thrift. The Theological is according to the effects that it works, and these I find to be of two kinds; first, in this world; secondly, in the world to come. The effects it works in this world are—M, murder, A, adultery, L, looseness of life, T, torment. So much for the text. I shall speak first by way of exhortation: M, my master, A, all of you, L, leave off, T, tipping. Secondly, by way of excommunication: M, master, A, all of you, L, look for T, torment. Thirdly, by way of caution take this: A drunkard is the annoyance of modesty, the spoil of civility, the destruction of reason, the brewer's agent, the all-house benefactor, his wife's sorrow, his children's trouble, his own shame, his neighbor's scorn, a walking swill bowl, the picture of a beast, and the monster of a man." He then concluded in his usual form, and the young men, pleased with his ingenuity, not only thanked him, but absolutely profited more by this short and whimsical sermon than by any serious discourse they had ever heard.

A VICTIM OF MORPHINE.

Suicide of Mrs. Usher, the Heroine of the Haverstick Tragedy.
New York, Feb. 15.—Mrs. Emma Usher, a sister of George W. Conkling, who shot and killed William H. Haverstick, a broker, in the Paris flats on West Twenty-third street, died from morphine poisoning in the New York hospital. After the trial of Conkling he and his sister went west and for a time the police lost track of her. About six months ago she returned to the city and since lived a very fast life, and associated with questionable characters. Mrs. Usher has frequently been arrested for disorderly conduct. Last Friday Mrs. Usher rented a room from Mrs. Adams, who keeps a boarding-house at No. 38 West Twenty-ninth street. She called herself Mrs. Haight, and paid $4 on account of her board. Since that day she kept her bed, saying she was sick. Late Wednesday night the servant, Margaret Hally, heard her groan, and going in found her unconscious. The police were called and she was removed to the New York hospital, where she died three minutes after her reception. A bottle found by her bed contained morphine, and her symptoms clearly indicated poisoning by that drug. The shooting of Wilbur H. Haverstick, by George W. Conkling, Jr., occurred on March 20th last, in the Paris flats, No. 341 West Twenty-third street. Mr. Usher, the husband of the dead woman, was a broad street broker nearly eleven years ago. They had several children. They lived happily together until Haverstick was brought into the family as a boarder.

Parson Newman's Troubles.
New York, Feb. 15.—About 150 members of the Madison Avenue Congregational church adopted resolutions that the best interests of the church, required the discontinuation of the ministerial services of the Rev. Dr. J. P. Newman, to take effect after March 31, 1884. A resolution was also adopted condemning the action of the trustees for refusing to allow the meeting to be held in the vestry of the church. It was decided to call a council of pastors and delegates of Congregational churches, at which the difficulties of the church will be submitted. Among those who will be invited to attend are Dr. Storrs; President Williams; Dr. Amherst; Rev. Dr. Rankin, Washington; Dr. Dexter, Boston; Rev. Dr. Taylor, New Jersey, and Rev. George F. Pritchard, New York.
Dr. Newman and his friends met at the residence of J. H. Seymour, No. 144 West Fifty-third street. They had sent a stenographer to report the proceedings of the Haverstick meeting, who read his report amid the derisive comment and laughter of Mr. Newman's friends. The Newman faction said that the great majority of those who attended Dr. Haverstick's meeting were not attendants at the church services.

Murdered Catherine Broderhoff.
New York, Feb. 13.—The trunk belonging to Catherine Broderhoff, the murdered girl, whose body was found under a bridge near Elmira, is at the Eldridge street police station. It contains a large quantity of clothing, a certificate of her baptism and other papers. Mr. E. Ritsch, from whose boarding house the trunk was taken to the police station, said: "About four or five weeks ago—I do not remember the exact date, but I know it was on Saturday—a man who said his name was Meinke came about 9 o'clock in the morning to my house, bringing a trunk, and said he wanted a room. He said he had been about a year in this country and that he was going to see rich uncle. I let him have a room. He then came down to my bar in the basement and had some drinks, which he paid for, but he did not pay me for the room. He said, on going away, that he would be back on the following Monday morning, but he never returned. I would know him again if I should see him."

Greedy Stockholders.
Boston, Feb. 15.—The joint judiciary committee of the house of representatives has been asked to investigate and report whether the Boston and Albany Railroad company has divided among its stockholders, without consideration, all stock purchased of the company under the provisions of chapter 121 of the acts of 1852, and if so, whether such action is in accordance with the true intent and legal import of said act; and that said committee have authority to send for persons and papers. It is alleged that the stockholders scooped in $5,000,000 by a recent transaction that was not fully covered by the law.

Improvements in the Canals.
New York, Feb. 13.—The plans to improve the lockage capacity of the Erie canal, now before the New York legislature, consists in lengthening the present locks 200 feet, as is recommended by the comptroller, who says: "If one tier of locks should be lengthened so as to admit of the passage of two boats simultaneously, the boats could be run in couples, at a large saving in expense, and as speedily as single boats. This improvement would be equivalent to an enlargement, and would insure the general adoption of steam power as a motor."

The New Haven Mystery Solved.
New York, Feb. 13.—Mrs. Davis, the widow mother of the drowned man, George C. Davis, found in the river at New Haven, Ct., Sunday, has been spending the winter here with her aunt. George Davis was well educated and a good musician. He was a New York bookkeeper and was born and raised there. He was never married. Mrs. Davis was also born in New York, and has her residence there now. Charles Cannon, of Irvington, N. Y., a brother-in-law of the deceased, will take charge of his remains.

Jefferson Must Hang.
BROOKLYN, Feb. 13.—In the general term of the supreme court the conviction of Alexander Jefferson for murder in the first degree was confirmed. Jefferson, who is a negro, in a fit of jealous rage, shot and killed Hilda and Emma Jackson at No. 177 Buffalo avenue, Brooklyn. He was convicted and sentenced to be hanged in July last, but the appeal taken by his counsel to the general term operated as a stay of proceedings. The case will now be taken to the court of appeals.

Starting Statement of American Naval Decadence.
The Public Debt—The Duty on Wool—Popular Elections—Workingmen Moving on Congress—Southern Outrages.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The reduction of the public debt during the month of January was $119,580.04. The cash in the treasury on January 21st was $393,415,233. The reduction of the debt since January 30, 1883, was $65,007,487. The gold certificates outstanding are $101,350,030; silver certificates outstanding, $110,137,031; fractional currency certificates outstanding, $16,880,000; fractional currency outstanding, $6,987,750; gold tenders outstanding, $46,681,016; refunding certificates outstanding, $30,700.
The senate committee on privileges and elections will meet to-day to consider how to make the investigation of political outrages in Virginia and Mississippi, called for by the Sherman resolution adopted on Tuesday. The members of the committee are undecided as to the wisest plan to adopt. There is considerable talk about sending sub-committees to the two states to make inquiries in the way of this course. The resolution as passed by the senate made no provision for an investigation outside of Washington, and to do so, the committee would have to get special permission from the senate. Then, too, only the chairman of a committee is allowed by the statutes to administer oaths, so that if the sub-committees desired to take sworn testimony they would have to be made special committees of the senate. It would be inconvenient for the prominent members of the election committee to leave the capital for some time. Mr. Hoar, for example, has his hands full of work, as a member of the judiciary committee, the chairman of which, Mr. Edmunds, has to devote most of his time to the duties of presiding officer of the senate. Mr. Sherman is also very busy with measures before the finance committee. The committee members are also undecided whether to investigate first one state and then the other, or to go on with both at the same time. It is probable, however, that both investigations will be begun here, and that the question of sending out sub-committees will be left until the committee can judge what to do from the results of its work here. regard will be paid to this respect to the wishes of senators on the democratic side.

Admiral Porter, Roger and Jenkins and a large delegation of officers of the navy made arguments before the senate committee on naval affairs in favor of the construction of additional ships of war. In the last Congress it was enacted that the secretary of the navy should not repair any vessels in the service whose cost of the same should exceed 20 per cent. of the original cost of the ship. The startling statement is made that unless this law is repealed or amended there will not be half a dozen ships of the American navy afloat at the expiration of two years. The naval officers urged upon the committee the necessity for the prompt completion of the new cruisers, now being constructed, and also for the building of other new ships of war. It is proposed also to amend the law, so as to allow repairs on old vessels to be made up to the amount of 50 per cent. instead of 20 per cent. of original cost. Admiral Porter thought the advisory board should put more sail power on the new cruisers. He favored steam as an auxiliary to sail power, while the board wished to make sail simply an auxiliary to steam power. All the officers who spoke expressed their confidence that the new cruisers would be first class in all respects.

The Ohio legislature has asked the representatives of that state to vote for a restoration of the old duty on wool. Mr. Hurd proposes to disregard these instructions, and he wants to tell the house and the country his reasons for disobedient conduct. The farmers of the Buckeye state have presented hundreds of petitions to congress for the restoration of the wool duty, and the demerits say it will be impossible for them to carry the state next fall unless the duty is reimposed. On Monday next Mr. Converse will be recognized to move to suspend the 'dies to fix an early day for the consideration of his bill restoring the wool duty. Converse will advocate the motion and Hurd will oppose it. A two-thirds vote is required to suspend the rules, and it is not probable Mr. Converse's motion will prevail.

Senator Jenckles reintroduced in the senate his joint resolution of the last congress proposing such an amendment of the constitution of the United States as will provide for the election by the people of postmasters, marshals, district attorneys of the United States and all such other civil officers of the United States as exercise executive or ministerial power within the several states or territories and in districts composed of the whole or a part of any state or territory.

The first move of the workmen on congress was made by a Pittsburg delegation. This represents the working interests of the Iron and Steel association and the Miners' union respectively. The delegation will have a hearing before the labor committee, of which Mr. Hopkins, of Pennsylvania, is chairman. This is the first statement of what may be expected of the latter committee this session. It is said that quite a number of delegations from other labor organizations in the United States will be here before the session is well on.

Why is it so many suffer from rheumatism, aches, pains, kidney disease, liver complaints, heart affections, etc.? It is simply because they will not come and be healed. All diseases begin from the want of iron in the blood. This want of iron makes the blood thin, watery and impure. Impure blood carries weakness and distress to every part of the body. Supply this lack of iron by using Brown's Iron Bitters and you will soon find your self enjoying perfect freedom from aches, pains and general ill-health.

Opening the Fountains.
In numerous halls beneath the skin is secreted the liquid substance which makes the hair its texture, color and gloss. When this secretion stops, the hair begins at once to become dry, brittle and gray. It is the condition of your hair? If so, apply Parker's Hair Balsam at once. It will restore the color, gloss and life by renewing the action of nature. The balsam is not an oil, not a dye, but an elegant toilet article, highly appreciated because of its cleanliness.

MADISONBURG CHIPS.
Madisonburg, I suppose, is unknown to a majority of the "Reporter" readers, hence a location of the place is necessary. It is situated on the east of Centre Hall, 5 miles north of Millheim, 4 miles west of Rebersburg and 2 miles west of Centre Hall. The place is a considerable town, and has a bank line which leaves here every morning at 11 1/2 o'clock and returns at 2 1/2 p. m. Lock Haven is 12 miles distant in an easterly direction, and Bellefonte 23 miles a north-west. At present the nearest railroad point is Coburn station, 6 miles from here. Our town at present contains two general stores, hotel, livery stable, two blacksmith shops, three shoe-making shops, two wagonmakers, a harness shop, a mill, merchant, two saloons, two dentists, two doctors, and all are doing a brisk business. Our town also boasts of several pretty residences. It would be a good idea to predict before long it will be able to cope with any town in Centre or Clinton counties, although there are some towns in the latter county. This town is growing every day; the whole country surrounding it is underlaid with a vein of iron ore. There is a valuable vein of iron ore under the surface which will prove profitable to its several owners. The year past proved quite a success to our merchants, but they expect to have the trade doubled the present year. A bridge has been put across Klinefelter creek, near the fountain, which is a great improvement. Another store will be opened, shortly, in town. A good many papers are publishing lists of old friends in their respective localities. We would want our lives insured before attempting anything of that kind here. To the shame of young Americans be it said that there is a dropping off in attendance at the Sunday School since the good old days of Santa Claus when mysterious packages were handed around. Here must soon commence working on full time for Easter will be before they know it. Hand-shaking is again getting fashionable, especially among the ladies. It is singular fact that a girl, who, when she is alone, can put her hands on the top rail of a fence and skip over, like a lamb at play, will, when her hair is long, give him as much trouble in getting her over as though she were a rheumatic locomotive.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE AT BOALSBERG.
The local institute which was held in our village convened in session in the Lutheran church evening of 24 inst, and was a grand success in point of interest and numbers. Session opened with music entitled "Joyfully" and devotional exercises were conducted by Sup't D. M. Wolf. G. W. Williams was chosen Secretary. The address of welcome was delivered by Miss Jennie Kahn, of the High-school, in a clear and forcible manner, and bore evidence of prudent and careful thought. Sup't Wolf replied complimenting the lady for her elegant presentation, and the directors and citizens for their evident interest in educational matters, by their presence at the institute. Rev. G. S. Johnson, of the church, delivered an address on the subject, "The Relation of Teachers to the Subjective and Objective." After his address the good old days of Santa Claus when mysterious packages were handed around. Here must soon commence working on full time for Easter will be before they know it. Hand-shaking is again getting fashionable, especially among the ladies. It is singular fact that a girl, who, when she is alone, can put her hands on the top rail of a fence and skip over, like a lamb at play, will, when her hair is long, give him as much trouble in getting her over as though she were a rheumatic locomotive.
