

THOUSANDS HASTENED TO THEIR GRAVES.
Relying on testimonials written in vivid glowing language of some miraculous cures made by some largely puffed up doctor or patent medicine has hastened thousands to their graves; believing in their almost insane faith that these miracle will be performed on them, and that these testimonials make the cure, while the so-called medicine is all the time hastening them to their graves. We have avoided publishing testimonials, as they do not make the cures, although we have Thousands Upon Thousands of them, the most wonderful cures, voluntarily sent us. It is our medicine, Hop Bitters, that makes the cures. It has never failed and never can. We will give references to any one for any disease similar to their own if desired, or will refer to any neighbor, as there is not a neighborhood in the known world but can show its cures, by Hop Bitters.

A Losing Joke.
A prominent physician of Pittsburgh said to a lady patient who was complaining of her continued ill health, end of his inability to cure her, jokingly said: "Try Hop Bitters." The lady took it in earnest and used the bottle from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.

Fees of Doctors.
The fee of doctors is an item that very many persons are interested in. We believe the schedule for visits is $3, which would tax a man confined to his bed for a year, and in need of a daily visit, over $1,000 a year for medical attendance alone. And one single bottle of Hop Bitters taken in time would save the $1,000 and all the year's sickness.

A Lady's Wish.
"Oh, how I do wish with my skin was as clear and soft as yours," said a lady to her friend. "You can easily make it so," answered the friend. "How?" "I required the lady to use Hop Bitters, which makes pure, rich blood and becoming health. It did it for me as you observe."

Given Up by the Doctors.
"Is it possible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?"
"I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters, and only ten days ago his doctors gave him up and said he must die, from Kidney and Liver trouble."

The best evidence in the world of the purity and excellence of the Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco is found in the fact that the fame of this tobacco increases from year to year. This could not be the case if it were merely "puffed up" or had any dubious or dangerous ingredients in it. Among millions of users of all nationalities, surely some one would find out if it were impure, injurious or unreliable. For 15 years this tobacco has been acknowledged to be the best in the world, and every year the Bull Durham brand grows more popular, the demand for it wider, and the more enthusiastic the praise.

There is no mischief done where Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco is used.

FROM THE PRESIDENT OF BAYLOR UNIVERSITY.
"Independence, Texas, Sept. 25, 1892.
Gentlemen:
Ayer's Hair Vigor

Has been used in my household for three seasons:—
1st. To prevent falling out of the hair.
2d. To prevent too rapid change of color.
3d. As a dressing.
It has given entire satisfaction in every instance. Yours respectfully,
WM. CAREY CHASE."

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR is entirely free from uncleanly, dangerous, or injurious substances. It prevents the hair from turning gray, restores gray hair to its original color, prevents baldness, preserves the hair and promotes its growth, cures dandruff and all diseases of the hair and scalp, and is, at the same time, a very superior and desirable dressing.

ELEVEN MEN DROWNED NEAR HELENA, MONTANA.

Helena, Montana, June 10.—While the ferry boat at Thompson's Falls was crossing the river on Sunday afternoon, the cable broke and the boat went over the falls 300 yards below. The boat had on board eleven men bound for the Coeur D'Alene mines, and thirteen pack horses, each carrying 300 pounds of supplies for Eagle City. The current was very swift and powerful. As soon as the cable broke all the passengers except two jumped over board and struggled vainly to reach the shore, but were swept over the falls. The boat righted after going over the brink and lodged against Belknap bridge, a short distance below, where the two passengers who clung to the boat were rescued. Two men on shore took a skiff and tried to effect the rescue of those who jumped into the water, but were also swept over the falls. All were strangers going to the mines and their names are not known. All the pack animals were drowned.

THREE VILLAGES WRECKED BY STORM.

Atchison, Kan., June 10.—Information has just been received of a destructive wind storm in the western portion of the state. At 6 o'clock in the evening at Cawker City the wind blew straight from the northwest with fearful velocity. The First National Bank building was forced from its foundation and carried away. About thirteen dwellings were either unroofed, demolished or wrecked in some manner. Many business houses were twisted from their foundations and had their fronts blown in. At Warwick, the storm was also severe; many houses were blown down, others unroofed, with chimneys, out-houses and fences totally destroyed. At Hardy, Nebraska, thirteen cars were blown from the track and wrecked, while other damages to houses and stores, etc., is reported. The rain fell in torrents and covered the ground completely in many places.

Fans and parasols—Garmans.

The Times Washington special of 12 says: Very little was talked of to-day but the Tilden letter of withdrawal. The subject fairly divided the time with the river and harbor bill in the house, over which a hot fight was in progress, and senators hung about the cloak rooms engaged on the same absorbing topic. It is regarded as a very curious circumstance that a thing which was so confidently predicted and so apparently inevitable should create such confusion and excitement when it came. Everybody has been discussing the probability of Tilden's declination of the Presidential candidacy for the last month, yet last night when it was rumored that the letter had actually at last been given to the press very few could be found that believed the statement. To-day the comment is very active and the would-be managers and candidate boomers are as busy as bees puffing their favorite candidate.

LAND SINKS OVER A COAL MINE.

Wilkesbarre, June 10.—A serious cave-in occurred last night at No. 4 Colliery of the Delaware, Lackawana and Western Coal Company, at Poke Hollow, a small mining village about 5 miles from this city. About four acres of ground settled, the fall at some points being over 2 feet. Twenty miners' houses stood on this land and not one escaped injury. Some were completely wrecked. A double house owned by Kirkland McDougall was reduced to ruins and Kirkland, who was in bed at the time, was buried in the debris, sustaining perhaps fatal injuries. Another man was badly hurt and several persons slightly by falling plaster.

MASSACRE AT BERBER.

Cairo, June 10.—Reports have reached here to the effect that the rebels June days ago massacred Hossien Fasha Khali, commander at Berber, and his family; the garrison, which was faithful to the Khedive, and the European traders who remained there.

BEN BUTLER'S NERVE.

Butler would have made a duellist of himself had he been born in a State and at a time when the code of honor held good. But beau-cating Massachusetts never fights duels, and Butler's nerve has had to be expended in other ways. A notable instance of this occurred in 1856 when Ben Butler was a young practitioner at Lowell. The Buchanan campaign was in full progress, and a great meeting was being held in the largest hall of the city. Rufus Choate, the great lawyer, was addressing the meeting, and his eloquence had thrown them into the wildest enthusiasm, when a jar was felt and a crash was heard. The cry went forth "The floor is sinking." Every one turned pale, and the audience rose for a stampede, when Ben Butler came to the front of the platform beside Mr. Choate, and, calling upon the audience to halt, said there was no danger; that the architect of the building was present, and that he would go with him and examine the building, and report to allay their fears. This quieted the audience.

Butler and the architect made an immediate examination of the hall, and found the danger very great. Butler at once returned, and smilingly assured the audience there was no present danger; but, as the hall was overcrowded, he advised them to quietly adjourn to the public square, and there Mr. Choate would finish his speech. The crowd went quietly out, and the catastrophe was averted. As Butler stepped on the platform he had whispered to Mr. Choate with a half laugh, in order to deceive the audience. This is what he said: "Mr. Choate, I must clear this house or we shall all be in hell in five minutes."

CUNIGUNDA'S PUNISHMENT.

In ancient times, the daughter of the lord of Kienast Castle, in Prussia, named Cunigunda, who was as cold and hard-hearted as she was beautiful, made a vow to accept no one as a lover who should not previously ride round the castle on the top of the outer wall. The castle was perched on a rock detached from the main body of the mountain, and its walls rose from the brink of almost perpendicular precipices, so that it was accessible only on one side, by a drawbridge. Cunigunda, had many suitors; but upon the above announcement the greater number retired; a few made the attempt, and were dashed to pieces in the terrible abyss. The lady showed no compunction or pity; she desired to remain single, and was glad to be relieved from the importunities of so many lovers, all of whom were equally indifferent to her. At last a knight presented himself to try the perilous task, whose manly beauty and engaging manners interested her so much, that she repented of her vow, and with fear and trembling beheld him mount the wall upon his steed. To her great joy he performed the exploit in safety; but, to her surprise, when she advanced to throw herself into his arms, as her destined bridegroom, instead of a kiss he gave her a box on the ear, and a smart reproof, and then, leaping on his steed, left her in shame and amazement. It was the Landgrave, Albert of Thuringia, a married man, who, in order to punish Cunigunda for her cruelty, had previously practiced his steed in this dangerous exercise.

A BASQUE DOCTOR.

A doctor, in the Landes, as is Sologne or Vendee, has no bed of roses to lie upon. He is in constant antagonism with a rival professional, the sorcerer, or witch-healer, who cures ague and fever by the aid of simples and charms; and he finds himself eternally thwarted by those maleficent hags, the "wise women," or "disuses," who are the pet of rural France, and who negative every precept he can utter as to fresh air, cleanliness for the sick, and especially the hygienic conditions necessary for the rearing of weakly children. It may seem scarcely credible that in the nineteenth century there should be crones who make a living by preaching dirt, vermin, and neglect as essential for the health of the young; but every village practitioner from Tours to Bayonne knows, to his vexation, that such is the case. Medical science does not receive, in the country, the unhesitating respect which it meets with in the great towns. If a rural doctor is also a skilled veterinary surgeon, as sometimes happens, well and good. The cure of a lame horse or a sick cow does more to influence the bucolic mind than the most eloquent of expositions.

A FRIGHTFUL FUNGUS.

One of the most remarkable fungi of which there is any record grew in the wine cellar of Sir Joseph Banks. He received a cask of wine as a gift, and finding it too sweet had it locked up in a cellar to ripen. There it remained for three years, probably during the time he was with Captain Cooke in his voyage around the world. At the end of that period he directed his butler to ascertain the state of the wine, but the cellar door could not be opened on account of some powerful obstacle within. The door was cut down, when the cellar was found to be completely filled with a fungus so dense and firm as to require an axe for its removal. It was then discovered that the fungus had consumed every drop of wine and mixed the empty cask to the ceiling.

SPRING WITHOUT BLOSSOM.

Late in Life to Look for Joy—Yet Never too Late to Mend.

Readers of Hawthorne's "House of Seven Gables" will recall the pathos with which poor Clifford Pyncheon, who had been unjustly imprisoned since his early manhood, said, after his release: "My life is gone, and where is my happiness? Oh! give me my happiness." But that could be done only in part, as beams of warm sunshine occasionally fell across the gloom of a New England autumn day.

In a letter to Messrs. Hixson & Co., Mr. L. H. Titus, of Pennington, N. J., says: "I have suffered untold misery from childhood from chronic diseases of the bowels and diarrhoea, accompanied by great pain. I sought relief in the hands of physicians of every school and used every patent and domestic remedy under the sun. I have at last found in PARKER'S TONIC a complete specific, preventive cure. As your invaluable medicine, which did for me what nothing else could do, is entitled to the credit of my getting back my happy days, I cheerfully and gratefully acknowledge the fact."

Mrs. E. S. Wells, who needs no introduction to the people of our city, adds the following: "The testimonial of Mr. Titus is genuine and voluntary; only he does not adequately portray the suffering he has undergone for many years. He is my brother-in-law and I know the case well. He is now perfectly free from all troubles, and enjoys health and life, ascribing it all to PARKER'S Tonic."
