

THOUSANDS HASTENED TO THEIR GRAVES. Relying on testimonials written in vivid glowing language of some miraculous cures made by some largely puffed up doctor or patent medicine has hastened thousands to their graves; believing in their almost insane faith that the same miracle will be performed on them, and that these testimonials make the cures, while the so-called medicine is all the while hastening them to their graves. We have avoided publishing testimonials, as they do not make the cures, although we have A Losing Job.

A prominent physician of Pittsburgh said to a lady patient who was complaining of her continued illness and of his inability to cure her, jokingly said: "Try Hop Bitters." The lady took it in earnest and used the Bitters, from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not well pleased with it, as it cost him a patient.

Fees of Doctors.
The fee of doctors is an item that very many persons are interested in. We believe the schedule for visits is $3, which would tax a man confined to his bed for a year, and in need of a daily visit, over $1,000 a year for medical attendance alone. And one single bottle of Hop Bitters taken in time would save the $1,000 and all the year's sickness.

A Lady's Wish.
"Oh, how I do wish my skin was as clear and soft as yours," said a lady to her friend. "You can easily make it so," answered the friend. "How?" inquired the lady. "By using Hop Bitters, which makes pure, rich blood and blooming health. It did it for me as you observe."

Given Up by the Doctors.
"It is possible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?" "I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters, and only ten days ago his doctors gave him up and said he must die, from Kidney and Liver trouble."

"Will the coming man smoke?" was asked by Prof. Fisk in his charming pamphlet. He says, moreover, that the rational way to use tobacco is through the pipe. All agree that only the best tobacco should be used. Which is the best? That to which Nature has contributed the most exquisite flavors. Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco fills the bill completely. Nearly two-thirds of all the tobacco grown on the Golden Tobacco Belt of North Carolina goes into the manufacture of Blackwell's Bull Durham. They buy the pick of the entire section. Hence Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco is the best of that tobacco. Don't be deceived when you buy. The Bull Durham mark is on every genuine package.

PROGRAM OF THE SUMMER MEETING OF THE STATE BOARD OF AGRICULTURE.

The state board of Agriculture will meet at Lock Haven on the 11th and 12th of June. Gov. Pattison, Hon. J. Simpson Africa, secretary of internal affairs, Prof. G. W. Asherton, president Pennsylvania State college; Hon. Leonard Rhoads, master Pennsylvania state grange; Rev. James Calder, lecturer Pennsylvania state grange; Prof. W. J. Jordan, chemist of the board, and Dr. H. Luffman, microscopist of the board, have promised to be present and to participate in the proceedings. All the sessions will be public. Excursion tickets to and from Lock Haven can be procured upon orders from Thomas J. Edge, secretary of the board, Harrisburg.

The programme will be opened on Wednesday morning, June 11, at 9 o'clock, by an address of welcome by Lieutenant Wm. Hayes and a reply on behalf of the board by Governor Pattison. On Wednesday afternoon essays will be read as follows: "The proper time to cut timber," M. W. Oliver, of Crawford; "Farmers' Garden," Rev. James Calder; "Winter and spring care of farm stock," A. D. Stutton, of Indiana; "Renting farms—a money rent vs. a share of the crops," Hon. M. C. Messel, of Venango. In the evening Dr. H. Luffman and Dr. A. N. Robb, of Lock Haven, will speak of "the methods and results of some recent tests of farm products, etc." and "the elements of agricultural science." On Thursday morning the following subjects will be discussed: "Country Roads," John A. Woodward, assistant editor of Farm Journal; "The Mistake of Clinton County Farmers," George J. Eldred, of Clinton county; "Forests and Rainfall," secretary; "Tobacco Culture," C. S. McCormick, Esq., of Lock Haven. Thursday afternoon will be occupied by the consideration of the following subjects: "The results of some experiments in field and farm," Prof. W. H. Jordan; "The Proper Care and Use of the Farm Horse," J. W. Mather, of Tioga; "A Good Farmer," Hon. C. C. Messel, of Somerset; "Farm Economy," J. A. Herr, of Clinton. The session of the evening will be devoted to the consideration of such topics as may be called upon by those present, or to the consideration of such topics not exhausted at the preceding sessions. It is also expected that essays upon other topics will be presented.

DO YOU WANT TO MAKE MONEY?
No man of good habits, and willing to work can fail in my business. I am paying large salaries, with expenses, furnishing a costly outfit free, and can give the right man the year around. I can employ 50 more at once! My business is increasing every month, and if you mean business—whether you ever canvassed or not—send for terms and I will soon have you make money. LIABILITY FOR ACTS OF HIRED MEN.
Few farmers have a correct idea of the extent of their liability for acts of hired help. Judge Farish, in a late address before the Grand Rapids (Michigan) farmers' club, explained the rules of the common law in relation to the tort and negligence of farm employes. The essential portions of his remarks we condense for the readers. The farmer, according to this authority, "is responsible in damages to third persons for wrong acts or negligences of hired help occasioning injury, whether the act be one of omission; whether in conformity to his orders or even in disobedience to them, by negligence, fraud, deceit, or even willful misconduct, so long as it was in the course of the employment." For instance: The farmer has a horse affected with glanders or heaves and he orders his hired man to take it out on the road and sell it or trade it off. He is told not to warrant or recommend the horse, or to resort to any jockey tricks in order to make a sale. The first person met is stumped for a trade. The hired man is asked if the horse is sound, and he answers, "Perfectly so," and, at a moment's fault about him; and that he would not be afraid to warrant him." The trade is made, and the employer is liable for the deceit, because the swindle was in the course of the employment.

A hired man is driving a neighbor's cow out of his employer's cornfield, killed it with a stone. The court held the employer liable for the value of the cow. A hired man taking by mistake a bag of barley instead of oats, fed some of the grain to the horses, puts a clevis in the bag and left it in the old place, saying nothing about the matter. The farmer filed the bag with ears of corn and took it to mill; in grinding the clevis injured the cracker. The farmer was held for the damage.

A farmer is liable for trespass of his hired man, done honestly in the course of his employment—such as cutting timber on land of an adjacent proprietor. It being the duty of the employe to unload a certain load of wood, and by throwing it overboard he accidentally or purposely wounds a by-stander, the employer is liable. But if the unloading was no part of his duty at the time, there would be no liability. The test of responsibility is not whether the act was done according to instructions, but whether done in the prosecution of the work he was doing for his employer. If a hired man, in performing a particular act in a particular manner, departs from instructions to inflict a wanton injury on a third person, the employer is not liable.

George Campbell, Hopkinsville, Ky., says: Bordeck Blood Bitters is the best preparation for the blood and stomach ever manufactured.

The Lemoyne crematory at Washington, Pa., is overworked. It came to the demands upon it. Bodies for incineration have been shipped from all parts of the country, and the capacity of the furnace has been so severely taxed that the managers have concluded to shut down on the general public. On and after August next, no bodies will be incinerated save those furnished by Washington county. As the industry of cremating human bodies is now properly recognized, it is presumed that furnaces will be at once established to meet the growing demands of the section.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a highly concentrated extract of Sarsaparilla, and other blood purifying roots, combined with iodide of potassium and iron. Its control over scrofulous diseases is unequalled by any other medicine.

THE FACTORY GIRLS OF LONDON.

There is, however, below the shop girls, the dress-makers, the servants, and the working girls whom the world knows, a very large class of women whom the world does not know, and is not anxious to know. They are the factory hands of London; you can see them, if you wish, trooping out of the factories and places where they work any Saturday afternoon, and thus get them, so to speak, in the lump. Their amusement seems to consist of nothing but walking about the streets two or three abreast, and they laugh and shout as they go so noisily that they must be extraordinarily happy. These girls are, I am told, for the most part so ignorant and helpless that many of them do not know even how to use a needle; they cannot read, or if they can, they never do; they carry the virtue of independence as far as they are able, and insist on living by themselves, two sharing a single room; nor will they brook the least interference with their freedom, even from those who try to help them. Who are their friends, what becomes of them in the end, why they all seem to be about eighteen years of age, at what period of life they begin to get tired of walking up and down the streets, who their sweethearts are, what are their thoughts, what are their hopes—these are questions which no man can answer, because no man could make them communicate their experiences and opinions. Perhaps only a Bible-woman or two know the history, and could tell it, of the London factory girl. Their pay is said to be wretched, whatever work they do; their food, I am told, is insufficient for young and hearty girls, consisting generally of tea and bread or bread and butter for breakfast and supper, and for dinner a lump of fried fish and a piece of bread. What can be done? The proprietors of the factory will give no better wages, the girls cannot combine, and there is no one to help them. One would not willingly add another to the "rights" of man or woman; but surely, if there is such a thing as a "right," it is that a day's labor shall earn enough to pay for sufficient food, for shelter and for clothes. As for the amusements of these girls, it is a thing which may be considered when something has been done for their material condition. The possibility of amusement only begins when we have reached the level of the well-fed. Great Gaster will let no one enjoy play who is hungry. Would it be possible, one asks in curiosity, to stop the noisy and mirthless laughter of these girls with a hot supper of chops fresh from the grill? Would they, if they were first well fed, incline their hearts to rest reflection, instruction and a little music?

PULLED FROM HIS DEN.
A correspondent of Forest and Stream relates how a man named Lynch in New Brunswick once hauled a live bear with a yoke of steers. He says: "Mr. Lynch was drawing logs on a single bob-axle, an affair consisting of two runners, with one strongly braided bench or 'bunk.' He noticed a hole near the base of a stump, around which the snow was melting, and he stopped his steers to prospect. He found that the cavity beneath contained a bear, and that it was large enough for him to move around quite freely. Lynch enlarged the entrance and stirred Bruin up, but all attempts to inflict a mortal wound with his axe were futile. He thought his chances would be better if he could get the bear out.

Taking his "tow chain," one end of which was fast to his bunk, he slipped the double of the chain back through a ring on the other end and made a noose, which he dropped over Bruin's head. He then gave the steers the haul-away word. They brought the bear to the surface, but becoming frightened at the sight of the bear at the other end of the line, they broke for the camp in the wildest sort of a run, Lynch following as fast as he could. The bear, forgetting that the steers, besides outnumbering him, had him at a decided disadvantage, would "set down the foot of his power" to stop the cattle, only to be dragged off his feet and convinced that he was a very poor anchor.

The steers reached the camp and rushed into the stable. They broke loose from the sled when it wedged into the doorway, and left Bruin picketed to the bunk. Lynch summoned the rest of the crew, and, lashing the bear to the bunk, took him to the settlement alive.

A FOOLISH SUPERSTITION.
Among the popular ideas prevailing at the present time with regard to a mad dog, is the belief that persons who may have been bitten by the animal a long time previously, and when it was healthy, are in danger of developing hydrophobia upon its subsequent appearance in the dog. This subject would seem almost too ridiculous to mention, were it not so commonly that a dog who bites a person maliciously is almost invariably killed with the sole intention of rendering the human being secure from hydrophobia. A little reflection should convince those who entertain this foolish superstition that by killing the animal they are depriving themselves of the only means of certainty as to its actual condition; for, if the first stages of rabies, it must exhibit pronounced symptoms within a very few days; whereas, if it remains healthy, by no possibility can the person bitten suffer other consequences than those arising from an ordinary wound.

SPRING WITHOUT BLOSSOM.

Late in Life to Look for Joy—Yet Never Too Late to Mend.
Readers of Hawthorne's "House of Seven Gables" will recall the pathos with which poor Clifford Pyncheon, who had been unjustly imprisoned since his early manhood, said, after his release: "My life is gone, and where is my happiness? Oh! give me my happiness." But that could be done only in part, as beams of warm sunshine occasionally fell across the gloom of a New England autumn day.

In a letter to Messrs. Hiscox & Co., Mr. L. H. Titus, of Pennington, N. J., says: "I have suffered untold misery from childhood from chronic diseases of the bowels and diarrhoea, accompanied by great pain. I sought relief at the hands of physicians of every school and used every patent and domestic remedy under the sun. I have at last found in PARKER'S TONIC a complete specific, preventive cure. As your invaluable medicine, which did for me what nothing else could do, is entitled to the credit of my getting back my happy days, I cheerfully and gratefully acknowledge the fact."

Mrs. E. S. Wells, who needs no introduction to the people of Jersey City, adds the following: "The testimony of Mr. Titus is genuine and voluntary; only he does not adequately portray the suffering he has endured for many years. He is my brother-in-law and I know the case well. He is now perfectly free from all troubles, and enjoys health and life, ascribing it all to Parker's Tonic." 22an3y4

His Slippery Glass Eye.
"The Squire," says the author of "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," wore one glass and a wig. The glass eye was constantly slipping out of focus, and he wig turning around sideways on his head whenever he addressed the people of Flat Creek District." Had spectacle. Parker's Hair Balm preserves and promotes the growth of the natural hair. It also restores the nature of the hair which has faded or become gray. Clean, elegant, beautiful, highly perfumed. 64 ap 2
