ASSEMBLY.

"Mr. Kurtz :- In view of the deep importance of the next legislature to the Democratic party, on account of the apportionment and other vital questions, a number of names, not yet announced, are mentioned for Assembly. We must have strong, experienced and reliable Democrats in the next house, who will know and be able to defend the interests of the party. Among these names spoken of is that of Mr. Kurtz, and we will be pleased to know whether you will permit the use of your name in this connection."

It is now officially admitted at the Vatican that serious threats have been received against the Pope's life from dynamiters. Recently a letter was received at the Vatican, from a source entitled to credence, stating that a well-arranged plan to attack the Papal residence by dynamite had matured and would be carried out at the first favorable opportunity, the conspirators aiming at the life of His Holiness. This startling intelli-

A strange case of suicide occurred at Northumberland, Pa., on the morning of the 7th instant. Claude M'Farland, a young man of about 22 years, a coal dealer, shot himself in the forehead with a revolver, dying in a few hours afterwards. The night previous he attended a hop at the Burr house and apparently enjoyed himself very much. He breakfasted at 'he usual hour, called to see a lady to whom he was paying attention, and then went to his office. Soon after he came out and went with a friend to a hardware store where he purchased a revolver with which, he said, he intended to kill a cat. On going back to his office he requested Mr. Howard Rockefeller to come into the office. He handled the latter a chair, then took some papers out of his pocket and handed them to his friend, remarking that "if anything should happen to me, here are the addresses of my sister and of my brotherin-law." He then picked up the revolver, and exclaimed, "No one will ever know why I did this," and before Mr. R. could comprehend what he was doing he had fired the weapon. No one seems to have the least idea what led him to do

WALKER TOWNSHIP, June 19, 1884. EDITOR REPORTER :- As the time of making hoice to fill various county offices is drawing nigh, we deem it but just and proper to push forward the very best material. And we have that in Walker township, in the person of J. J. Gramly, who is a farmer by occupation, a hard working man at manual labor and also in the ranks of Democracy. We know him to be well qualified to fill the office of Treasurer from the fact he has filled nearly all township offices to the satisfaction of his constituents by an honest and square performance of duty.

We hope that all fair means may be employed in convention to make him the standard-bearer for Treasurer.

A FRIEND IN NEED.

Ole Bull the celebrated violinist's early adventures in France were of the most extraordinary kind. He could obtain no situation, and sank lower and lower into penury. The cholera was raging in Paris, and it was no suitable moment for a young foreign artist to make his way there. He was at the point of starvation when a strange man stepped in, as the god out of the machine, and saved him in a very curious way. At the pension where he lived he met one morning a stranger who was, he was told, a detective. Ole Bull said something which this stranger overheard, and he entered into conversation with him. The young Norseman frankly told him the state of his affairs, and the detective took him to an estaminet close by. "Listen," said the stranger. "I know you are in want; but follow my adviceyou must try your luck at play." "But I have no money." "You must manage to get five francs; then go to-night between ten and eleven o'clock, not earlier, to Frascati's, in the Boulevard Montmarte. Mount the stairs, ring the bell, and give your hat boldly to the liveried servant in attendance; enter the hall, gostraight to the table, put your five francs on the red, and let it remain there." The young man ran home, raised the five francs, and was on the spot at the appointed hour. He made his way to the green table, surrounded by ladies and gentleman playing at treate et quarante. He played his five francs on the red, but, through his awkwardness, it rolled over to the black and was lost. He stood as if struck by lightning, without a son in his pocket. He came to himself on hearing; Messieurs, flates vos jeux." He called, 'Cinq francs," but his foreign accent made it sound like " Cent francs," and 100 francs were shoved over to him as his winnings. He stood pale for a moment, unable to speak or move, then placed his money on the red, and won once again, and yet again until at last 800 francs in gold lay in a heap before him. Suddenly from amid the crowd surrounding the table a delicate hand gleaming with diamonds glided over the golden pile; but the iron hand of the Norwegian grasped the little white one. A woman's shriek was heard; several voices called out, "Turn him out!" But a man near Ole Bull, in a calm, clear voice that seemed to command all in the room, said, "Madame, do not touch that | Oats gold," and to Bull, "Monsieur, take your money, please." His friend, in whom he recognized the mysterious stranger of the morning, proved to be no other than Vidocq, the head of the secret police in Those inside pay fifty centimes (ten cents), and those outside twenty-five centimes. When a car has its complement the gates are shut, a sign is hung out reading "complit," and no one can enter. During the busy time of the day, between five and six o'clock, when crowds are waiting for a car, it is necessary to apply at the office for a numbered ticket. For instance, say you applied and received No. 21. You wait for a car, and the driver, when ready, commences to call un, deux, trois and so on until he reaches your number, when you must be ready to enter; if not, you must procure another ticket and wait your turn again. ## COULDN'T DO IT.

In one of the traveling opera companies is a clever singer who reads his music from the page as it is photographed on the tablet of his memory. One night he was thrown entirely out by a person near the stage turning the pages of a score, He was obliged to send out and request a discontinuance of the operation before he could proceed with his part. The fact is that he could only sing by seeing the mental image of the pages of the score from which he had learned before his eyes, and to his surprise and discomfiture he found that the turning of the real leaves by the auditor carried over the imaginary leaves from which he was reading, and often in the wrong place, inasmuch as his score was differently printed.

How Watch Cases are Made. The many great improvements introduced in the manufacture of the Jas. Boss' Gold Watch Case, have led to similar improvements in the making of silver cases. Under the old methods, each part of a silver case was made of several pieces of metal soldered together, requiring a great amount of cutting and soldering, which softened the metal and gave it the pliability of lead rather than the elasticity of silver, Under the improved methods, each part of the Keystone Silver Watch Case is made of one solid piece of metal hammered into shape. The advantages are readily apparent, for every one knows that hammering hardens the metal while soldering softens it. To test the superiority of the Keystone Silver Watch Case, take one of 3 oz. weight, press it squarely in the center when closed, and it will not give, while a case of same weight of any other make will give enough to break the crystal. The Keystone Silver Watch Case is made only with silver cap and gold joints.

Send I cent simp to Keystone Watch Core Factories, Philas delphia, Pa., for handsome Hinstrated Pamphlet showing how dames Boos' and Keystone Watch Cases are roads. (To be continued.)
